McGOWAN PICKED FOR HIGH POST

Catholic Order, Meeting at Avalon, Elects Willson Attorney as State Deputy

Harry McGowan of Wilson, former District Attorney of Orange county, yesterday was elected Deputy of the Knights of Columbus of California, at the State convention at Avalon. Opposed by Frank J. Reed of Los Angeles, he won by a vote of 127 to 78. The convention ended yesterday.

HARRY W. McGOWAN

Just before the balloting Robert A. McKenzie of San Francisco, [illegible] fainted while presiding over the convention and had to be carried from the platform. Overwork and nervous strain were held responsible. His condition is not serious. Mr. McKenzie, who retires at the end of this term, was honored by the State Council, which presented him with a gavel and crucifix. The convention next year will be held at Monterey.

Other officers chosen are R. J. Herzig, Whittier, State Treasurer; Ed C. Purkus, Los Angeles, State Advocate; Milton J. Mathews, San Francisco, State Warden, and Manuel Lopez, Jr., of Los Angeles, re-elected Secretary.

FITTS HURLS CHALLENGE AT YOUNG

Revelations on Judge Funds Promised if Stone Goes on Campaign Continue

SANTA ANA, May 21. (Exclusive)—Dist.-Atty. Fitts of Los Angeles county threw down the gauntlet to battle here tonight to three men supporting Gov. Young who have sought to spread the belief that he revealed the connection of Asa Friedlander and Charles C. Crawford with Young's campaign in an effort to embarrass the Governor in his campaign against the Los Angeles District Attorney.

Fitts said that if these opponents persist in that line of campaigning he will prove "at the proper time by photographs of checks and other evidence itself "just where the money in the Julian case went."

Fitts made his statement at a dinner of Republican leaders here and in response to a question from Col. M. R. Wellington. His remarks were loudly applauded.

"Today in California we need action and initiative in government," Fitts asserted. "Delay, lingering and wait appears to be the motto of the present administration."

Starting at La Habra early this morning the Los Angeles county District Attorney visited the cities of Brea, Placentia, Anaheim, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Costa Mesa, Laguna, Fullerton, Santa Ana and Orange.

RULING ON LABOR BAN REQUESTED

Works Board Asks Abandonment of Mandatory Employment of Los Angeles Citizens

A ruling to determine the effectiveness of the ordinance now being passed by the City Council making it illegal for contractors on public improvements to hire other than Los Angeles citizens was requested of City Attorney Werner yesterday by the Board of Public Works.

Considerable doubt exists as to the legality of this ordinance, which was adopted at the behest of labor organizations. Contractors claim the ordinance requires them to employ a lengthy and searching investigation into the history of each man employed.

The Board of Public Works, among other things, wishes to know whether the ordinance applies to public improvements [illegible] under assessment districts. The resolution asking for the ruling was adopted on motion of Commissioner Eldridge.

Mrs. Stever, Teacher, Dies in 95th Year

Mrs. Juliet H. Stever, for many years a teacher in public schools and colleges and prominent here for many years as an educator, died at her home at 722 West Third street last night in her ninety-fifth year. She had been ill but a short time, and death was due to the infirmities incident to old age.

Mrs. Stever had resided in California for thirty-eight years, coming here from Fairfield, Iowa, where she taught in Belmont Hall seminary. Occidental College in the mathematics department for seven years. For eight years she taught in the Japanese night schools. She was in charge of the same Presbyterian school class at Emanuel Presbyterian Church for twenty-five years.

She leaves one son at Oskaloosa, Iowa, and several nieces in Los Angeles. The body will lie at the Brown Mortuary parlors at 1230 South Flower street until Saturday, when it will be interred in Rose Hills Memorial Park.

And All Was Hushed

She said if any man kissed her without warning she would scream for her father.

What did you do?

I warned her.—[Service Magazine.

Schenectady Audience Views Director Miles Distant Lead Orchestra

Performers' Images Shown in About Same Clarity of Early Film Plays

SCHENECTADY (N. Y.) May 22. (Exclusive)—Virtually on the same spot where more than a quarter of a century ago theater-goers of this town saw their first motion-picture presentation, there was shown tonight for the first time in New York theater history a television feature act.

The audience heard the orchestra play, conducted by the televised image of its director, John Gamble, waving his baton several miles away. They heard duets sung by a singer on the stage and his partner before the television transmitter. They laughed at dialogues between a performer before them and another whose picture appeared on the scene.

BEAM PAINTS MAZES

Faithfully the six-by-seven-foot translucent screen brought to them remarkable likenesses of the artists, painted in rapid sweeps of a greenish light beam from the television receiver and projector in back of the stage. Though the image did not have the brilliancy of the motion picture, it was nearly flickerless. It resembled one of the first moving pictures, with its streaks and some unsteadiness.

Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, television pioneer, at a dinner in his honor tonight predicted almost limitless possibilities for new inventions in this art of television. He spoke of wars of the future when a staff officer can see the enemy through the television eye of his scouting planes or can send bombing planes without a man on board which can see the target and be steered by radio to its objective and revealed that he is to sail soon for Panama aboard the airplane carrier Saratoga at the Navy's invitation to study practical conditions for the realization of some of his ideas.

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION

Earlier in the day newspaper men and experts witnessed a special demonstration and inspected the apparatus under the personal direction of Dr. Alexanderson, who is chief research engineer for the General Electric Company, in whose laboratories the apparatus was designed.

In this demonstration Merrill Trainer, a laboratory assistant to Dr. Alexanderson, was introduced to the special audience invited to the Proctor Theater by R. D. Kell, the control operator. Mr. Trainer's picture appeared smilingly on

RED RIVER THREATENS MISCHIEF

Headwaters Raging But Mississippi Expected to Take Care of Flood

NEW ORLEANS, May 22. (AP)—With swollen streams receding in Arkansas, Texas and Mississippi, the Red River basin in Louisiana became the focal point of highwater trouble today.

This normally sleepy stream, stretching from Northwest Louisiana to the Mississippi River near the Mississippi State line, has become a raging torrent in its headwaters and is moving its load of water southward.

Already its tributaries have sent waters over farm lands around Shreveport and threaten to inundate additional thousands of acres. Fortunately the swells in the tributaries find the Mississippi River at an abnormally low stage and levee officials have no concern over its capacity to carry off the added water.

Along the Red Bird River hundreds of men are working to strengthen levees and protect property. Planters and tenants have moved out their families and live stock and relief centers have been established.

Highwater that spread over Northern Mississippi is going down rapidly today. In Southern Arkansas relief agencies continue to care for several hundred refugees waiting for the water to leave their homes.

Two Killed as Steel Frame of Building Falls

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—With a roar heard for blocks the four-story steel skeleton of a bakery under construction at Fifty-first street and Eleventh avenue collapsed today and carried two workmen to their death. Nine were injured.

The dead were Otto Helves, 30 years of age, and Albert Schwanke, 30, carpenters and room-mates. They fell together, clinging to a steel girder.

The cause of the collapse was not determined, although there are unconfirmed reports that the crash of a derrick preceded it.

British Dirigible Suffers Damage

OCEANSIDE'S GAIN LARGE

Census Figures Show Town's Population Increased 197.5 Per Cent During Decade

SAN DIEGO, May 22. (Exclusive)—Showing an increase of 2293 residents since 1930, a gain of 197.5 per cent, Oceanside now has a population of 3484, according to a preliminary count of returns of the fifteenth census, Forrest L. Hieatt, supervisor for this district, announced today. The city had 1161 people ten years ago, according to Hieatt's figures.

El Cajon, with a 1930 population of 1045, registered a 122.81 per cent gain for the decade, the Supervisor announced. In 1920 this community had a population of 469, an increase of 576 being recorded above that figure in the present census. There were twenty-one farms enumerated in this area.

Two Imperial Valley cities, Calipatria and Imperial, show a wide difference in their rates of increase, according to figures released by Hieatt. Calipatria gained 97.9 per cent while Imperial increased only 3.07 per cent. Calipatria's 1930 population is given as 1554, a gain of 769 over the total of 785 recorded in 1920. There were seven farms enumerated in this area. Gaining only fifty-eight residents over its 1920 total of 1885, Imperial now has 1943. There are thirty-nine farms in the area.

JUNE 2 SET FOR LOS ANGELES FINAL TALLY

United States census supervisors directing the Federal count in Los Angeles county yesterday tentatively fixed June 2 as the day on which they will meet and assemble their fragment figures to be added into a total for the Los Angeles population under the 1930 census.

Population totals announced to date for thirty-nine of the forty-eight townships in the county show 1,185,319 persons in the county outside of Los Angeles, which figure is a 229.4 per cent growth above the 1920, or last, census. Los Angeles is within one of the uncounted townships.

Sittel Again Appointed as Marshal Here

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—The President today nominated Albert C. Sittel as marshal for the southern district of California.

This will be Marshal Sittel's third appointment. He was chief deputy under Leo V. Youngworth in 1907 and also under Marshal C. T. Walton from 1914 to 1922, when President Harding appointed him marshal. He has retained that position for eight years.

His real name was Ned Gender and he had led a retired life here for many years. He had been ill three weeks.

Three Firemen Hurt at Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (AP)—Three firemen were slightly injured and two score persons driven from their homes tonight in a spectacular fire in the Mission district which halted traffic on Mission street more than an hour.

The fire started in a shed at Twenty-second and Mission streets and spread toward the new Rialto Theater and two Cap-street apartment buildings. The latter were saved, although their rear walls were charred. The shed, which was used as a warehouse for theatrical scenery and properties, all highly inflammable, burned to the ground. Fire Chief Brennan estimates the loss at $12,000.

Victory Gained by MacDonald on Work Policy

LONDON, May 22. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald won an overwhelming victory at a meeting of the Parliament Labor party tonight to discuss the government unemployment policy. Sir Oswald Mosley's motion of censure was defeated, 10 to 29.

If the motion had been carried, it was understood the Prime Minister would have asked King George to dissolve Parliament and hold an immediate general election.

DRY PRAISES ENFORCERS

M'Bride Indorses Hoover Stand

League Has Not Decided on Supporting President for Re-election

Senate Told of Drive for Funds to Back Up Amendment

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Approval of the Hoover administration's stand on prohibition was voiced today before the Senate lobby committee by F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League.

At the same time the dry leader outlined plans of his organization for an intensive campaign for the Eighteenth Amendment similar to that which preceded the adoption of prohibition. He expressed belief that it was "probably a good thing" that the prohibition issue has been revived and said he thought it would have to be "fought out and settled for all time."

McBride said he was "very much pleased" with most of the things done by the present administration for prohibition enforcement, but that it is too early yet to determine whether the league will support Mr. Hoover for re-election.

CHALLENGE BY CARAWAY

Taking issue with the witness, Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee, demanded that he name the prohibition accomplishments of the administration.

"They are so many that it would burden the record," McBride replied.

"It would burden you to think of one," Caraway rejoined smilingly.

McBride told Caraway he thought the transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Department of Justice would be a good thing. But the committee chairman shot back:

"I don't think the drys are getting any help from the present administration."

"I think the administration is making good," McBride replied, adding that Hoover had "spoken out clearly" on prohibition.

Later Caraway had his references to the President withdrawn from the records, explaining that they had nothing to do with the purpose of the inquiry.

KING CASE UP

Meanwhile, Senator Robinson of Indiana, the only administration Republican on the committee, submitted to the Senate a report representing his views on testimony brought out before the lobby committee affecting Senator King, Democrat, Utah. Other members of the committee did not join in the report.

Recalling testimony by Samuel Russell, former secretary to King, that Herman A. Metz, New York dye importer, had contributed $1000 to the Utahan's 1922 campaign fund and a like amount in 1928, Robinson added that King had "shown no desire to testify before the lobby committee."

While King has not appeared before the lobby committee, he has told newspaper men that he never heard of the 1922 contribution and that he destroyed the check received in 1928.

LEAGUE PROGRAM

McBride told the committee that the league is attempting to raise $300,000 a year to conduct a campaign similar to that preceding the adoption of prohibition.

Caraway asked if there was not "a greater war being made on the Eighteenth Amendment" now than ever before and McBride replied:

"The wets are fighting harder now. But one reason is that they are against the wall and fighting for their lives. A few more elections like the one in Pennsylvania will discourage them."

At the outset McBride, questioned by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, the only wet on the committee, testified that the prohibition views of Dwight W. Morrow, as expressed in his announcement for the Republican Senatorial nomination from New Jersey, would "repeal prohibition and cause us to go back to where we were before prohibition."

Morrow advocated repeal of the prohibition amendment and substitution of another amendment which would permit the States to determine what disposition to make of prohibition.

Blaine produced an item which said the organization had pledges on its books amounting to $18,705,922. McBride explained, however, that $5,214,464 of the amount already had been collected and that the league usually obtains only about 70 per cent of the pledges.

Roberts Delays Taking Seat

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts decided today that he would not take the oath of office and go on the bench of the Supreme Court until June 2.

He came to Washington today for a conference with Chief Justice Hughes concerning plans for going on the bench. He decided that, as he could not assist the court in any of its work before the end of its present term on June 2, he would postpone assumption of his duties until then. The court is now working on opinions in cases which have been argued at the present term and this must be done by the justices who sat while the cases were being heard.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 22. [To the Editor of The Times:] Hurrah for an old friend, Jim Davis. He is going to be the freshman Senator from Pennsylvania; he beat Uncle Joe Grundy. Uncle Joe goes back to coaching now. He holds the same position with the Republicans in the Senate as Knute Rockne does with the great Notre Dame team. You don't see Knute crying because he is not playing on the team. Some guy in Pennsylvania took the Literary Digest vote serious and run "wet." He carried his family and two friends.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ORATORS IN CAPITAL

Seven in Finals Tomorrow

Winner to Represent Nation in Fifth International Contest in Autumn

Three Victors to Broadcast Nationally on Sunday; All to Meet Hoover

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 22. (Exclusive)—Seven champion high-school orators—five boys and two girls—were assembling here today for the seventh National Oratorical Contest on the Federal Constitution to be held under the auspices of the Los Angeles Times and associated newspapers in Continental Hall Saturday night.

These finalists, winners of their zone competitions, will appear two nights hence before a distinguished board of judges and one of Washington's most brilliant audiences in an endeavor to capture the right to represent the United States in the fifth International Oratorical Contest to be held here in October, and to carry away the silver cup awarded the new champion high-school orator.

LUNCHEON TODAY

As a prelude tomorrow the seven contestants will be tendered a luncheon at Western High School. This is the only social engagement formally scheduled prior to the contest. Afterward, of course, they will meet President Hoover, have dinner at the home of John Hays Hammond, founder of the Constitution Club, of which this year's crop of finalists automatically become members, and have a general round of pleasures, including meeting most of the important personages in Washington and seeing Mt. Vernon and the other historical points of interest.

At Continental Hall Saturday night, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur of California will deliver an address opening the competition, which for the first time will involve both prepared and extemporaneous orations by the youthful competitors.

BOARD OF JUDGES

The board of judges which will grade the contestants equally on their six-minute prepared orations and four-minute extemporaneous speeches consists of Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Postmaster-General Brown, Senator Watson, majority floor leader of the Senate; Senators Cousens of Michigan, Harrison of Mississippi and Bingham of Connecticut, Dr. L. C. Rowe, director-general of the Pan-American Union;

QUOTA BILL ADVANCED

Backed by House Committee

Harris-Box Measure Faces Fight for Right of Way on Chamber Floor

Tenseness Between Capital and Mexico City Grows; Border Ire Rises

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 22. (Exclusive)—The House Immigration Committee, true to predictions that it would ignore the threatened destruction of Pan-American relations, voted 12 to 2 today to make a favorable report on the Harris-Box bill passed by the Senate last week, putting Mexico under the immigration quota restriction law now applying only to the countries of Europe.

Little discussion preceded the action, the entire committee session lasting only about a half-hour. This indicated that no consideration was given to correcting the discriminatory legislation through amendments making it also applicable to the other countries of the Western Hemisphere. Evidences of resentment in Mexico, and the barrage of messages from alarmed chambers of commerce and other business groups along the border, warning of possible reprisals by Mexico, apparently were ignored.

With no softening of the blow, the House committee frankly expressed its desire for restriction aimed solely at Mexico. Along with the report went a request to the Rules Committee for a special rule giving the legislation right of way on the floor.

COURSE DIFFICULT

It is not probable this request will be granted as the Rules Committee, reflecting the administration opposition, is believed ready to co-operate with House Republican leaders to prevent the measure from reaching the floor. Denied a special rule, the only course open to proponents of the bill in their fight to obtain action this session would be to gain recognition on the floor with a motion to take the measure up under suspension of rules. Speaker Longworth, it is said, would refuse to recognize anyone for this purpose.

The vote of the House committee came after Chairman Johnson of Washington State had been to the White House for a conference with President Hoover. Upon his return to the Capitol Johnson is reported to have spread word among Senators and Representatives that President Hoover will sign the restriction bill if it is passed. He denied tonight that he attempted to create any such impression and pointed to the inviolable rule against quoting the President.

Nevertheless the report made by Johnson had a considerable effect at the Capitol. For example, it was credited with getting the Senate Agriculture Committee to withhold action at its meeting today on the McNary resolution for an impartial national survey of the farm-labor situation, a survey that would have great bearing on the Mexican immigration question and bring out the real facts concerning it. Also it undoubtedly had something to do with the celerity with which the House Immigration Committee reported the restriction bill.

TENSENESS GROWS

With the enactment of this legislation really threatening for the first time in more than five years of agitation there is a growing tenseness between Washington and Mexico City, and Ambassador Telles of the southern republic, while authorizing word today that he will make no formal diplomatic protest unless the restriction measure actually is passed, has visited the State Department at least once in the last few days to discuss the situation informally. As the result of his talks with Secretary Stimson and Undersecretary Cotton he has evidently become convinced the legislation will not pass at this session, and so has informed his government.

However, business men along the

ZEPPELIN TRIP DESCRIBED

Sixty-one-Hour Voyage Across South Atlantic Marked by Cool Weather and Smooth Sailing

BY GUSTAV KAUDER

PERNAMBUCO (Brazil) May 22. (Exclusive)—The Graf Zeppelin arrived here and completed her landing at 3:05 local time (4:05 p.m. Pacific standard time,) after flying over the city, thus ending the first and most important part of the new voyages.

The distance covered from Seville was exactly 4000 land miles in sixty-one hours. The test flight across the South Atlantic fully proved that the route taken was better suited meteorologically than most of the others and that with the help of connecting planes a six-day connection between Berlin and Buenos Aires could easily be achieved and run with 100 per cent regularity.

SUPPLIES INSUFFICIENT

The insufficiency of the supplies put on at Seville through the negligence of the Spanish officers caused us a loss of twelve hours on the ocean crossing and will cost us more than a day on the entire trip.

This was clear to Dr. Eckener already on leaving the shore of Spain and his face and mood at the time contrasted with the laughing blue skies above us. Later on Tuesday it was even more dangerous to approach him because the usual trade wind on whose driving power our speed had been calculated was not to be found anywhere on that one day from Madeira till the African coast.

There is always good luck in bad luck, however, and while disturbed regularity of the trade winds customarily announces heavy storms this time all rules were broken and the fair and agreeably cool weather stayed with us through the entire crossing, even the usual rains in the so-called calm belt being unusually light, so that it was no wonder Dr. Eckener smiled again Tuesday evening.

VOYAGE COOL AND SMOOTH

Of course, the passengers were delighted over the wonderfully smooth and cool equator voyage

Dropping Mail Bag on Isle Causes Excitement

Faulty Loading of Supplies Results in Delay

and they amused themselves picking out passing ships and whales and measuring the dirigible's quickly shortening shadow. The remainder of the time was filled by the indefatigable story teller Infante Alfonso of Spain, who related a thousand good jokes about Spanish military and civil red tape while Mrs. Pierce, the American, tried all the time to convince all the Spaniards aboard of their inferiority compared to the modern Spanish woman. Col. Herrera of the Spanish air service, testing her assertion, played chess all day invariably losing his queen.

Wednesday's interesting event was flying near the Cape Verde islands. The first view was very disappointing. Unlike the beautiful South Sea islands on the other side of Panama, the Cape Verde group, in spite of an equally good climate, show an absolutely dead, volcanic, moon-like landscape, devoid of every sign of life—a depressing, monotonous brown mountain desert. Farthe south a very few small Negro villages are found, then dead volcanoes rising higher and higher, making a most picturesque sky line.

MAIL DROPPED ON ISLE

Dropping the mail bag over the only big place, Porto Praia, created a sensation among the hundreds of Negroes there. The whole population was clad in its brightest Sunday colors for the occasion, dancing in excitement on all the roofs. The passengers were equally excited.

Their excitement, however, was caused by the opportunity of making the first air photos on record of these islands, and the whole camera squad aboard began shooting wildly. Since they all probably missed the right exposure in the blinding sunlight, however, the world's gain will not be overwhelming.

The following night we passed three steamers, all German. One was so enthusiastic over the encounter that she fired a salute and burned a magnesium flare from the forecastle, little thinking that we may mean the end of such ships, which take four weeks to travel from Hamburg to Rio De Janeiro, while in six days after leaving Berlin we will arrive in Rio.

This morning we at last encountered warmer weather, freeing us from the woolens we were wearing in fear of catching cold over the equator.

EQUATOR PASSED

We passed the equator and the guano-white rock of St. Paul at exactly 8:20 a.m. ship's time (10:20 a.m. G.M.T.) without making much fuss about the historic moment of the first entry of a Zeppelin into the Southern Hemisphere. Because the crew was busy then, the celebration of the event was held two hours later. Each passenger received a certificate from Capt. Schiller, impersonating Aeolus, the god of the winds, the certificates having been designed by Dr. Eckener's painter-brother. All the passengers were rechristened with the very allusive nicknames, but the Americans were very disappointed by the absolute dryness of the equatorial feast.

The beginning of tediousness was checked by Dr. Eckener's definite announcement that tonight we would sleep for some few hours ashore at Pernambuco and smoke many cigarettes before proceeding tomorrow morning to Rio De Janeiro.

BRAZIL COAST SIGHTED

After a cheerful luncheon starting with rich hors d'oeuvres and ending with raspberry tart, we reached at 2 p.m. the first outpost of the South American continent, the small, green bizarre-looking rocky penal island of Fernando De Noronha, in whose wonderful emerald surf we saw countless giant sharks.

Three hours later we sighted the Brazilian coast.

All the passengers writing their last cards for the closing mail and packing their handbags for the short land excursion after having congratulated Dr. Eckener and the crew heartily for their new great accomplishment in aerial transportation.

Governor Coimbra of the State of Pernambuco has just wireleased us the first Brazilian welcome.

FERNAMBUCO GIVES DIRIGIBLE NOISY WELCOME

PERNAMBUCO (Brazil) May 22. (AP)—Flying over the route of the Spanish conquistadores, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin for the first time crossed the equator and made her bow to the Southern Hemisphere tonight.

Garnished with new trans-Atlantic laurels, the world-circling airship reached the southern side of the new world just before the tropic twilight set in.

At 7:10 p.m. (2:10 p.m. P.S.T.,) her ropes fluttered to the ground, where they were seized by Brazilian soldiers forming the newly trained ground crew. Amid a furious din from thousands of spectators and a bedlam of horns and sirens, she was snugly tied up to her specially built mooring mast at 8:05 p.m. (3:05 p.m. P.S.T.)

Northern Brazil was delirious with excitement over the Graf's newest achievement tonight.

SIRENS GREET HER

Pernambuco hailed her arrival with furious blasts of sirens and whistles from factories and ships. People swarmed out of their homes to point at the strange shining shape in the tropic skies. The streets were choked with shouting, gesticulating people.

Over the city and the harbor, about 1000 feet aloft, the majestic silver bullet gracefully sailed. At 6:30 p.m. (1:30 p.m. P.S.T.,) she circled over Campo Giquia, the landing-field, and then made off southward for a cruise of half an hour.

Presently she returned over the field, with her lights blinking down through the dusk, and glided down toward the mooring mast from an altitude of 600 feet.

The crowd in the packed grandstand cheered and waved, while the throng at the outskirts of the field surged forward against the police lines.

SOLDIERS FIGHT CROWDS

Once at the mooring mast, the dirigible was given over to a crew of mechanics and stevedores, who swarmed about her while the soldiers fought off the excited crowd.

During the night, the Graf will take on water, fuel gas and a new larder of provisions. At daybreak, Dr. Hugo Eckener, despite the fatigue of the trans-Atlantic flight from Seville, will head her still further southward to Rio Janeiro.

On the field awaiting her arrival tonight were a troop of Brazilian cavalry, 380 infantrymen, 350 civil and military police and two fire engines manned by eighty firemen.

Dr. Eckener said tonight that the big dirigible would leave for Rio de Janeiro tomorrow at 7 p.m. (2 p.m. P.S.T.) He decided to postpone the start from daybreak until evening.

Could Hardly Get About For Rheumatic Pain

"It's wonderful the way Sargon ended all my troubles in just a short time; my husband says our friends won't know me when we return to our home in Albany, Oregon," recently stated Mrs.

MRS. NELLIE L. LENT

Nellie L. Lent while visiting at the home of her daughter at No. 1428 Bixby Road, Long Beach.

"We came to Long Beach last November to visit our daughter, and I had such severe rheumatic pains that at times I could hardly get about. I'd suffered from sour stomach and heartburn for ten years, and I'd have desperate attacks of acute indigestion that were almost unbearable. At times I'd be so nervous and shaky I'd just go to pieces, and I didn't know what sound sleep was. My liver was sluggish and I suffered from biliousness and constipation all the time. I was terribly discouraged and had about given up all hope of ever being well again, when I started taking the Sargon treatment.

"Four bottles of this remarkable medicine have brought me wonderful relief. I eat anything my appetite calls for and digest it perfectly. Those nervous attacks are fast disappearing and my sleep is sound and peaceful. The rheumatic condition has left me entirely.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills stimulated my liver to regular action, relieved me of a chronic bilious condition and for the first time in many long years I'm not troubled with constipation.

"Sargon has made me feel like a wholly different person, and I wish every sick person in the world knew of this wonderful medicine."

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug stores and Liggett Drug stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

ADAMS SPEAKS ON BASE CHOICE

San Diego Recommendation Explained at Hearing

Committee Told He Followed Navy Board's Advice

Jahncke Also Questioned by House Members

the intense fight between the two sites, but Representative Evans of Glendale finally succeeded in pinning him down and getting an admission that he would again, if necessary, follow the general board and recommend Camp Kearny. He declared in the next breath, however, that his personal uncertainty had been strengthened since his letter of last December when Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, and Assistant Secretary Ingalls, in charge of aviation, came back from inspecting both sites and told him they could find no choice between them. But even so he testified that if pressed he again would take the word of the general board. This after Representative Evans brought out that the general board had been unanimous in its choice of the southern location.

The committee as usual wasted most of its time quarreling over Chairman Britten's intense favoritism for Sunnyvale, the efforts of Southern Democratic members to swing the proposed base to their own sections and the question of whether dirigibles have demonstrated their military value sufficiently to warrant the government going ahead with its present two-dirigible west coast base program.

GEORGIAN'S EFFORT

Representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, who believes the base should go to his part of the country, hammered away at the Secretary in an effort to get him to say that perhaps it would be wise to complete only one dirigible at this time, house it at Lakehurst, N. J., and abandon the west coast base project. However, Adams was firm in stating the dirigibles have proven themselves to a point justifying immediate construction of the Pacific base and equally determined in the stand that keeping the dirigible at Lakehurst would only "gum up" the navy's plans and reduce the usefulness of the first giant new airship now nearing completion at Akron.

On the other point, Adams admitted he is considering cancellation of the contract for the second dirigible, but has not yet made up his mind and would prefer not to discuss the matter at so early a date. He said it will be another eighteen months before the government is called on to say finally whether it will want the second airship.

FURTHER QUERYING

Representative Coyle, Republican, Pennsylvania, taking his turn at the Secretary, declared his interpretation of the report of the special board was that the Camp Kearny and Sunnyvale sites were pronounced as virtually equal in merit. And he pointed out that although four members did prefer Sunnyvale, the fifth member took a decided stand for Camp Kearny. When the fact was added that the general board, after reviewing all testimony and hearing individually each member of the special board, decided unanimously for Camp Kearny, Coyle said it appears to him that the bulk of evidence is for the southern site.

Representative Darrow, Republican, Pennsylvania, refrained from questioning Adams, but reproved members from prejudging the case. Chairman Britten evidently felt the scolding was directed at him and he came back with a flushed denial that anyone on the committee had made up his mind or was attempting to help out eith ersite.

Again today there was reason for some alarm lest the squabble between Northern and Southern California result in losing the base to the State entirely. And there was further talk of compromise, perhaps along the line of Camp Kearny getting the dirigible project in return for later assistance from Southern California in landing a heavier-than-air base for the San Francisco Bay area.

JAHNCKE ON STAND

Assistant Secretary Jahncke spent an uncomfortable hour on the stand trying to explain to the satisfaction of certain committee members the letter he wrote as acting secretary early this year, informing the committee that "either" of the sites would be held suitable by the Navy, and thus apparently placing the department in a neutral attitude. Jahncke said he and Secretary Adams had at all times been in complete accord in the dirigible base matter and that in his letter he believes he was carrying out the policies of his superior.

It was Representative Evans again who performed the task of getting the witness down to brass tacks, forcing Jahncke to acknowledge that the Secretary had officially recommended Camp Kearny and that inasmuch as there was so much harmony between them, he also officially favored that site.

A few minutes earlier Representative Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, had asked Jahncke whether, if other conditions were equal, he would not regard it wise to locate the base where it would be of most strategic value in case of emergency. Jahncke answered "yes." Thereby was re-emphasized the strongest point in favor of the San Diego site.

Maj. H. M. Heckam of the Army Air Service will take the stand tomorrow to be followed by Commander Rosendahl, former commanding officer of the dirigible Los Angeles, an advocate of Sunnyvale.

QUOTA MEASURE GAINS SUPPORT

House Committee Votes for Harris-Box Bill

Border Protests Ignored in Vote of 12 to 2

Special Rule Requested for Restriction Move

Mexican border, perhaps not so well informed and fearing the worst, are bombarding Washington with protests that enactment of the restriction bill will create a grave situation resulting in a similar national policy by Mexico against American access to that country, in trade embargoes, general ill feeling and possible serious trouble in border areas. These messages are having an effect on everybody but the members of the House Immigration Committee, stacked for restriction in the first place and under the sway of two men who want to use the issue of keeping out low-brow Mexican workers and Catholics in their election campaigns.

PASSAGE PREDICTED

Representative Box, Democrat of Texas, co-author of the restriction bill, issued a statement tonight saying the measure will pass if Congress is allowed to exercise "the will of the country." The only question he declared and, he is right about it, is whether House leaders will permit the legislation to come to a vote. His statement follows:

"By a majority of 51 to 16 the Senate has passed a bill by Senator Harris, placing immigration from Mexico on a quota basis. The House committee today reported the Harris bill just as it passed the Senate except that it took from a bill introduced by me on the same subject two administration provisions deemed necessary to make the law effective.

"The House committee had already reported a bill placing all American countries on a quota basis which is yet on the calendar with small chance to be considered.

LARGE MAJORITIES

"The action of the House committee on both of these bills has been by overwhelming majorities. Only three members of the committee out of twenty-one opposed the first bill. All but two of those present supported the second bill, reported today. This very necessary piece of legislation is thus carried much further than it has ever been carried before.

"If the House organization will permit it to be considered, I confidently predict that it will pass the House by a majority of two or three to one. The opposing forces are trying to get the organization in control of the House to sit so tight on the lid that this bill cannot be considered. They may or may not succeed. The House committee today performed its part.

"If this legislation, desired by a majority of the people and the membership of both branches of Congress designed to assist in easing the present terrible unemployment situation and help relieve American agriculture from the blight of overproduction, and serving other good purposes, is not passed now it will be because the administration and the forces of opposition succeed in preventing the House from expressing the will of the country on it."

ACTORS SEEN BY TELEVISION

the scene. Through powerful speakers that carried his voice to the audience in perfect synchronism with his lip movement he explained the functioning of the apparatus.

He introduced various vaudeville players and singers. To persons seated in the fifteenth row of the orchestra the pictures which showed only head and shoulders of the performers seemed very distinct, though the image rocked from side to side occasionally. This was due, engineers explained, to the "hunting" of the scanning disc motor which throws the whole picture over slightly.

DETAIL LACKING

It was blue and green and, though it lacked the detail and depth of a film picture, one could recognize the actors as they came back from the studio room, and their movements and changes of expression were distinct. Spectators saw the wrist watch on a performer's arm and the light reflection on tortoise shell eyeglasses. All of the shades of a real photograph were present and voice synchronism was perfect at all times. The television projector was placed directly in back of the special screen sixteen feet away. It is not unlike the powerful film projectors of theaters, but there is neither film nor film case.

GERMAN INVENTION

A powerful arc consuming seven kilowatts projected its beams toward the screen through a series of complex optical systems which control the intensity and direction of the light projected. The constant power of the light beam is controlled by a light cell, the invention of Dr. August Karolus of Leipzig, Germany. It acts as a shutter, allowing an amount of light corresponding to the electric impulse intensity received from the transmitter to pass through to the disc. It is by means of the disc that the picture is rebuilt. Its forty-eight small lenses project in as many parallel lines the series of streaks that build the picture on the screen.

The entire installation, including the receiving set and amplifier, can be removed from the back stage for the next act in a few moments or set up for operation within ten minutes.

LIGHT SCANS ACTORS

In the television studio in the General Electric works several miles away, the standard type of television transmitter was used. A powerful beam scanned the performer and the reflected light from his features was picked up by a battery of four photo electric cells. This energy was amplified and then broadcast on a short wave together with the voice, to be picked up at the theater. The scanning is done by a disc similar to the one used at the receiving end.

OAKLAND JUDGE STILL MISSING

Authorities Without Clew in Eng's Mystery

Watsonville Rancher Tells of Stranger's Visit

Identifies Photograph as That of Jurist

OAKLAND, May 22. (AP)—An all-day search of Lake Merritt, Oakland, and of the hills east of the city, tonight left authorities without a clew to the whereabouts of Superior Judge Engs, who disappeared from his home here last Friday morning.

Another report, however, was added to the many received during the search. This came from Watsonville, where Peter Garcia, rancher living seven miles from there, said a man dressed in a green suit today had inquired the direction to "the waterfalls on Mt. Madonna." When informed no such falls existed, he became angry and went away. When shown a picture of Judge Engs Garcia said it was that of his questioner.

Garcia said the man wore a several days' growth of beard, stared vacantly and carried a gunnysack. Engs wore a green suit, as mentioned by Garcia, when he wandered from his home, supposedly delorious as a result of illness brought on by strain of a seven weeks' criminal trial.

VOTE PROMISED ON NAVAL PACT

Proponents Move to Force Action This Session

Johnson Prolongs Hearings by Borah Committee

Admirals Disagree Over Armament Question

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Senate advocates of the London naval treaty determined today to bring it to a vote this session in the face of a move by the opposition to continue the committee hearings indefinitely.

These maneuvers went on as naval experts reported sharply conflicting views to the Senate Foreign Relations and Naval committees on the merits of the pact. Rear-Admirals William A. Moffett and A. J. Hepburn supported the treaty provisions as adequate for the Navy. Admiral C. F. Hughes and Rear-Admirals Frank H. Schofield and J. M. Reeves took opposing views. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, a critic of the treaty, upset plans for an early report when he announced upon the conclusion of today's hearings that he wished to hear about fourteen more witnesses.

Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee who has said he has heard sufficient testimony, said he was willing to hear Senator Johnson's fourteen additional witnesses but he also gave notice that "we will have the treaty ready by the time the Senate concludes the tariff bill."

SPECIAL SESSION TALK

Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee, who also is opposed to the pact, indicated today his hearings would be continued for some time.

While he would prefer consideration of the treaty at the next session, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, stood by his assurance to President Hoover that it will be taken up at this session if it is before the Senate by the time the tariff is out of the way.

Senator Johnson said he did not want to delay the hearings but that he thought the additional witnesses should be heard. The committee has been in session two weeks and has examined a large portion of the high naval command.

There still is talk of a special session of the Senate this summer to consider the treaty. Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, an administration leader, favors such a proposal.

ADMIRALS DISAGREE

Most of the testimony today revolved about the relative merits of eight-inch and six-inch gun cruisers in which the treaty limits the American fleet to eighteen of each class.

Admiral Hughes, former commander of the United States fleet and now chief of naval operations, said fifteen six-inch gun ships are all that are needed by the American forces and he preferred the remainder of the cruiser tonnage in the eights.

Rear-Admiral Hepburn, chief of the staff of the fleet and attached to the American technical advisory staff at London, took the opposite view. He said he knew of "only one time when the eight-inch-gun cruiser is better than a six-inch-gun cruiser and that is in fighting a six-inch ship on her own terms."

Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy, and one of the experts at London, indorsed the treaty and insisted that the tonnage in aircraft carriers is "of much greater importance" than the question of eight-inch or six-inch-gun cruisers.

COMMERCE PERILED

Rear-Admirals Schofield and Reeves supported enthusiastically the eight-inch-gun ships. Reeves said the failure of the treaty to allow the American fleet twenty-one eight-inch-gun ships "imperils the commerce of this nation."

Reeves recited statistics to support his contention that the treaty fails to give America parity with Great Britain either during the life of the pact or after it expires.

Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, one of the American delegates, questioned Reeves about the relative strengths of the American, British and Japanese navies. The admiral conceded they had a ratio over America in auxiliary craft, but he contended this country should go ahead with its program for twenty-three heavy cruisers.

Commander H. C. Train, one of the technical staff at London, will be heard tomorrow by the Foreign Relations Committee.

BALDWIN JOINS LONDON CRITICS OF TREATY

LONDON, May 22. (AP)—Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative Prime Minister and leader of the Conservative party, was joined today with those back-benchers of his party who have questioned the merits of the London naval treaty.

Notice has been given in the House of Commons of a motion calling for appointment of a select committee of eleven members of the House of Commons to examine and report upon proposals contained in the treaty.

The motion stands in the names of Stanley Baldwin, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Winston Churchill, who has been most vociferous in denunciation of the pact, and others. It is expected the government will take time for its discussion, but will resist appointment of the committee.

The motion, it is believed, represents a compromise between the more extreme Conservatives and those of Mr. Baldwin's camp who have been felt to favor the treaty as it stands. The former group Saturday gave notice of a motion declaring Part Three of the treaty —that part which refers to limitation of auxiliary craft—as contrary to the interests of the British Empire.

Conservative hostility to the treaty has been growing the last few days and it seemed today that Mr. Baldwin and his fellow-leaders had been forced to take this action, in order to placate the followers with whose attitude toward the treaty it was understood they disagreed.

SENATE BANS DIAL PHONES

Outburst Results in Resolution to "Take 'Em Out;" Company Rendered Speechless

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—The local telephone company was speechless tonight in the face of a Congressional outburst against the machine-age as typified by dial telephones.

A Senatorial ukase demanding that 450 of the dial telephones be replaced by the old-fashioned kind in the Senate side of the Capitol was regarded so favorably by some members of the House that Representative Abernethy of North Carolina introduced a resolution to instruct the House sergeant-at-arms to have the recently installed dial instruments removed from House offices also.

PHONE MEN SPEECHLESS

Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company tonight declined to comment.

Senator Glass of Virginia led the revolt in the Senate, complaining against being made "an employee of the telephone company without compensation."

The Senate adopted his resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to order the telephone company to remove the dials, "whereas dial telephones are more difficult to operate," and require Senators "to perform the duties of telephone operators in order to enjoy the benefits of telephone service."

In the House Abernethy added to the Virginian's plaint the assertion that "telephone companies are putting in dials for the purpose of doing away with operators, tending thereby to increase unemployment."

PROTECTING THE MAIL

Telephone company officials expressed hope, while the revolt was confined to the Senate, that things can be arranged. But when the excitement spread to the House, and when it was recalled that President Hoover refused to have dials installed at the White House, they announced they had "nothing to say."

Senator Glass faced smiling colleagues on both sides of the aisle as his resolution was adopted.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, complimenting Glass on the "modernation" of his language, adding that the Congressional Record might not go through the mails if it contained "what Senators think about the dial telephones."

COURT HITS AT ARRESTS FOR SPEED

Chicago Judge Rebukes Officers and Promises to Dismiss Cases

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—Police officers who arrest motorists driving at thirty-five or forty miles an hour on Chicago boulevards have been rebuked by Judge Fairbanks of the speeders' court.

"I will not punish any motorist solely because he has driven thirty-five or forty or forty-five miles an hour," Judge Fairbanks said. "But regardless of any speed formula, I will punish the reckless driver, the drunken driver, the ignorant driver or any driver endangering the lives of pedestrians, other motorists or himself.

"There is no legal fixed speed limit. The law merely says that cars shall be driven at a reasonable speed. At some hours and on some streets twenty-five miles an hour may be unreasonably fast. At other times and places a speed of forty-five miles an hour or even more—considering the mechanical perfection of modern cars—may be entirely reasonable."

The police announced they will continue making arrests as heretofore, despite Judge Fairbanks's warning that motorists arrested merely for going fast will be discharged.

O. P. Van Sweringen Will Remain as Director of Missouri Pacific Line

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—O. P. Van Sweringen, Cleveland railroad magnate, has resigned all of the important official positions with railroads that he has heretofore held except a place as director of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which is the most recently obtained of his railroad interests.

This fact became public today when Van Sweringen and six of his associates made formal application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to serve as directors of the Missouri Pacific. In filing his own application, Van Sweringen said he has resigned as chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio and as director of the Nickel Plate, Pere Marquette and Hocking Valley systems.

Van Sweringen's associates, who were elected to the Missouri Pacific board, also today asked the commission's sanction for taking up that service. They are Leonard P. Ayres, Alva Bradley, John Sherwin, Jr., George E. Tomlinson, D. S. Barrett and William W. Reilley.

She was awarded sole custody of the child at the divorce hearing, and two other children by the Hinds marriage have been adopted by her parents.

THIRTEEN IN CURTIS CASE SUMMONED

Chicago Contractors to be Quizzed on Charge Laid to Vice-President's Son

CHICAGO, May 22. (Exclusive)—While awaiting the appearance today of Attorney Harry K. Curtis, son of the Vice-President of the United States for requestioning in regard to allegations he had made promises of lucrative government contracts in return for "fees," Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the State's Attorney's office, summoned thirteen contractors for immediate interrogation as to heir dealings with Curtis.

Curtis was excused yesterday when he promised to prepare at once a list of all the contractors he dealt with and explanations in each case of the nature of the legal services he rendered for the fees paid him. Roche had not received the list today, but Curtis promised to send it to him.

Meanwhile, the chief investigator is checking on the list of contractors supplied to him by Mike Malloy, asserted "go between" for Curtis and the contractors ambitious to receive government business.

While Roche refused to reveal the names of the contractors on the list he had today, he did disclose that three of them are general contractors, two plumbing contractors, three plasterers, two roofers, two brick and material dealers, while the last man summoned is an architect.

STIMSON WARNS OF ISLE LIBERTY

Philippines Should be Held Thirty Years, He Says

Absorption by Tide from China Forecast

Freedom Would Bring Orient Unrest, He Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—The disapproval of Secretary Stimson of legislation to grant immediate Territories Committee as that was registered today before the Senate Territoris Committee as that group brought its long hearings on the subject to an end.

Making it clear that he was speaking as a former Governor-General of the islands and not as Secretary of State, Stimson said the Hawes-Cutting bill to provide complete independence to the Philippines in progressive stages through a five-year period allowed too little time for the Filipinos to learn to "stand alone" politically and economically.

As a substitute for any of the four bills now being considered by the committee, Stimson recommended that the islanders be given a "period of certainty" as to their political status through declaration by Congress that for at least another thirty years they would remain under the American flag.

After that, he said it was his hope the Filipino people would decide to remain under United States government.

Stimson said he opposed immediate independence because it would bring disaster to the Filipino people and to United States interests in the Philippines and the Far East, and would have an unsettling effect on the Orient.

He said he was a friend of the small landowner, a Philippine Agrarian ideal, and said the very necessity of upholding this system against exploitation by huge landowners necessitated an amortization period of at least thirty years under American government.

WAR MOTHERS GIVEN TRIBUTE

Pershing and M. Claudel Recount Sacrifice

Consecration Occurs at Paris Luncheon

Ambassador Says Heroes Died Not in Vain

PARIS, May 22. (AP)—Ambassador Claudel of France and Gen. John J. Pershing, for the United States, today voiced the sympathies of their nations to the more than 200 Gold Star Mothers who are visiting military cemeteries where their boys are buried.

The Ambassador and the soldier who commanded the American Expeditionary forces in France joined their tributes at public ceremonies which today provided a tender climax to the pilgrimage of the mothers from the United States.

SPEECH SPONTANEOUS

The consecration, which was spontaneous, occurred at a luncheon given by the American Club in Paris to Ambassador Claudel. After welcoming M. Claudel as a "great Ambassador," Gen. Pershing turned immediately to the pilgrimage of the American war mothers and wives. It was the only proper thing, he said, for the American government to arrange for the visit of these mothers to the graves of their sons. Speaking in solemn tones, Gen. Pershing asked all present to stop and think of the meaning of this visit.

Gen. Pershing continued that in in referring to motherhood he wished also to include in his tribute the motherhood of France, "whose numbers far exceed our own and who were equally devoted in laying upon the altar of freedom such precious sacrifices as they did."

DEBT TO FRANCE

Speaking in English, Ambassador Claudel uttered France's official tribute to the American mothers. A hush fell over his auditors when M. Claudel said how deeply moved he had been when Gen. Pershing referred so touchingly to the American pilgrimage. There is one thing the United States owes to France, he said:

"America owes to France the most precious part of its territory. You have in America many beautiful places, but nothing so precious to you as your cemeteries which are in France, where so many of your soldiers are sleeping. The most precious part of America is outside her land. It is in France. May that never be forgotten."

"Monuments and tombs," he said, "are a symbol not of death but of life. Out of them something living is to be born. Your heroes have not died in vain. Out of their tombs will come something which will be forever good for both of our countries."

The mothers and widows today visited the tomb of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, Commander-in-Chief of the armies in which their sons and husbands died during the World War.

MOTHERS EXCHANGE SALUTE WITH GERMAN OFFICERS

THIAUCOURT (France) May 22. (AP)—American Gold Star Mothers on the second day's pilgrimage to the graves of the men who fell in the St. Mihiel salient today met and exchanged salutes with a group of former German officers.

It was chance which caused the mothers to meet the men who fought their sons in 1918, and there was no sign of the hatred which existed twelve years ago.

The mothers met the Germans at the entrance to the American Military Cemetery here and thought them to be a French committee of welcome. When they learned their mistake it did not alter their opinion that the Germans seemed "such nice men."

GERMANS SALUTE

Gen. Otto Gessler, former Minister of the German Reichswehr, was leading a party of former officers on a tour to inspect the military cemeteries in France. He and his comrades knew who the mothers were and, as the American women passed the Germans quickly stepped aside and saluted. The mothers returned the salute and passed on to the graves as the former enemies bowed.

The weather was brighter today and the trial of cold rain has been withstood in good fashion, even by the most elderly women. No names are on the medical "casualty list," either here or at the four other American cemeteries or in Paris.

Physicians have feared not alone the weather. They felt that many mothers might be made ill by shock at the sight of their sons' graves.

GRIEF TINGED WITH JOY

But no such cases have been found. The mothers show poignant grief, but it is tinged with joy because they have reached the graves of their lost ones at last. It was a relief to most of them to be beside their sons and to see how well tended were the graves.

The women make long daily visits to the cemeteries, but in between times they are shown interesting war spots in the hope that a bit of sight-seeing may take their minds off the sadness of their mission.

Santa Barbara Given Battery

SACRAMENTO, May 22. (AP)—Adjt.-Gen. Mittelstaedt announced today that Battery E, One Hundred and Forty-third Field Artillery, California National Guard, will be mustered out as a Livermore unit on Monday and mustered in the following day as a Santa Barbara unit.

The general said the War Department authorized the change because the Livermore unit is unable to maintain the required standard of officer and enlisted personnel.

The battery's equipment, consisting of fourteen horses, four seventy-five-millimeter guns, caissons and other paraphernalia, will be sent to Santa Barbara soon.

CONNECTICUT PLANS ARMY OF PARASITES

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) May 22. (AP)—The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station has accumulated more than 1,000,000 parasites in a special laboratory to combat the oriental peach moth which last year caused $200,000 damage in the State. The parasites, multiplying at the rate of 110,000 to 220,000 a day, will be liberated in the peach orchards with the advent of weather warm enough for them to grow and prosper.

WRECK CAUSED BY FLIRTATION

Girl Waving Handkerchief At Driver Creates Traffic Jam

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—A flirting handkerchief today wrecked two automobiles, tied up traffic on a heavily traveled boulevard, ruined two dispositions, took up two hours of court time and in general added to the confusion of Chicago's noontime rush.

The kerchief, waving from the hand of petite Sally Garlant, 18 years of age, toward Dennis Finnegan, 22, caused his automobile and that of John Marks, to collide, damaging both machines and ruffling everything except the handkerchief.

In court, womanlike, Sally changed her mind.

"I mistook Mr. Finnegan for someone else."

BOOK PRICE REDUCTION ANNOUNCED

Return of Dollar Novel Part of Program Planned by Eastern Publishers

NEW YORK, May 22. (Exclusive) Dollar novels are to return next month, it was announced today by Nelson Doubleday, president of Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc., book publishers, in a statement to the press. He announced that through the co-operation of authors, booksellers and distributors, his concern hopes to effect a permanent and sweeping reduction in the prices of new and popular books to be published this year.

This is asserted by Doubleday to be the most sweeping revision in new book prices in the history of modern publishing. Books which heretofore have been priced at $2 and $2.50 will be sold for $1. Histories, biographies, works of science and books of exploration of the type now selling at from $3 to $10 also will be offered at lower price levels.

Doubleday added that the Crime Club, a subsidiary of Doubleday, Doran & Co., will issue its full list of thirty-six detective stories this fall at $1 each, instead of the standard price of $2. This new price level will be inaugurated June 20, next, when the publishing house will issue twenty new novels and detective stories at $1. These include books by H. G. Wells, Geoffrey Moss, P. G. Wodehouse, Grace S. Richmond, William Byron Mowery, William T. Tilden II, J. S. Fletcher, Edgar Wallace and others. Doubleday expressed belief that this reduction of price will serve to increase the reading of books.

RESOLUTION URGES CHAIN-STORE INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Investigation by a joint Congressional committee of the "vicious chain system of doing business" was proposed in a resolution today by Representative Green, Democrat, Florida, which said independent local merchants are being "throttled" through "unfair and unjust trade competition and methods."

CHURCHWORKER QUAFFS POISON

Found Near Death in Room of Texas Politician

Had Become Ill at Party on Hotel Roof

Victim Attending Methodist Dallas Convention

DALLAS, May 22. (Exclusive)—After draining a bottle of poison at the end of a gay party, Mrs. R. L. Works, an attractive young church worker, was found near death today in the hotel suite of R. B. Creager, a Republican National Committeeman, and Texas political leader.

Mrs. Works was rushed to a hospital and Creager was questioned by police. He said she had come from her Brownsville (Tex.) home to attend a Southern Methodist church convention and that by a coincidence he was visiting here from his Brownsville home at the same time.

While doctors worked to save the woman's life, Mrs. Works's husband, prominent Brownsville surgeon, was speeding to her bedside.

Creager gave a dinner party on a hotel roof last night. Mrs. Works was one of his guests. Several other couples were there. During the dinner, Mrs. Works became indisposed, according to the story police gleaned, and at Creager's suggestion two of the other women took her to his rooms in the hotel.

While in his room, Creager said Mrs. Works obtained a bottle of poison in some manner unknown to himself. She drank the contents of the bottle, mistaking it, Creager insisted, for a gargle. Then she fell to the floor in a swoon. Somebody who did not wish the bottle found in the room hurled it out the window into the street, according to the police, who later found it there.

Among other guests named by Creager as present at the tragic party were Mr. and Mrs. Houston Page, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snipes and C. E. Degraffenreid, all of Dallas, and more or less prominent.

WIFE WHO JAILED MATE MUST TAKE HIS PLACE

EVANSTON (Ill.) May 22. (AP)—Wives who contemplate having their husbands arrested should know what happened to Mrs. James Morris and be guided accordingly.

Mrs. Morris had her husband arrested yesterday. She charged nonsupport. Morris had hardly been ensconced in the bastile before Mrs. Morris appeared before Magistrate Porter and announced she had changed her mind.

"After all," she said, "I guess James supports me. He is really not a bad husband. In fact, he is quite a good husband. We'll just drop the action and let him out of jail."

The magistrate became stern.

"All right. We'll let him out of jail, but, madam, it is about time you wives called a halt to the practice of blaming your husbands every time something goes wrong. You had him arrested. You humiliated and degraded him. Then you change your mind and say you were wrong.

"Very well, you were wrong. Your husband is hereby released. You take his place. The charge is perjury. It will probably be next week before we can get around to your case."

SECOND CAP AND BOTTLE SHOP RAIDED

Chicago Federal Agents Make New Attack Under Recent Court Ruling

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—A second attack on bottles and caps was made today following a decision of the United States Supreme Court that sale of accessories used for making liquors is illegal.

On evidence that Federal agents have been sold "enough supplies to make five gallons of beer," a dry squad led by E. C. Yellowley, district prohibition administrator, today raided the People's Supply Company, confiscating $30,000 worth of apparatus and ingredients for beer-making and arresting Max Newman and his wife as the owners.

The first raid after the recent ruling of the Supreme Court was made on the store of Grein & Pahls ten days ago, but that company restocked and retained Clarence Darrow to defend its owners against the government charges. It also placed signs to advise customers the goods offered are not for use in making alcoholic drinks.

SYRIA WILL BE REPUBLIC AFTER THIS

France Gives Mandated Nation New Constitution, But Retains Authority

PARIS, May 22. (AP)—France today gave a republican constitution to all of mandated Syria except the State of Lebanon, which already is a republic.

The action sets up a regime previously fashioned by the Syrian Constituent Assembly, but limits it by retaining for France the full authority of maintaining order, defending the country and regulating foreign affairs.

High Commissioner Ponsot at Beirut proclaimed the constitution today and will call elections shortly, at which all male citizens of legal standing and 20 years of age may vote.

The President will be elected by the Chamber of Deputies for a three-year term. He must be a Mussulman, but full religious liberty, modern standards of living and property rights are guaranteed by the constitution.

NORTHCOTT ILL AT SAN QUENTIN

Condition of Wineville Slayer Reported as Critical

SAN QUENTIN, May 22. (Exclusive)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, Wineville chicken-ranch murderer, was reported in a serious condition in the prison hospital from acute appendicitis this afternoon by Dr. F. Edwin Garfinkle, acting prison physician.

Northcott has refused to submit to surgery, Dr. Garfinkle said. Prison regulations make it necessary for a prisoner to consent to an operation.

It is Northcott's second attack, the first being of comparatively mild nature last September. He responded to medical treatment at that time and was moved back to the condemned row after three days in the hospital.

If we were to tell of a method of reducing your real estate taxes as much as 50%, you would certainly want the details—wouldn't you?

Perhaps you can make that reduction indirectly! That's what hundreds of alert property owners are now doing.

They discovered they were paying excess interest on their real estate loans. They refinanced on Pacific States Savings' 7% basis. They are applying the money they thus save on their tax bills. They find it pays a substantial part of their taxes—from 25% to 50%.

Real Estate LOANS At an actual rate of 7%

This rate, the lowest in our history, is not the only advantage our loan facilities afford you. Here are others:

(1) loans up to 75% of the sound market value of property; (2) terms from 5 to 15 years; (3) monthly payments as low as $8.98 per $1000, paying the loan in full; (4) no renewals necessary; (5) no charge for preparation of papers unless the loan is consummated.

This combination of advantages is, we believe, unequalled by any other financial institution making loans in California. It demonstrates our determination to give California the full benefit of the operating economies resulting from our 80 million dollars in resources.

We are making prompt advances on income and residential property in cities served by our offices and selected localities near thereto.

If your property meets our standards of desirability, refinancing your present loan with us will be a simple transaction. Borrowers are not required to be savings customers.

Our loan officials will gladly give you full details. If it is inconvenient to call, send for booklet.

FITTS WILL GET AID OF MARVIN

Hoover's Friend to Direct Campaign in North

Lawyer Says State Desires Change in Governors

Courage of His Candidate and Activity Praised

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (Exclusive)—William G. Marvin of San Francisco, international attorney and close friend of President Hoover, today accepted the post of director in Northern California of the Buron Fitts campaign for Governor.

Announcement of Marvin's acceptance was made at the Fitts-for-Governor campaign headquarters at Los Angeles. Marvin assumed his duties at once, having just returned from a preliminary survey of political sentiment throughout the State.

A current of pronounced dissatisfaction with the present State administration is perceptible in all parts of California, asserted Marvin, adding that the people are desirous of having in the Governor's chair a man of courage, vision and action. Holding Fitts's qualifications meet the needs of the hour, Marvin declared victory is certain at the August primary after the voters have heard the issues discussed and the records of the candidates compared.

Marvin was a vigorous campaigner in 1928, when he directed the organization of Hoover-Curtis clubs in the Presidential campaign. He is a graduate of the University of California, became the head of the world's largest international law firm and having amassed a fortune, retired at the age of 32 years to devote himself to civic service. He has been active in a number of San Francisco civic organizations, is director of the Down Town Association, chairman of the citizens' committee which developed the Mills Field municipal airport, and is widely known throughout California.

CHAMPION OF LAW

"I am for Fitts," said Marvin, "because he has shown himself to be the champion of law and order and the relentless, courageous opponent of corruption.

"I am for Fitts because Gov. Young has allowed politics to interfere with the business principles of government, and has failed to keep many of his most important promises to the farmers and business interests of this State.

"I am for Fitts because in my personal conversations with him I have found that he has a real understanding of the basic problems which confront the people of this State in building a greater future prosperity. He realizes that our great harbors like San Francisco Bay must be improved in order to make California's ports the center of the great trade with the Orient and the west coast of South America which is already upon us. He realizes the importance of the water problem in California and knows how pressing is the problem of taxation. He knows that the time is past for the mere appointment of commissions to study problems, and that the time has come for aggressive, concrete action to help the farmers and the business interests of the State.

WEARY OF PROMISES

"I have just completed a careful survey of sentiment toward the State administration throughout the State. I found the people to be weary of empty promises and eager to have a start made toward the solution of problems which have become more complicated while Gov. Young has been in office. The administration points to its road-building record as a reason why it should be retained in office. No one questions that more roads have been built in the last four years than ever before. There has been more gasoline tax money available intrusted to the State administration by the people who use the highways and for the same reason there will be more roads built in the next four years than in the preceding four, irrespective of the outcome of the election.

"The vast bureaucratic structure given our State government during the last four years, with a corresponding increase in costs, should enable it to carry out the routine duties, such as road building. But the administration has failed where courage, initiative and vision were required. No really great problem has been solved; all have been dodged and deferred for further decision. The people want action and they will get it with Buron Fitts as Governor."

NEW PINCHOT FOE IN OFFING

Pennsylvania Candidate May Have Two Opponents

Wet Expected to Battle for Governor's Seat

Davis Plurality for Senate Mounts Still Higher

PHILADELPHIA, May 22. (AP)—Gifford Pinchot, on the basis of unofficial returns, tonight stands as the regular Republican nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania. But in the November election he may face, besides his Democratic opponent, a third candidate supported by the wet and possibly Liberal forces of the State.

On the face of early complete unofficial returns from the Republican primary of Tuesday Pinchot led by more than 12,000 votes over Francis Shunk Brown of Philadelphia. Success in the Republican primary has been equivalent to election to this office for years.

The unofficial totals, with only twenty-one districts missing out of 8701, gave Pinchot 631,090 and Brown 618,235. Thomas W. Phillips, who ran on a slate advocating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and of the State Enforcement Act, polled 264,462.

Additional returns in the Senatorial contest increased the huge plurality of Secretary of Labor Davis over Senator Grundy to 234,504. A total of 8406 districts gave Davis 720,608; Grundy 486,104, and Francis J. Bohlen, wet, 238,540.

Thirty-three members of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress were renominated by the Republican party in Tuesday's primary.

One contest remained in doubt today and the remaining two of the 100 per cent Republican group in Congress from Pennsylvania were not candidates for re-election.

The undecided contest is that of Representative Sullivan of the Thirty-fourth District, Pittsburgh, who seeks both party nominations. Patrick J. O'Malley contested for the Republican nomination and Michael B. Donnelly for the Democratic.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC'S greatly reduced summer roundtrip fares to all eastern points are now in effect daily until September 30. (Return limit, October 31.)

And instead of but one route east, Southern Pacific offers you your choice of four! Four smooth steel-ways across the continent. Go east one Southern Pacific way—come back another at no added cost. Pick the cities you want to visit. List the natural wonders you want to see. Then link them all in one glorious "vacation trip of a lifetime."

Thus it's easy to double the interest and variety of your journey ...see parts of America new to you. For each route is different. Each brings romance, adventure, new sights to see—with every mile. And remember—only Southern Pacific offers you this extra privilege of choice of routes.

Choose from These Four

GOLDEN STATE ROUTE: The direct line to Chicago, via Phoenix, El Paso, Kansas City. No train in the world finer than the "Golden State Limited" 61¼-hour flyer to Chicago. Two other fast trains, the "Apache" and "Californian."

SUNSET ROUTE: Via Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston and New Orleans. The far-famed "Sunset Limited" (only two nights to New Orleans) and the "Argonaut." Then choice of trains to midwest or east. Or Southern Pacific steamship to New York, at no extra cost (berth and meals included, also.)

OVERLAND ROUTE: Lake Tahoe Line, via San Francisco, across Great Salt Lake by rail, Omaha, Chicago. "San Francisco Overland Limited," 58-hour transcontinental aristocrat. Also "Gold Coast Limited" and "Pacific Limited." Through Pullman daily, Los Angeles to Chicago, via San Francisco. SHASTA ROUTE (Fares slightly higher this way): Through California, past glorious mountain and lake scenery, to Portland. Then east through Canada or along our northern boundary. Through train daily, Los Angeles to Portland, or choice of trains via San Francisco.

Take advantage of this variety and contrast to get the most out of your trip. Stop over anywhere you wish. Wherever you want to go, Southern Pacific and connections can take you.

Service the finest. Rooms en suite, ladies' lounge, club car, shower baths, maid, barber, valet, lounge parlor, sunroom observation, telephone, market reports and news by wire are a few of the extra comfort features on Southern Pacific's fine trains.

DEMANDS OF CIVILIZATION IMPOSSIBLE, FREUD HOLDS

Commandment to Love Neighbor as Self Opposed to Natural Human Aggression develops a super-ego, under whose influence cultural evolution

Dr. Freud, in the five preceding installments of his most recent book, "Civilization and Its Discontents," has sought to show that men are unhappy under modern civilization despite their efforts in various directions to alleviate unhappiness. This state he believes, is due to existence in the individual of a sense of guilt, largely engendered by the "super-ego," which throttles natural instincts. In this final instalment he shows how civilization itself has developed a "super-ego," making all humanity miserable by its impossible demands.

BY PROF. SIGMUND FREUD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

The analogy between the process of cultural evolution and the path of individual development may be carried further in an important respect. It can be maintained that the community, too, proceeds.

The super-ego of any given epoch of civilization originates in the same way as that of an individual; it is based on the impression left behind them by great leading personalities, men of outstanding force of mind or men in whom some one human tendency has developed in unusual strength and purity, often for that reason very disproportionately.

HIGH IDEALS SET UP

In many instances the analogy goes still further, in that during their lives—often enough, even if not always—such persons are ridiculed by others, ill-used or even cruelly done to death, just as happened with the primal father, who also rose again to become a deity long after His death by violence. The most tragic example of this double fate is the figure of Jesus Christ.

Another point of agreement is that the cultural super-ego, just like that of an individual, sets up high ideals and standards, and that failure to fulfill them is punished by both with "anxiety of conscience."

The cultural super-ego has elaborated its ideals and erected its standards. Those of its demands which deal with the relations of human beings to one another are comprised under the name of ethics.

The greatest value has at all times been set upon systems of ethics, as if men had expected them in particular to achieve something especially important. And ethics does, in fact, deal predominantly with the point which is easily seen to be the sorest of all in any scheme of civilization.

ETHICS STANDARDS OF EGO

Ethics must be regarded, therefore, as a therapeutic effort, as an endeavor to achieve standards imposed by the super-ego which had not been attained by the work of civilization in other ways. We already know—it is what we have been discussing—that the question is how to dislodge the greatest obstacle to civilization, the constitutional tendency in men to aggressions against one another; and for that very reason the commandment to love one's neighbor as oneself—probably the most recently of the cultural super-ego's demands—is especially interesting to us.

In our investigations and our therapy of the neuroses we cannot avoid finding fault with the super-ego of the individual on two counts: In commanding and prohibiting with such severity it troubles too little about the happiness of the ego, and it fails to take into account sufficiently the difficulties in the way of obeying it—the strength of instinctual cravings in the id and the hardships of external environment. Consequently, in our therapy, we often find ourselves obliged to do battle with the super-ego and work to moderate its demands.

LOVE COMMAND DEFENSE

Exactly the same objections can be made against the ethical standards of cultural super-ego. It, too, does not trouble enough about the mental constitution of human beings; it enjoins a command and never asks whether or not it is possible for them to obey it. It presumes, on the contrary, that a man's ego is psychologically capable of anything required of it, that his ego has unlimited power over his id.

This is an error; even in so-called normal people the power of controlling the id cannot be increased beyond certain limits. If one asks more of them one produces revolt or neurosis in individuals or makes them unhappy.

The command to love our neighbors as ourselves is the strongest defense there is against human aggressiveness, and it is a superlative example of the unpsychological attitude of the cultural super-ego. The command is impossible to fulfill; such an enormous inflation of lov can only lower its value and not remedy the evil.

CIVILIZATION HEEDLESS

Civilization pays no heed to all this; it merely prates that the harder it is to obey the more laudable the obedience. The fact remains that anyone who follows such preaching in the present state of civilization only puts himself at a disadvantage beside all those who set it at naught. What an overwhelming obstacle to civilization aggression must be if the defense against it can cause as much misery as aggression itself!

It seems to me that the point of view which seeks to follow the phenomena of cultural evolution as manifestations of a super-ego promises to yield still further discoveries. I am coming quickly to an end. There is one question, however, which I can hardly ignore. If the evolution of civilization has such a far-reaching similarity with the development of an individual, and if the same methods are employed in both, would not the diagnosis be justified that many systems of civilization—or epochs of it—possibly even the whole of humanity—have become "neurotic" under the pressure of the civilizing trends?

To analytic dissection of these neuroses therapeutic recommendations might follow which could claim a great practical interest.

STAND IMPARTIAL

For various reasons it is very far from my intention to express any opinion concerning the value of human civilization. I have endeavored to guard myself against the enthusiastic partiality which believes our civilization to be the most previous thing that we possess or could acquire, and thinks it must inevitably lead us to undreamt-of heights of perfection.

I can at any rate listen, without making umbrage, to those critics who aver that when one surveys the aims of civilization and the means it employs one is bound to conclude that the whole thing is not worth the effort, and that in the end it can only produce a state of things which no individual will be able to bear.

My impartiality is all the easier to me since I know very little about these things, and am sure only of one thing, that the judgments and valuations of mankind are directed simply and solely by their desires for happiness—in other words, that these judgments are attempts to prop up their illusions with arguments.

I could understand it very well if anyone were to point to the inevitable nature of the process of cultural development and say, for instance, that the tendency to institute restrictions upon sexual life or to carry humanitarian ideals into effect at the cost of natural selection are developmental trends which it is impossible to avert or divert, and to which it is best for us to submit as if they were natural necessities.

FORECAST REFUSED

I know, too, the objection that can be raised against this; that tendencies such as these which are believed to have insuperable power behind them have often in the history of man been thrown aside and replaced by others.

My courage fails me, therefore, at the thought of rising up as a prophet before my fellow-men, and I bow to their reproach that I have no consolation to offer them; for at bottom this is what they all demand—the frenzied revolutionary as passionately as the most pious believer.

The fateful question of the human species seems to me to be whether and to what extent the cultural process developed in it will succeed in mastering the derangements of communal life caused by the human instinct of aggression and self-destruction. In this connection perhaps the phase through which we are at this moment passing deserves special interest.

Men brought their powers of subduing the forces of nature to such a pitch that by using them they could now very easily exterminate one another to the last man. They know this—hence arises a great part of their current unrest, their dejection, their mood of apprehension.

And now it may be expected that the other of the two "heavenly forces," eternal Eros, will put forth his strength so as to maintain himself alongside of his equally immortal adversary.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

It was mid-afternoon of a sultry, tropical day when the keen senses of the three warned them of the proximity of the Arab camp. Stealthily they approached, keeping to the dense tangle of growing things which made concealment easy to their uncanny jungle craft. First came the giant ape-man, his smooth, brown skin glistening with the sweat of exertion in the close, hot confines of the jungle. Behind him crept Chulk and Tagiat, grotesque and shaggy.

Silently they made their way to the edges of the clearing which surrounded the palisade, and here they clambered into the lower branches of a large tree overlooking the village occupied by the enemy, the better to spy upon his goings and comings. A horseman, white burnoosed, rode out through the gateway of the village. Tarzan, whispering to Chulk and Tagiat to remain where they were, swung, monkey-like, through the trees in the direction of the trail the Arab was riding.

From one jungle giant to the next he sped with the rapidity of a squirrel and the silence of a ghost. The Arab rode slowly onward, unconscious of the danger hovering in the trees behind him. The ape-man made a slight detour and increased his speed until he had reached a point on the trail in advance of the horseman. Here he halted upon a leafy bough which overhung the narrow, jungle trail. On came the victim, humming a wild air of the great desert land of the north.

Above him poised the savage brute that was today bent upon the destruction of a human life—the same creature, who, a few months before, had occupied his seat in the House of Lords at London, a respected and distinguished member of that august body. The Arab passed beneath the overhanging bough, there was a slight rustling of the leaves above, the horse snorted and plunged as a brown-skinned creature dropped upon it. A pair of mighty arms encircled the Arab and he was dragged from his saddle.

TWELVE PASSED FOR SAINTHOOD

Eight Canadian Martyrs to be Canonized

All Were Slain by Indians in 1648 Massacre

Imposing Consistory at Rome Gives Assent

VATICAN CITY, May 22. (AP)—An imposing array of cardinals, archbishops, bishops and mitred abbots gathered this morning in the hall of the consistory to attend the third and last consistory summoned by Pope Pius XI to pass upon the qualifications of those proposed for canonization next month. More than 100 bishops were present.

The canonizations will raise to sainthood twelve "servants of God," as the candidates are called—two women and ten men. Of the latter, the eight Canadian martyrs, six French Jesuit priests and two lay brothers of the same famous order, will all be canonized together on Sunday, June 29, the feast of Sts. Peter and Paul, they will be the first saints from the North American continent to be so proclaimed by the Catholic Church. South America already has its representation in the person of St. Rose of Lima, Peru.

FORMAL AFFAIR

The consent asked by the Pope of the assembled cardinals and bishops today was in reality a merely formal affair, since the miracles adduced as proof of the twelve's sanctity have already been approved separately by the cardinals in the previous consistories. They previously were passed upon by the Sacred Congregation of Rites, after minute researches and lengthy arguments.

At least two miracles wrought by the invocation of the twelve holy men and women in question have been duly demonstrated to the satisfaction of both bodies. In the case of the eight Canadian martyrs, two allegedly miraculous cures of nuns in Canada, given up by the doctors as hopeless, have been brought forward as proof of those intrepid missionaries' powers of intercession on behalf of those who call on their aid to bring divine assistance in distress.

EIGHT CANADIANS

The eight Canadians, known now as blessed in view of their beatification five years ago, but soon to be styled saints, are the Missionaries, Jean De Brebeouf, Gabriel Lalament, Isaac Jogues, Charles Garnier, Antoine Daniel, Noel Chabanel, Rene Goupil and Jean De La Lande, all slain by the Indians about 1648, near Midland, Ont. The shrine at Fort Ste. Marie, in the same province is dedicated to them. Their canonization will be attended by an imposing pilgrimage from their adopted nation, headed by a number of Canadian bishops and prominent laymen.

OTHERS PROPOSED

The others proposed for the highest honor the Catholic Church can bestow on its illustrious dead are: Blessed Lucia Filippini, Italian founder of the teaching order of nuns that bears her name; Blessed Catherine Thomas, Spaniard, canoness of the Augustinian Order; Blessed Theophilus Da Corte, priest of the Order of Minor Friars, renowned for his exemplary life, and Blessed Robert Cardinal Bellarmine, distinguished Jesuit theologian and writer, contempory of Galileo and refuter of King James I of England.

Today's gathering was attended by nearly all those Italian bishops whose sees are within 100 miles of Rome, together with a number from other points in the peninsula and beyond. At the conclusion of the exposition of each case for canonization, they indicated their approval upon an interrogation from the Pope. The meeting began with the Pontiff himself praying to the Holy Ghost for guidance and terminated with his imparting the apostolic benediction to all present, and through them to the faithful of their respective dioceses.

TROOPS RULE SALT PANS

Further India Demonstrations Barred But New Threat Against Peace Stirs Officials

BOMBAY (India) May 22. (AP)—British and Indian troops were so firmly established in control of the several salt-raid zones tonight that further attempts at civil disobedience demonstrations by the natives became out of the question.

Dharasana is under martial law. Troops are bivouacked on the scene of yesterday's serious encounters in which about 600 Hindu demonstrators were injured. If the followers of Mahatma Gandhi expect to execute further raids upon government salt pans they made no sign tonight.

END OF TROUBLE SOUGHT

It is the evident intention of the government to put an end to the Dharasana disturbances, for all time if possible.

With this situation well in hand, a new threat against peace in India appeared on the northwest horizon. The Haji of Turangzai is reported to have stationed a seriously large number of his followers within striking distance of Peshawar. Government authorities today considered the need of further strengthening the armed forces in that region.

Arrests for disobedience in degrees varying from mild offenses to sedition are continuing throughout India, the prisoners in all cases being given prompt trials.

GANDHI IN GOOD HEALTH

A letter written by Mahatma Gandhi to one of his sons and made public today indicated the "Holy One" is very complacent in his confinement in prison and enjoying excellent health.

A government statement said in yesterday's round-up of raiders at Dharasana only three or four were seriously injured.

ADMISSION REPORTED IN SLAYING

Vincent Lucich Will be Charged With Murder of Sturtevant at San Rafael

SAN RAFAEL, May 22. (AP)—Vincent Lucich, confessed slayer of M. G. Sturtevant, was lodged in the County Jail incommunicado late today. No charge was placed, but Dist.-Atty. Henry E. Greer said he will be formally charged tomorrow with murder in the first degree.

Greer questioned Lucich for an hour and announced afterward that the prisoner had made a statement in which he said he killed Sturtevant and shot Mrs. Grace Berri, acting in each case in self-defense.

Attorney Thomas P. Boyd announced he had been employed to defend Lucich, although officials said Lucich himself knows nothing of the arrangement. Boyd refused to tell who had employed him.

JURY IN STILL CASE DISAGREES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (AP)—The Federal Court jury which heard evidence in the Marin county still case, brought into sudden prominence last night by the slaying of Melville S. Sturtevant, star government witness, reported today it had been unable to reach a verdict and was dismissed by Federal Judge Kerrigan. At the request of attorneys, Judge Kerrigan continued the case two weeks to be set for a new trial.

Arizona Prelate Seriously Ill With Pneumonia

PHOENIX, May 22. (AP)—Bishop Daniel J. Gerche of the Tucson diocese, head of the Catholic church in Arizona, is critically ill in a Phoenix hospital, suffering from pneumonia. Oxygen was administered to the prelate last night and several times today. He is 56 years of age.

Tonight his physician, Dr. Frank J. Mallory, said "Bishop Gerche is seriously ill, but he has a fair chance to recover."

While on a tour through Northern Arizona, Bishop Gerche took cold. Monday he came to Phoenix and Tuesday, when his condition grew worse, he was forced to go to bed. Last night his physician found that pneumonia had developed and the churchman was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early today.

Byrd to Leave Panama June 3

PANAMA, May 22. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd told the Associated Press tonight that he and his party will leave Panama about June 3 and make every effort to reach New York by June 19.

OIL DOCKS PERILED BY BLAZING LIGHTER

PERTH AMBOY (N. J.) May 22. (AP)—Fire that started on a gasoline-loaded lighter at the docks of the Shell Ether Products Company at Sewaren, three miles from here, tonight was quickly brought under control. Prompt action prevented the spread of flames to a near-by tanker and to gasoline-storage tanks.

The lighter Riley & Kindall, was destroyed by the fire, which followed an explosion.

HOT AND COLD SPELLS PLAY TAG IN COLORADO

DENVER, May 22. (AP)—The vagaries of the weather were a speculative topic in the Rocky Mountain region today. Several Colorado cities yesterday experienced the season's high mark for warm weather. Residents of Denver and Leadville, Colo., and Cheyenne, Wyo., awoke this morning to find a heavy snow blanketing the ground.

VOTES COUNTED IN 'DIGEST' POLL

Total of 4,806,464 Answer Out of 20,000,000

Five States Cast Majority for Enforcement

Tabulation Gives 40 Per Cent for Dry Law Repeal

NEW YORK, May 22. (Exclusive) American sentiment after ten years of the Volstead law is 40 per cent "wet," 29 per cent "moist" and 31 per cent "dry," according to the final results of the Literary Digest's nation-wide prohibition poll to be announced in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

A total of 4,806,464 votes were cast in the poll.

Of these, 1,943,082, or 40.43 per cent of the total, favored outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and all that goes with it.

Another 1,399,314 cast their ballots for modification of the Volstead law. This was 29.11 per cent of the total.

The rest, or 1,464,068, 30.46 per cent, urged strict enforcement of the existing measure.

UNPARALELLED RETURN

The magazine sent out 20,000,000 blank ballots but only 4,806,464 of them came back "properly marked." However, the editor of the publication in a statement accompanying his announcement of the summary—the final figures of the poll—to be published tomorrow, considers this an "unparalleled return" and submits that so many votes "indicates that the American people are more deeply stirred by the existing prohibition situation than they were even by the Hoover-Smith contest . . ." which, incidentally, the magazine was able to forecast by means of a similar poll of the nation's voters.

STATE LINE-UP

Five States of the forty-eight registered "bone dry," giving a majority vote for strict enforcement. They were Arkansas, Kansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee. Five others, Connecticut, Louisiana, Nevada, New Jersey and Rhode Island, were just as emphatically "wet," going whole-heartedly for repeal of the law. Thirteen, Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, gave 40 per cent of their votes for enforcement, and eighteen, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Wyoming and the District of Columbia, went more than 40 per cent for repeal.

Kansas proved the "dryest" State of the Union, and Nevada the "wettest." The poll revealed 57.87 per cent of the voters canvassed in the Sunflower State for strict enforcement.

Boulder Power Bill Proposed in New Mexico

SANTA FE (N. M.) May 22. (AP)—Gov. Dillon today requested Francis C. Wilson, interstate river commissioner for New Mexico, to draft a prospective legislative bill empowering either State executives or a public corporation to be created to contract with the government for Boulder Dam power for this State.

Under the terms of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur's notice to Gov. Dillon, this State has six months in which to execute a contract with the Secretary for such power. That period expires November 5 and the next New Mexico Legislature does not meet until January, 1931.

In New Mexico, neither the Governor nor any other State agency is empowered by law to enter into such a contract for the State, under present interpretations of the law.

Charles Legoffic, author of stories and novels about Brittany and the World War, was elected to succeed the late Francois De Curel.

TARIFF ACTION PLANNED TODAY

Flexible Proviso Will be Met in Compromise

Proposal Gives More Power to Federal Commission

Leaders Assert Hoover Will Ratify New Deal

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Adoption by the tariff bill conferees tomorrow of a compromise flexible provision sharply curtailing Presidential authority to make emergency rate changes and broadening the powers of the Tariff Commission was predicted today by Republican leaders of the Senate and House after another session of the conferees.

The new plan, said to have the approval of President Hoover, would authorize the Tariff Commission to recommend rate increases or decreases to the President, who would be required to approve or disapprove the changes within a period of thirty days. If no action were taken by the Executive, the commission's findings automatically would go into effect.

CONCESSIONS MADE

The compromise, all that remains to be settled before a conference report is made to the Senate, represents a concession to the Senate coalition of Democrats and Republican independents who favor complete withdrawal of flexible power from the President. But some opposition to it has developed on the ground that it would give the Tariff Commission legislative power.

Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader and one of the conferees, said he approved of the new plan if the coalition amendment could not be had.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, another Democratic conferee, withheld approval, however, asserting the Tariff Commission would be given too much power.

GIVES MORE POWER

Under existing law the commission merely reports its findings on differences in cost of production to the President and the latter is given the discretion of proclaiming increases or decreases within a limit of 50 per cent of the existing rate to equalize those differences, or of taking no action at all.

The 50 per cent limitation would be placed on the commission in the new plan but if the President took no action within thirty days the commission rate would become immediately operative. This feature would prevent a recurrence of such cases as that of 1924 when President Coolidge ignored a 3-to-2 report of the commission for a reduction in the sugar duty.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the Senate conference committee, hopes to reach an agreement on the proposal tomorrow and report the measure to the Senate. Consideration on the floor, however, will go over until next Monday, he said, to permit Senators to study the report.

Adding Machine Record Broken

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—Having listed and added 150 checks correctly in 2 minutes 8 2-5 seconds, R. A. Hartleywn, Jr., has won the annual adding machine contest of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

His time was three seconds under his mark of last year.

Don't fool yourself

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Before any "date" end halitosis

Before any engagement where you wish to appear at your best, decency demands that you rinse the mouth with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

By so doing you eliminate any risk of offending by halitosis (unpleasant breath). For Listerine overcomes bad breath instantly.

You never have halitosis? Don't fool yourself—you simply cannot know when you have it. It doesn't announce itself to the victim. But it does to others and offends them.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors! it is an instant deodorant.

Keep a bottle handy in home and office and use it. It makes you agreeable to others instead of disagreeable. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

...what are 10 EXTRA YEARS worth to you AFTER 40?

THE AVERAGE man's greatest earning power begins at 40. The years between 40 and 50 are his most productive.

But ... statistics show ... just as the turning point towards success is at 40, so, too is the turning point in health. 6 out of 10 past this age fail because of health breakdown.

Yet many men, on doctors advice, are prolonging the "success years" by following one simple law of health:

75% of poisonous waste from the system is excreted by kidneys. Through constant wear and tear, delicate kidney cells break down. Congestion occurs, throwing poisons back into the system...the forerunner of many serious ills.

Doctors now prescribe the drinking of Puritas water as the most effective combatant. Puritas (mineral free) dilutes poisonous waste, absorbs and carries it off, without leaving congestion-forming mineral deposits (sufficient minerals are obtained from fruits and vegetables). Thus the burden of kidneys is eased and their normal functioning protected.

Puritas water is made mineral-free and impurity-free through scientific distillation and aeration. It is drinking water in its purest state for young and old. Although its taste seems different at first, each drink becomes increasingly enjoyable.

Tenth Annual California Valencia Orange Show Opens Gates at Anahe

THE fiftieth anniversary of the planting of the Valencia orange in Orange county will be celebrated with the tenth annual California Valencia Orange Show which opened at Anaheim last night. Mayor Rolph of San Francisco presided at the opening. There are fourteen civic displays and 160 decorated booths in the huge tent which houses the show and boasts 100,000 square feet of floor space. More than 1,600,000 oranges have been used in decorations, carrying out a Rip Van Winkle motif. Photos below were taken yesterday at the show just prior to official opening. (Times photos.)

$10,000,000.00 Purchase
Justifies Every Claim Made for HUNTINGTON PALISADES
"On Santa Monica Bay"

$10,000,000.00 — said to be the largest sum ever involved in a transaction of this character in California, is the price that Eastern capitalists are paying for the Bell holdings, immediately adjoining Huntington Palisades on Santa Monica Bay.

There is a deep significance in this purchase. When financial giants come out of the East into the West and put this large amount of money into a property — that property MUST possess well defined potentialities for generous profit. These men do not guess. Neither are they swayed by suave tongues. They KNOW. Trends are studied. Population movements are analyzed. Values are gauged. When a proposition passes the strictest acid tests, these men act!

They are planning to develop their purchase as a domain of gentlemen's estates on a more pretentious scale than has ever been undertaken elsewhere.

It means that this entire region, of which Huntington Palisades is recognized as the outstanding example of perfect development and natural beauty, is destined to become America's finest and most exclusive residential district.

It means that the impending era of activity that this project foretells must first reflect itself in the certain and steady enhancement of values in Huntington Palisades.

The census proves that Southern California outstrips the world in growth — and western Los Angeles is the fastest growing section of Southern California — and increased population creates values.

The truth of every claim we have ever made for Huntington Palisades is NOW fully proven.

It becomes your duty to yourself to immediately see Huntington Palisades — to weigh carefully its advantages — experience its natural beauties — and compare its prices. You will want to buy here and BUY NOW!

WHO'S HOODLUM LIST SHORTENED

Sixteen "Public Enemies" in Chicago Arrested

Twenty-eight Stigmatized by Crime Board

Bodyguard of "Bugs" Moran Taken by Police

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—The law is putting crimps in the "who's hoodlum?" list made public recently by the Chicago Crime Commission.

Sixteen of the twenty-eight "public enemies" have been arrested since the commission's first letter April 23, and nine are now awaiting trial. The commission made this known in letters to law-enforcement officers.

Even as the letter was in the mails, police arrested another "public enemy"—Leo Mongoven, known as the bodyguard of George (Bugs) Moran, who himself is one of those listed in the "who's hoodlum." The commission's letter said Mongoven was in Ohio, but the police arrested him in the Madison-Kedzie State Bank.

MORAN NEAR BY

Two .45-caliber pistols were strapped beneath the coat of the man whom the Crime Commission has described as one of the city's principal "bad men." Police who made the arrest heard later that Bugs Moran, also reported to have been in Ohio, was across the street at the time his aide was arrested.

Police were told that Mongoven has been trying for several days to force officials of the Madison-Kedzie State Bank to buy from him $5000 in bonds at face value although the bonds are understood to be worth only half that sum at present. Last Saturday, they said, Mongoven threatened that "somebody will be bumped off if I'm not treated right."

Following the report of this threat police were sent to guard the bank. When they arrested him yesterday he had on his person $2472 in cash and $3000 in bonds.

The letter by the Crime Commission was in the nature of a report on the activities during the past month of the "public enemies."

CAPONE HEADS LIST

Al Capone, whose name heads the "who's hoodlum" list, has been absent from Chicago since April 25 and has been arrested in Florida, the letter said. His brother Ralph, third on the list, has been convicted in Federal Court of defrauding the government. Anthony (Mops) Volpe, No. 2 among the "public enemies," was arrested during the month but was discharged for lack of evidence.

The letter declares that Frankie Lake "is reported to be in the ice business in Detroit." Lake's former partner in the beer business, Terry Druggan, is awaiting trial in Federal Court for failure to pay an income tax.

"It will interest you to know," continues the letter, signed by the commission's president, Frank J. Loesch, "that inquiry is being made from almost every large city in the country concerning these men so they may be apprehended if they appear in those places. From as far away as Scotland come requests for their fingerprints and descriptions.

"It seems certain that if proper pressure is continued here they will soon be powerless to do great harm in the future."

AFRICA CRADLE OF HUMANS

Scientists Announce New Evidence of Missing Link Asserted to Sustain Darwin's Theory

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—Freshly found evidence of a missing link, asserted to sustain Darwin's original evolution theory and put man's origin in Africa, was presented to the American Society of Mammologists today.

This thing, which may have been neither human nor ape, was discussed at a symposium on gorillas, where man's difference as well as ape resemblances were cited. One sharp difference found by Dr. T. Wingate Todd of Western Reserve University showed that gorillas have almost no adolescence.

SKULL 1,000,000 YEARS OLD

There were two schools of opinion as to when man separated from apes, if human beings originated so. One held that it took place long before the three great branches of anthropoid apes—gorillas, chimpanzees and orangs—began to differ from each other. The other side held that man appeared somewhere after the orang had split away from the two other ape tribes.

The missing link is a skull with teeth, found five years ago at Taungs, South Rhodesia, Africa. The teeth gave the clew to something new, and the study has just been completed by Raymond A. Dart of the University of Witwatersrand, whose report was read by Dr. William K. Gregory of Columbia University.

The skull was found in a limestone cave, with indications that it was about 1,000,000 years old. It may even have belonged to the much-sought Pliocene era, more than 1,000,000 years ago, whose soil has never yet yielded fully accepted proof of human existence.

TEETH LIKE HUMANS

This cave was the home of baboons of a type now extinct. The skull was that of a child-create estimated at about three years. It attracted attention because brain pan and the fore part were slightly more voluminous than those of chimpanzees of the same age.

It still bore its milk teeth, but they were difficult to examine. Now Dr. Dart reports that the canine teeth of this infant, instead of being of the sharp and fang-like order, as are those of gorillas and chimpanzees, resemble teeth of human babies. Furthermore by X-rays Dr. Dart finds that the adult canine teeth in this kind of creature were smaller than those of apes.

"This find," said Dr. Gregory, "tends to support Darwin's original theory and indicates that man arose in South Africa. The fossil is regarded by many scientists as the most important find yet made connecting man and the apes."

SHAW CAPITULATES TO FILMS

R.-K.-O. Wins Permission to Produce Irish Author's Plays; Rodeo, Genuine Cowboy Songs Planned in Western; Lasky Signs Spanish Star, Roberto Rey

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

At last even the humblest of the world's picture fans, who heretofore have not been able to afford the price of a ticket to a Shaw drama, are going to have a chance to be dazzled by the blinding play of George Bernard Shaw's wit as exemplified in his stage pieces.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

The great Irish author has succumbed to the talkers.

It remained for R.-K.-O. and its officials to effect the change of heart on the part of Shaw, who heretofore has been adamant about allowing his plays to be filmed, even as talking pictures.

Word from the author and his London agent reached the R.-K.-O. convention in Hollywood to the effect that Shaw had capitulated. And in no niggardly spirit. For the grant reads that R.-K.-O. may film any or all of the writer's works.

Explanation was to the effect that it was Shaw's view of Galsworthy's "The Escape," on its recent presentation in London, which made him change his mind. "The Escape" was made by a British company of players, but with a staff of R.-K.-O. technicians in charge.

Just which of the Shaw plays will most readily lend itself to talking pictures and general popularity is the next question. Probably "Arms and the Man," on which "The Chocolate Soldier" was based, might be expected to be most easily filmed; and perhaps R.-K.-O. officials will feel that they must lead the public by degrees to an appreciation of such subtly disquisitive dramas as, say, "Heartbreak House."

But while others may differ with me, it is my humble opinion that a larger proportion of the public, including the picture-going public, knows and loves Shaw than is generally supposed, since his plays are greatly in demand, for instance, at the public libraries. And if deftly transferred to the screen, one would like to wager that nowhere will more popular stories be found than those contained in "Pygmalion," his comically fanciful "Androcles and the Lion," his amusing "Fanny's First Play," his keen "Antony and Cleopatra," or, in fact, any that we can think of. Even the long-drawn-out "Back to Methuselah," which takes three or four nights to play, might prove engaging film fare.

Aileen Carlyle in Cast

That clever young character actress, Aileen Carlyle, has just been assigned an important comedy role by First National. She is appearing in Mervyn Leroy's current directorial effort, "Broken Dishes," from the stage farce of the same title.

AILEEN CARLYLE

Miss Carlyle is being cofeatured as comedienne with Virginia Sale.

She will also appear in the French and Spanish versions of the picture, since she speaks both languages fluently.

MacDonald Vacations

Wallace MacDonald, who just completed a role in "Madame Satan," the Cecil B. De Mille Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, is spending a few days at Palm Springs on vacation with his wife, Doris May.

MacDonald has developed a most pleasing singing voice. He was last seen on the stage here in "Oh, Susanna," at the Mayan, where he created an excellent impression.

PATHE PRODUCES UNIQUE WESTERN

What promises to be one of the most engaging and unique western pictures ever made is that now in course of production by Pathe, called "Pardon My Gun," and directed by Robert de Lacy. It was filmed for the most part at Pine Crest.

SALLY STARR

Unique features include a real rodeo; the singing of various genuine cowboy songs, such as have perhaps never been heard in the movies before, partly comic, partly sentimental, which are a distinct literature in themselves; the introduction of two champion juvenile rodeo stars, and other novelties.

The Macfarlane brothers are the juvenile rodeo performers, one 12, the other 13 years of age, both having won their spurs for roping, riding and all the other cowboy stunts.

There is much comedy and music, the latter largely taken care of by Abe Lyman and his band, while a colored comedian who promises to rival Stepin Fetchit handles a large share of the comedy. His name is Stomp N. Sellit, and he is new find of Pathe.

George Duryea and Sally Starr have the romantic leads, and others in important roles are Lee Moran in a featured comedy part, Mona Ray and Harry Woods. The story is an original by Hugh Cummings, and the picture is to be one of the important specials of the Pathe year.

LASKY SIGNS NOTED ACTOR OF SPAIN

So far from the foreign players being out through talking pictures, the film producers appear to be gathering about them a group of important foreign actors to appear in foreign versions of their pictures as well as in English talkers, since a large percentage of these players speak several tongues fluently. In line with this policy, Paramount has just signed Robert Rey, a young Spanish star, Jesse Lasky made the announcement yesterday.

Lasky, whose discovery of Maurice Chevalier has proven one of the most important events in pictures, also is credited with the finding of Rey. The producer has just returned from a tour of European countries, and reports that he discovered the actor in a Paris music hall, immediately signing him on a long-term contract. Rey already has begun work in Paris in the Spanish version of "The Hole in the Wall." Later he will be brought to Hollywood to appear in Paramount pictures.

According to Lasky, the young man has a fine tenor voice and is an excellent comedian. He is said to be called the Chevalier of Spain, and has the same sort of smile that belongs to the Frenchman. He speaks English with a slight but pleasing accent, and speaks French fluently.

Sistrom Made Head

William Sistrom, noted executive in the film world, has just received a signal honor at R.-K.-O. studios. According to word received yesterday, Sistrom has been made general manager of production at R.-K.-O., under supervision of William Le Baron, chief executive. This means that Sistrom will supervise all stories and productions.

Sistrom has been head of production in various studios during the past several years, including Pathe, De Mille, Universal and others. He has been at R.-K.-O. studios during the past year.

RED REVOLT IN SIBERIA REPORTED

Travelers Reaching Harbin Say Soviet Has Jailed 10,000 Unruly Peasants

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, May 22. (Exclusive) Passengers from Vladivostok arriving at Harbin during the last week confirm reports which have come from Manchuria for several weeks regarding serious insurrections of peasants, farmers, fishermen and coal miners of the Siberian maritime province and state that the soviet government has dispatched a section of the Red army from Vladivostok to the Suchan coal mines to cope with the revolt.

Red authorities are suppressing reports and censoring newspapers, even threatening the Chinese papers at Harbin, but, according to reports verified by official Japanese sources, the soviets are arresting hundreds daily. It also is said that more than 10,000 peasants have been jailed in the maritime province, most of them being imprisoned in Vladivostok.

Travelers assert that guerilla detachments are active in all villages of the province and that soviet authorities consider the situation dangerous. Chinese authorities at Harbin say that more than 50,000 Russian peasants from Siberia have fled into Chinese territory since January 1.

Dry-Death Case Near Submission

SACRAMENTO, May 22. (AP)—The case of Mr. and Mrs. John South of Yountville, charged with assault and resisting arrest, is expected to be submitted to a jury in Federal Court here tomorrow.

The arrest followed the shooting of Robert Freeman, prohibition agent, during a raid on their home last December. Freeman died several weeks after he was shot.

Dr. Harry B. Biker of Napa testified today that Mrs. South was an expectant mother at the time of the raid.

The prosecution rested its case after Henry W. Jones, prohibition agent who aided Freeman in the raid, testified as to South's asserted attack.

Chamberlin to Fly Atlantic in Mystery Plane

(Copyright, 1930, by the News Syndicate Company, Inc.)

NEW YORK, May 22. (Exclusive) Behind a veil of secrecy, a gigantic mystery plane of unique construction, motored by super-engines of radical design, is nearing completion in New Jersey for a record-breaking, transoceanic flight this summer with Clarence Chamberlin and Ruth Nichols, society aviatrix, at the controls.

Its engines, now on the block at the Wright aeronautical plant in Paterson, N. J., are intended to surpass all existing models in flying range, economy of gasoline consumption, ease of handling and load-lift ratio.

The outstanding feature of the Chamberlin mystery craft is said to be its specially geared propeller.

New Department Formed by Tapia

MEXICALI (Lower California, Mex.) May 22. (AP)—Gov. Tapia of the northern district of Lower California today announced formation of a new department in his Federal district, to be known as the Department of Commerce, Industry and Tourist Promotion.

The Governor named Santiago Reachi, formerly foreign trade manager of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, as head of the new department.

HOWARD HUGHES has given to a feverishly awaiting world what we believe will be the most outstanding production in the era of talking pictures, a picture far, far greater than you can possibly conceive in your wildest dreams.
Not great simply because $4,000,000.00 and three years were spent on its creation, but because it brings to your eyes and ears a most absorbing story of all humanity, with such sheer fidelity, dramatic intensity and utter reality you will find it impossible to realize you are simply seeing a motion picture.

'Devil's Holiday' Unique in Plot Handling

Goulding-Directed Feature at Paramount

Nancy Carroll, Kirkwood, Others in Cast

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The plot keeps you pleasantly in suspense as to what its next twist will be. You can, if you like, suspect the theme of regeneration from the start, but how the regeneration is to be accomplished is the ever-intriguing question. Then, too, there is a purpose and heart throbs that call for the tear.

For these reasons, and for its very original and deft treatment, I would nominate "The Devil's Holiday" one of the most worth-while pictures that I have recently seen. This film, directed by Edmund Goulding, is showing at the Paramount Theater, and it deserves attention, as something very much out of the dull routine talkie razzle-dazzle and flub-dub.

Goulding not long ago directed "The Trespasser," starring Gloria Swanson, and, though his new picture lacks the brilliance of the Swanson presence, it is none the less an effectively acted feature and has a story of greater novelty than its predecessor.

Nancy Carroll, in the best performance she has ever given in a picture to my knowledge; Phillips Holmes, James Kirkwood, Hobart Bosworth and Ned Sparks are the important personalities.

The beginning of "The Devil's Holiday" is as colorful as one could wish. It introduces the heroine as a manicurist in a large hotel. She does a thriving commission business on the side helping traveling salesmen to put over large deals. It is rather a gold-digging game that she plays. She is the party girl that the zealous agents use for bait. Their customers by chicanery or diplomacy are nearly always inveigled into signing a contract. The manicuring effort of the fair lady merely serves as means for her to introduce herself to the prospects.

When this is all understood (and it is cleverly and only by degrees fully brought out) "The Devil's Holiday" is well on its way, and into the trap laid by the girl and one of her salesman friends has come the scion of a stanch old-fashioned farming family. He is mad about the girl—too mad, indeed, for a good deal to be arranged. His infatuation brings an elder brother onto the scene, who wants to break up the undesirable romance.

He fails in this aim, and because she has been insulted, the girl decides to marry the younger brother out of spite, and also for what she may be able to obtain in remuneration to release him again. The wedding over, they go to the paternal home, and there the events of the film go vigorously on against a background of staid traditions and waving wheat and corn.

"The Devil's Holiday" is a treat in that it takes one away from the conventional atmosphere of pictures. The midwest has seldom been dramatized in a serious way. And there are elements of the unique in the setting of this film and the manner in which its situations are handled that refresh.

I feel that the picture slumps a little in some of the later scenes, where the old old expedient of the girl returning to assist the boy's recovery of health is resorted to, but overlooking this more conventional phase, the rest is ingenious enough. And audiences will unquestionably be deeply touched by the sentiment and pathos of these later episodes, for the breaking down of the girl's resistance against the stern rigors of the puritanical family life is really a pitiful thing.

Miss Carroll achieves admirably the brassy spitfire note in the early portion of her portrayal. There is a suggestion of affectation in a few of the earlier scenes which will not appeal, but it is good for contrast to the mellowness that she has to develop later on. Goulding seems to have brought out very distinctive talents of hers in this picture that should be of benefit to her film progress. It gives her more to do, even, than "The Dance of Life."

Phillips Holmes is immensely good as the fervid young admirer of the girl. It is a really ingenious and boyish character that he draws.

Kirkwood's is a granite-like impersonation—definitely that of the able actor. Bosworth attains some very decided moments of excellence as the father of the two men.

Ned Sparks and ZaSu Pitts have a delightful scene together at the opening of the picture, and Sparks supplies most of the comedy relief. Paul Lukas, Jed Prouty, Morgan Farley and Guy Oliver are others in the cast.

A Lloyd Hamilton comedy, "Good Morning, Sheriff," and a musically attractive short color subject, "The Cossack's Bride," are also on the program. In the comedy Hamilton is the sheriff sent to capture the killer; so it is easy to imagine what this all leads to. A plotlet will doubtless increase the appeal of the color subject, which has been pleasingly produced.

PLAY SHOP DRAMA PROVES DIVERTING

"Fancy Women" Presented by Well-Chosen Group of Actors

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Aiming at a sophistication, perhaps naively realized, "Fancy Women," by Samuel Ross, given preview at the Play Shop, nevertheless furnishes more than a modicum of entertainment in arriving at its proper destination.

If it rather seeks to disprove the popular supposition that once a roue always a roue, it manages to disclose the fact that after all within the heart of the veriest rotter of them all, there lies that elusive something, not of the senses, which the one woman may awaken. A trite subject, one may say, but handled humanly and with a slight psychological twist which rather intrigues. At times there was a slight tendency toward stressing the melodramatic in situation and line, which might be softened in production.

HILL BILLY TROUPE HIT AT R.-K.-O.

"Rich People," Starring Constance Bennett, Seen as Screen Feature

BY JOHN SCOTT

Once a year the "Arkansas Travelers," Weaver Brothers and Elviry, come to town, and for the present may be seen disporting on the stage of the R.-K.-O. Theater, where they are proving a success, yes, even a hit. In these days of lean vaudeville fare an act of such caliber and one providing such amusement is rare indeed.

If the variety stage is giving its last gasp, the Weaver Brothers and the quaint Elviry make up the major portion of it. For sheer and unadulterated enjoyment the Hill Billies win the prize. From the original two Weavers the act has grown to include approximately twenty adults, two or three youngsters, a babe and a dog. Even the infant performs.

The Weavers, originators of hand-saw music, now obtain two tones in harmony from the instrument, if it can be called such. This is only one of the novelties in the act. Weird musical contraptions, made up of everything but the kitchen sink, are played, at times a bit off tone, but always interestingly. Elviry is the soul of obstinacy, throwing her audience into near-hysteria with her outbursts of indignation over one thing and another. She also brings onto the stage her chorus of girls, and what girls. They may be described as perfect replicas of young ladies from the Tennessee mountains, in a city for the first time. The men of the ensemble are in perfect harmony with them.

Two other acts which form a pleasant but decidedly different background for the Travelers are Heras and Wallace, "back-yard entertainers," and Orville Stamm and Billie De Vane, who present "A study in Eugenics."

"Rich People," starring Constance Bennett, is the Pathe picture at the R.-K.-O. Theater this week. It is adapted from a novel by Jay Gelzer, and the screen play is by A. A. Kline. E. H. Griffith directed.

"Rich People" tells the story of a rich man's daughter, who has made up her mind not to marry for love. But into the picture slips Jeff McLean, played by Regis Toomey, and this young man of unsullied character and strict morals is reluctant to marry the lady of means (Constance Bennett) because he desires to live on his own money.

A chance meeting in the rain brings the girl to the young fellow's house, where he lives alone, and after a long clothes-drying scene, the two separate. Toomey then visits the rich man's daughter in her own surroundings and further cements the mutual attraction. Although Miss Bennett is engaged to marry Robert Ames, her sense of the conventional hangs not heavy over her head and she makes love to Toomey. Just before her wedding to Ames, Connie leaves the groom flat at the altar and intercepts Toomey as he is about to leave for good.

This homely tale is light and airy and is so enacted by the cast. Miss Bennett distinguishes herself in some scenes and is pretty and charming throughout. Other roles are adequately portrayed by Mahlon Hamilton, Ilka Chase and John Loder.

Warners Will Screen Billie Dove Vehicle

Billie Dove's latest film vehicle, in which she is assisted by the polished and suave Clive Brook, comes to Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood for a one-week engagement Monday. The title of the picture is "Sweethearts and Wives."

The story concerns a hunt for a stolen diamond necklace. A French maid, played by Billie Dove; an English divorce detective, Clive Brook, and an English lord, Crauford Kent, are all interested in regaining the jewels, but through far different motives.

This picture was directed by Clarence Badger and includes such actors as Sidney Blackmer, Leila Hyams, John Loder and Fletcher Norton.

New Exploits of Drummond at Boulevard

That impeccable adventurer, Bulldog Drummond, comes to life again in "Temple Tower," a sequel to his first excursion into the realm of crime.

As might be expected, this picture at the Boulevard is a little too much of a good thing. "Bulldog Drummond" was satire, even burlesque, delightful in its honest insincerity. "Temple Tower" is hokum with a slapstick relief.

Kenneth McKenna is to be seen in the Ronald Colman role of Drummond, the top-hatted, self-appointed sleuth. Mr. McKenna is a fine actor and lends as much dignity as he can muster to the unbelievable situations into which he is constantly thrust.

The story is similar to the earlier comedy not so much in detail as in atmosphere. Temple Tower is an old homestead lying off the main road somewhere near London. It is habited by a Mr. Blackton (Henry B. Walthall) who has previously made off with the emeralds and double-crossed his gang. He acquires a secretary, Marceline Day, who is to act as an unconscious dupe and dispose of said jewels.

But plots are more easily laid than carried out. First Drummond appears on the scene to protect the girl whom he instinctively knows is a fine sort. Then there is some person referred to as the Nightingale, who prowls about the yard flashing lights and growling warnings. Adding injury to insult, there enters one Strangler, the most dreaded of all Blackton's enemies. Mr. Strangler is picturesque in a tight-fitting hangman's outfit made of black sacking with slits for eyes. He is everywhere, first in the fireplace, next behind the rose bush. One simply can't keep up with him.

Most of the action centers on various attempts to find the secret tunnel to Temple Tower and thus gain admittance. Trap-doors, quicksand, sliding panels and whatnot are all thrown in to boot, so that everyone is kept busy for the best part of the picture.

What is known as the denouement, or as happens here the settling of accounts, is brought about with astonishing suddeness and so little effort that one wonders why it couldn't have been arranged earlier.

The same "silly ass" Englishman which made Claud Allister known to the public in "Bulldog Drummond" is attempted by Cyril Chadwick. One may let it pass that it was the dialogue and the action which limited Mr. Chadwick (as well as the others,) in obtaining the results he should have had for all his labor.

Laurel and Hardy amuse in their own way with "The Brats," and Lynn Cowan and his band endeavor to please musically.

SPELLING BEE FILMED

An old-fashioned spelling bee was filmed for scenes of Paramount's "Manslaughter," which features Claudette Colbert and Frederic March.

BERETTI'S BIOGRAPHY RE-CREATED

Clarke's Novel Comes to Screen With Edmund Lowe in Featured Role

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Fox Films' conception of Donald Henderson Clarke's diverting, trashy novel, "Louis Beretti," crashed the Loew's State gate yesterday under the pseudonym of "Born Reckless." Those who have read the book will find its scattered threads drawn into a fairly knit whole in the picture, though only in its closing sequence does the latter approach the brutish vitality which was the chief distinction of the written work. I hardly see that it makes much difference, anyway, how sharply the film deviates from the original; the important thing is that, as movie entertainment, it is good without being as good as it might have been.

Like all of the productions of John Ford, who directed, "Born Reckless" is paced slowly and deliberately. The method has its disadvantages in an essentially flashy melodrama of this sort. Where, on the other hand, it intensified the suspense of "Men Without Women," Mr. Ford's previous effort, in the present instance it tends to give undue prominence to episodes which contribute nothing to the regeneration theme—and this theme, I take it, is the excuse for the story's existence. Little of Beretti's sordid, thieving background is shown, valuable because of what it made Beretti; and the chief reason for the war chapter—his friendship with Frank Sheldon—is glossed over in favor of the incident of Marie and the sugar.

The kidnaping, climax of the book, makes the best screen material. For compactness the producer has changed the baby from Beretti's own to that of the girl from the upper world, Joan Sheldon. Into the fog-laden marshes of Jamaica goes Louis, for a showdown with his erstwhile pals. In triumph he returns; but his triumph is brief. "Big Shot" is waiting for him, and the two shoot it out.

Edmund Lowe is easy and assured in the title role, though he is not the character Clarke wrote about. The girl is Catherine Dale Owen, and Marguerite Churchill plays Louis's sister, Rosa, charmingly. Warren Hymer is excellent as "Big Shot;" and others who contribute apt portrayals are Lee Tracy, Ben Bard, Frank Albertson, Paul Porcasi and Yola D'Avril.

Considered apart from its source, the picture is another underworld thriller, a little like George Bancroft's "The Mighty," amusing and tense by turn in an artificial way. Its chief weakness is that it lacks spontaneity.

"Romance" holds sway as the latest Panchon and Marco Idea on the stage. A colorful setting out of Hans Anderson encourages Castleton and Mack, Seymour and Corncob, Robert Cloy, Helen Peich and others in their songs, dances and comedy. For awhile, romance goes collegiate.

UNITED ARTISTS PROGRAM GIVEN

Twenty-one Pictures on Slate for Fiscal Year

Production Cost Estimated at About $17,000,000

Budget Sharply Heavier Than Previous Period

United Artists in the current production year will produce between nineteen and twenty-one full-length pictures at an estimated cost of approximately $17,000,000, officials of the company stated yesterday. In addition twelve shorts will be completed, five of which have already been finished.

The corporation's production budget last year was in the neighborhood of $15,000,000 so that the current year outlay will represent a substantial increase and is in line with the increasing demand for pictures that has followed the ready acceptance of the talking pictures by the public, officials said.

While certain production problems such as the foreign-language versions of the pictures have not been definitely settled, the corporation along with the other leading film producers is experiencing the benefits of a stabilized industry practically for the first time in the history of motion pictures and the prospect for the future is exceptionally bright, it was pointed out.

COLOR FILMS PLANNED

Of the current productions, parts of two pictures and one complete are in technicolor and about the same proportion of the remainder of the 1930 productions to be produced will be in technicolor. Some of the pictures will also be made in foreign languages.

Future releases include D. W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln;" "Lottery Bride," "Du Barry" (Norma Talmadge,) "Forever Yours" (Mary Pickford,) Goldwyn's "Whoopee," "City Life" (Charles Chaplin,) "Reaching for the Moon" (Irving Berlin,) "Raffles," "Eyes of the World" and "Whispers," a Roland West production. "Sea Dogs," an outdoor talking picture, will be filmed in the South Seas.

Gloria Swanson is working on a picture at the Pathe studios and Douglas Fairbanks is expected to start production soon.

OWNERS LISTED

Joseph M. Schenck is president and chairman of the board of United Artists Corporation while the owner-members in addition to Mr. Schenck are Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Gloria Swanson, Charles Chaplin, D. W. Griffith and Samuel Goldwyn.

United Artists Theater Circuit, Inc., which was formed in 1926, was given a ten-year contract on United Artists releases, and last year Joseph Schenck in connection with the sale of $3,000,000 of debenture bonds of Art Cinema Corporation, holding company for United Artists enterprises, to the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, announced that Paramount would be able to exhibit in theaters owned and controlled by it the pictures distributed through United Artists.

New Financing of Chesapeake Gets Sanction

WASHINGTON, May 22. (Exclusive)—Chesapeake and Ohio Railway today was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue $18,182,400 of common capital stock and to sell an additional $30,-942,200 of common stock, a total of $49,204,600.

This authorization follows the action by the railroad's directors on April 15, last, in voting to offer the new issue to stockholders on the basis of one new share for each four held at $100 a share.

No stock of record date has been set but it is believed that the directors will wait until Hocking Valley minority stockholders have had an opportunity to exchange their holdings on the basis of two and one-quarter Chesapeake and Ohio common for each share of Hocking Valley capital stock.

KNUDSEN CREAMERY REPORTS EARNINGS

Net profits available for dividends of the Knudsen Creamery Company for the fiscal year closed March 31, last, amounted to $129,403.48 after all charges, equal to $7.70 a share on 16,800 Class A shares and $3.51 a share on 36,800 shares of combined Class A and B stock, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company. Net sales aggregated $2,218,278, against $1,700,000 for the preceding year.

Rights Offer of North American Trust Rumored

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (Exclusive)—Preferred stockholders of the North American Investment Corporation will be offered the right of subscribing to additional 5½ per cent preferred stock, it was stated today by interests close to the company. The action will yield $689,000 of new capital.

Subject to the permission of the Corporation Commissioner, the offering, which will be made to all preferred stockholders of record as of the close of business on June 16, will consist of the nontransferable right to subscribe to one share of 5½ per cent preferred at $88 to every five shares of 6 per cent or 5½ per cent preferred stock held. No fractional shares will be issued, but it is stated the company will allow stockholders who would be entitled to fractional shares to subscribe to one whole share in place thereof.

The subscription period will expire at the close of business on July 16. A letter setting forth the terms of the offering in detail will be sent to stockholders by the company shortly after the first of the coming month.

Utility Reports Business Good

Pointing out that preliminary reports of the American Commonwealth's Power Corporation operating companies for the first four months of this year indicate earnings substantially larger than for the same period last year, Frank T. Hulswit, president of the corporation, in a statement issued yesterday declared that the gains in earnings could not have been made in the face of a so-called major recession in business. Business conditions in the territory served by the corporation are definitely on the up-grade, he asserted.

"The chief need, in my opinion, for a complete restoration of business is the re-establishment of confidence in the nation's ability to dispose of the products of our industries and cessation of legislative interference with sound business practices," said Mr. Hulswit. "Other factors for prompt recovery of business are at hand."

HERR FINDS COAST BRIGHT

Westinghouse Chief Says Sales Holding Better Here Than Other Sections; Sees Upturn in Fall

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Like many of the business leaders here to attend the foreign trade convention, E. M. Herr, vice-chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, is ready and willing to talk about business conditions. The encouraging tenor of Mr. Herr's remarks applies particularly to the Pacific Coast, which he describes as the bright spot in the world-wide Westinghouse business.

As a wage earner, starting as a test engineer on the Burlington lines, and as an industrial executive of long experience, Mr. Herr has lived through several periods of business depression. He has seen wages rise and fall, and volume of business fluctuate erratically. But there is nothing in the current unsettlement, he remarked yesterday, to seriously disturb either the worker or the employer.

INDUSTRY SALES UP

Westinghouse's Pacific Coast business, he said, has held up better than other markets both domestic or foreign, in which the company operates. Industrial business has been especially satisfactory in this section, the Westinghouse company having shared fully in the Pacific Coast's industrial growth. Electric turbines, generators, etc., have been in demand, while the merchandising activities in electric fans, heaters, lamps, etc., have also been satisfactory.

For the year as a whole, the Westinghouse executive expects the total volume will fall moderately under 1929, but there is no danger threatened, he added, to stockholders' dividends or workers' wages, so far as he can see. Westinghouse plants are operating now at about 75 per cent of capacity, and possibly this rate will be increased in the early fall when he anticipates a fresh upturn in the general business trend.

Trained as an engineer, with degrees in both mechanical and electrical lines, Mr. Herr is naturally interested in the technical end of the electrical business. The Westinghouse company, he observed in this connection, spends about $8,000,000 annually for research and development touching all phases of electrical manufacturing. Considerable research is done for the Radio Corporation, in which Westinghouse holds an interest, and its engineers have recently developed a new electric refrigerator which has just been placed on the market.

BROAD EXPERIENCE

Mr. Herr himself has been employed as a telegraph engineer, as a railroad master mechanic and assistant superintendent of motive power. With this technical background, mostly in railway transportation, he rose to the managership of a locomotive works and an electrical manufacturing company, after which he was drafted by the Westinghouse interests.

Returning recently from a trip around the world, Mr. Herr said he was impressed by the increasing foreign demand for electrical goods. In India, he found electric fans becoming popular, and in time he expects the Orient as a whole to develop into a major purchaser of lamps, refrigerators, etc. Japan today, he said, is a large buyer of industrial electrical equipment as the result of hydroelectric and general industrial expansion.

On China as a market for electrical goods he is not optimistically inclined at present. His business with the Chinese is less than five years old, he explained, due principally to unsettled political conditions depressing business. But he agrees with other authorities that the potential market is immense in possibilities.

Britain's Bank Head Becomes Steel Leader

LONDON, May 22. (Exclusive)—Montague Norman, head of the Bank of England, appears in the role of Britain's steel king as the result of the formation of two new steel, iron and coal companies with a capital of $40,000,000, wherein the Bank of England will hold a controlling interest.

The two companies will incorporate the assets of five existing Lancashire companies and will be known respectively as the Lancashire Steel Corporation and the Wigand Coal Corporation. Directors of each of these companies are to be appointed by the governor of the Bank of England.

As the Securities Management Trust, Ltd., which was recently formed by the Bank of England, will subscribe $2,500,000 to the steel company, giving it a majority of the voting control of both companies, Sir Montague will be in a position virtually to dictate their future policy.

Another steel amalgamation, according to Lord Aberconway, is pending between the Sheffield firms of the John Brown Company and Thomas Firth & Sons, Ltd., with a combined capital of $35,000,000

SAUNDERS TAKES REINS OVER CHAIN

Piggly Wiggly's Founder Acquires Store Control from Bank Group

CHICAGO, May 22. (Exclusive)—Negotiations have just been completed whereby control of Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., and Clarence Saunders Pacific Stores, Inc., has been acquired by Clarence Saunders and his associates from a banking group including Tucker, Hunter, Dulin Company, Mitchell Hutchins & Co., Eastman Dillon & Co., and Bertles Rawls & Donaldson, Inc., it was announced here today.

It is understood control was acquired as a result of an offer to purchase at least 175,000 shares of Saunders Stores and Saunders Pacific stores Class B common stock at $1 a share in addition to a block of Saunders stores Class A common stock at $10 a share. The Saunders "A" stock is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, where it is offered at $24, there having been no sales for some time.

Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., is the midwest company and a separate organization from the Clarence Saunders Pacific Stores. The "B" stock of the companies has never been publicly offered and it was stated the passing of control will have no effect on the present outstanding stock.

The two companies combined operate approximately 400 stores with annual sales of $40,000,000. Mr. Saunders plans, it was announced, to organize locally owned and operated chains with a nation-wide affiliation in place of a national organization. He will create local companies in each State to which will be transferred the stores in that State, and in so far as possible the ownership of the various companies will be in the hands of the people of the respective districts. Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas will be the first States under the new plan.

TRADE EXPERTS DISAGREE

Commerce Bureau Economist and Wall Street Editor Wide Apart in Suggesting Remedy

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, May 22.—Not since the first of the year has the stock market been so dull and listless. No leadership—no short interest to speak of—no strength. Some observers believe that it will remain so for several months—until business has taken a definite upturn.

Dr. Julius Klein, of the Department of Commerce, estimating the average daily expenditure of the American tourist at $10, suggests that Americans spend their money in the United States this year instead of abroad, and thus help to strengthen American business.

The New York Journal of Commerce opposes this point of view, and says in substance that the Assistant Secretary of Commerce has got the cart before the horse—that the ability to spend is a consequence, and not a cause of productive business activity. "The luxury trades and the businesses that furnish amusement and diversion can only thrive when industries that supply the basic needs are flourishing," says the journal.

Tourist trade abroad has been one of the saving factors in American export business expansion. It cannot be ignored.

Says the Journal again:

"As our tariff walls rise, and make increasingly difficult the entrance of foreign goods from countries in our debt, dependence upon American tourist dollars to help redress the one-sided balance of trade has constantly grown in importance."

Now if Americans in large numbers decide to spend their vacations in the United States and not in Europe this summer, many European countries will find their sources of income sadly reduced and their ability to buy American goods "still further impaired."

The difficulty with the "spend-at-home" doctrine is that it raises new problems far more difficult to solve than the original one—the cure is worse than the disease.

But the chances are that Americans able to go to Europe this summer will go, and leave the play of economic forces to those who wish to wrestle with it.

Today at the George V Hotel in Paris, the bankers of ten nations are writing down the final terms of the first German reparation loan of $300,000,000.

In this hotel, where the Young plan was conceived, three questions will come up for settlement: (1) How much of the loan will Great Britain underwrite; (2) Will the loan and interest coupons be payable in gold or in the local currency of the various countries subscribing; (3) What will be the sale price (a) to the syndicate, and (b) to the public?

Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, seems determined that Great Britain shall not take any more of the loan than is coming to her out of the total issue. "No British money shall leave Britain" appears to be the attitude of the British banking and political leaders.

As to the second point, many bankers feel that if the coupons are payable in gold instead of in the money of the various countries, most of the issue will be absorbed finally by the United States; and this will destroy its international import. So a suggestion to pay the coupons in local money—for ten years—has been put forward to meet this difficulty.

The third question—what will the bonds be sold for—is of paramount interest.

Japan's recent issue in the United States sold on a 6.20 per cent basis to the public. Can these reparation bonds be sold at any better rate?

Money is a drug on the market today, with hundreds of millions lying idle; a low interest rate may be expected.

When the Paris conference clears up these three points, the issue will be offered in the various nations almost immediately.

Utility Combine Buys American Fuel Properties

NEW YORK, May 22. (Exclusive—Control of American Fuel and Power Company with proven natural gas reserves of 200,000,000,000 cubic feet in Eastern Kentucky has been acquired by American Utilities and General Corporation, Moody-Seagraves Company and Hope Engineering Company, which have also secured additional properties in adjacent fields, it was announced today.

Acquisition of control of American Fuel and Power Company is believed to mark the entry into eastern natural gas fields of the interests which built up the United Gas Company system. American Utilities and General Corporation is controlled by G. E. Barrett & Co., and Moody-Seagraves interests, organizers of United Gas Company.

It is understood that all of the properties acquired aggregate 800,-000 acres and that importan developments are already under way. These holdings in Kentucky compare in size with those of Columbia Gas and Electric and Standard Gas and Electric subsidiaries in that State. American Fuel and Power Corporation comprises a number of operating subsidiaries which supply natural gas solely for industrial use in Huntington, W. Va., Ashland, Ky., and Ironton, O.

St. John, president. Present stockholders will be offered the preferred stock prior to any public offering.

NATIONS BEGIN RACE IN AFRICA

Huge Rail Projects Planned in Exploitation Programs

France, Italy and Spain to Reach for Untold Wealth

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, May 22. (Exclusive)—Racing for supremacy in the exploitation of the black continent, France and Italy are planning trans-Saharan railways, thrusting steel lines across the desert and penetrating deeply into the untold wealth of equatorial Africa.

The Paris and Rome governments seek to drain the products of this vast area to the Mediterranean through their respective territories, realizing that the economic and commercial elements involved inevitably will reflect on their political prestige and add immense military values and resources.

Following President Doumergue's visit to Algeria, pressure for the immediate construction for a French Saharan railway has redoubled. Parliamentary committees have already investigated the proposition and have proposed three schemes, after touring 18,000 miles over the desert. Two of the proposed routes traverse Morocco to the south and the third descends from Algeria.

ITALIAN PROJECT

Simultaneous with Benito Mussolini's fiery speeches at Florence and Leghorn, the Fascist press has burst out with demands that the Fascist government develop a route to the south through Tripoli to Lake Tchad, which is a pivotal strategic point in equatorial Africa, aside from being the shortest line.

Technical experts assert that the trans-Saharan route to the Niger River can be complete in less than five years with improved methods of track laying. They propose the use of oil-burning engines using fuel obtained from local plant life. Linking up with the French colonial empire rail system at Timbuctoo, the trans-Saharan would give a direct connection at Orp across the narrow part of the Mediterranean with the French ports of Port Vendres and Marseilles.

SPAIN WATCHING

Spain is watching this rivalry closely and is preparing herself to seize some of this important traffic by constructing a standard gauge line from Algeria-Gibraltar-Straits north through Madrid to Bordeaux, France.

But the Spanish ambition will be thwarted by the fact that Tangier is the sole Mediterranean port available that is internationalized and Spanish Morocco is entirely hemmed around by the French colony.

The Madrid government is envisaging the possibility of tunneling under the Straits of Gibraltar for through traffic without changing cars. But this is considered financially impractical at present.

RIGHT TO WITHDRAW FROM BRITAIN AFFIRMED

CAPE TOWN (Union of South Africa) May 22. (AP) — The South African Assembly today passed a motion affirming South Africa's right to secede from the British Empire if it so desires.

The vote was taken following a speech by Premier Hertzog, who replied to a speech made by Gen. Smuts Tuesday, when the latter declared it would be impossible for South Africa to secede from the British commonwealth without full consent of all other dominions and the British Parliament.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—Curb market stocks again failing to establish a trend today, and trading on this market, as on others, continued to dwindle, total sales falling below 600,000 shares.

Active features were the electric power and natural gas stocks. Such issues as United Gas, Missouri Kansas Pipe Line, Duquesne Gas, and National Fuel Gas were in fair demand, but only the last named moved up as much as a point. Electric Bond and Share fluctuated uncertainly, and closed up a fraction.

American Gas and Electric, American Commonwealth Power B, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, and North American Light and Power, gained 2 or 3 points.

Price movements were divergent and confusing in the industrial and specialty group. Technicolor, which broke sharply to new low ground yesterday, rebounded 6 points, coincident with announcement of the election to the board of Jesse McHugh, chairman of the executive committee of the Chase National Bank.

Oils were dull and irregular. Gulf lost 2 points, and Cities Service a fraction. South Penn mounted a point.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Trading Continues Listless With Prices Firm; Western Air Express Strengthens

Western Air Express, Union Oil and Standard Oil of California attracted the greatest interest in yesterday's session on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as the volume of transactions sagged to a new record low mark. Price fluctuations for the market as a whole were held to narrow limits, the most significant characteristic being a total absence of liquidating operations.

The air express issue surprised traders by turning suddenly active in the quiet market. A total of 700 shares crossed the board, which lifted the issue 1 3-4 points to a high for the current movement of 40 3-4. Final sales were at 40 1-4.

Union Oil of California and Union Associates usurped the leadership of the trading activity, which has been held so long by Standard Oil and Transamerica. Both issues traded in equal volume with combined sales of 3500 shares, which is considerably more than in recent sessions. The operating company advanced nearly a point to 45 3-4 and closed at 45½, up 5-8 net, while the Associates after reaching 44 3-4 ended at 44 3-8, up 1-4 net.

Standard Oil of California rallied 5-8 to 69 and Rio Grande, 1-4 to 20 3-4, while Richfield eased 1-8 to 22 1-4. No other oils were traded.

Trading in Transamerica slackened with the turnover falling below 1000 shares. The issue ranged within 1-4 point and firmed up 1-8 net to 43 1-8. Southern California Edison, another popular trader, held steady to 64½. Seaboard Dairy Credit preferred, an inactive, dropped 2 points to a new 1930 low at 90. There were no other changes of consequence.

Sales totaled 8478 shares valued at $451,450; previous day, 9388 shares valued at $504,724.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Trading operations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday dropped to new low levels in common with a similar condition on the parent board, and only a few of the more popular issues entered into the business of the market. With one or two exceptions prices held unchanged.

Gladding McBean was an exception. The issue which over the past week has steadily lost ground into record low territory, dropped another 1 1-8 points to establish a new bottom at 50. Crystalite preferred, an inactive issue, crashed 10 points to 75, while the common stock firmed up 1-4 to 20 3-4. Pickwicker at 32 1-8 was off 1-8, while Fox Theaters at 12 1-2 was up 3-8.

Although the group of lower-priced issues continued more or less active there were few price changes of consequence. Italo dropped 13 cents to 22 cents and Occidental Petroleum lost 4 cents to a new low at 80 cents. Bandini swung up 10 cents to 3.00.

Sales totaled 53,651 shares valued at $74,281; previous day, 38,437 shares valued at $79,221.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

That the various field committees endeavoring to bring down the State's daily flow of oil to the desired level, have signified their intentions of observing the new curtailment program, was indicated at the recent monthly meeting of the East Side Operators' Committee in Bakersfield.

Not only has the committee approved of the new allowable of 596,000 barrels for the State and accepted an additional 2½ per cent curtailment as their share of the overproduction at Santa Fe Springs, but it has suggested that a cut in the price of oil for the Round Mountain field be put into effect because of overproduction there by one of the larger operating companies.

According to the report filed at the umpire's office here, the East Side Operators' Committee discussed at great length every phase of the oil-curtailment program. In order to bring the violating company into line, it becomes necessary to penalize land owners as well, whom, it is asserted, have requested the operating company to continue producing regardless of the curtailment program.

The West Side Operators' Committee meeting, held at Taft during the current week, disclosed that one major company was producing more than its allowable, while four major companies were far below the allowable figure. A price change has not been suggested for any of the fields in this district.

Ready for Printer

A new contract recently suggested as the only thing that would cause certain oil companies to observe the State-wide curtailment program has been prepared and after examination by various officials instrumental in its preparation, it will be printed and made ready for circulation to obtain the signatures of the various companies.

Umpire H. Paul Grimm, who has long advocated the effect of a signed contract instead of just the word of the operator that he will curtail, has placed the new contract and if agreeable to other parties it will be placed in circulation today until all companies in producing fields have signed up to curtail for the five and one-half months still to run. The new contract specifically states that the new allowable for the State is to be 596,000 barrels of oil a day. It becomes effective as of the 1st inst. and expires Nov. 1.

Rigging up Wildcat

Search for an extension of the Potrero townlot area has been taken up by the Republic Petroleum Company in its Lockhart No. 1 on a 220-acre lease about two miles south of the area where deeper production has been developed by George F. Getty, Inc., York & Lockhart, Sunset Pacific Oil Company and more recently by the Richfield Oil Company. Republic's Lockhart No. 1 will prospect what is thought to be a small structure.

Preparing to Spud

The California Ventura Oil Company's Holton No. 1 wildcat, located on a fifty-acre lease near the intersection of Sixth and the Pacific Electric tracks at Hermosa Beach, is rigging up and will be ready to spud in within a week, according to company officials.

California Ventura has leased enough property at Hermosa Beach to drill fifty or sixty wells. Its initial test will be given an opportunity to develop production before anything else is started. The company's Holton No. 1 is southeast of the new field discovered at Venice by the Ohio Oil Company, on the Recreation Gun Club property, and is another attempt to determine if the structure lies alongside or out in the ocean as at Elwood and Seacliff.

Into Oil Sand

The Jergins Trust's No. 1, most westerly project along the coast in the townlot area at Venice, has topped shallow showings of oil sand at about 3490 feet and is higher on the structure than where it was penetrated in projects further inland. Whether the operator plans to give first showings a production test has not been determined.

Since operations became lively near Venice no other operator has succeeded in obtaining production from the shallow oil sand. Ohio failed to get it from two wells that eventually found steady production at greater depth, and so far the Union Oil Company's Del Rey No. 1 has failed to come in at about 3600 feet, but it is scheduled for another production test soon.

Active District

The Los Cerritos district, near Signal Hill now is experiencing a drilling campaign based on the productivity of the Vesta Petroleum Company's No. 3, which came in for approximately 300 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 7680 feet. Possibility of finding production at about the same depth has increased the number of drilling wells in that area to thirty. Most of these are east of American avenue, west of Atlantic and south of Thirty-seventh street.

For nearly a year much of the active drilling has been confined to the extreme southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field, due to new deeper completions brought in, the first by the State Company.

Seeks Permit

The Pan-American Petroleum Company has joined the General Petroleum Corporation in the development of ocean producers off the coast of the Seacliff field, having made application to the War Department for permission to construct a pier and derrick foundation, the pier to extend seaward a distance of 2000 feet from mean high tide and westerly from the coast line.

Pan American's permit, if granted, will enable drilling for oil a little further out in the ocean than General's permit, which extends 1700 feet. General's Ferguson No. 2 was recently brought in for 1000 barrels of oil a day. While other wells may be drilled with ease on the same pier, General is preparing to construct an arm or addition to the original pier to enable other wells to be drilled out as far as the first completion.

The Richfield Oil Company is continuing its preliminary survey of its tideland permit at Seacliff. Its holdings are near the new producer and off-shore from the company's Hobson Fee leases which have developed a little deep production.

Wheat Futures Sharply Up on Bullish News

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—Reports of crop shrinkage, combined, ranging from 35,000,000 to 52,000,000 bushels since the 1st inst. led to sharp jump in wheat values today. Unofficial estimates were current that Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas together promised no more yield of but 157,000,000 bushels, compared with the government May forecast of 189,000,000. Less favorable crop advices were also at hand from Nebraska.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at practically the day's top level, 2¼ to 3 cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1¼@2½c gain, oats 2@3c, and provisions 7c to 12c a shade up.

Notably increased activity of trading, as well as higher prices, formed the rule in the wheat pit today from the outset. Indications pointed to liberal export business in North American wheat, especially United States hard winter grades, and prospects were for big clearances at Seaboard. Liverpool quotations were higher.

Predictions of frost tonight over wheat territory all the way from Canada down into Kansas added to uneasiness, resulting in sharp gains of crop damage already done in parts of Nebraska and the Southwest.

Corn and oats values were influenced largely by the upward swing of the wheat market.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, May 22. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Steel prices continue to fall. Semifinished material is down $1 to $2 per ton in the Middle West. A reduction of $2 per ton on cold rolled strip steel has been made at Cleveland and cast iron pipe has been reduced $7 at Chicago. Sharp competition in structural steel is forcing sellers of this material to offer concessions.

One month ago Daily Metal Trade's index of finished products stood at $48.88 whereas today it stands at $47.89, vividly mirroring the decline of recent weeks.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (AP)—Niter mingling with copper ores in the aft hold of the steamer Charcas of the Grace Line caused the spread of acrid fumes in the hold of the vessel, which docked here today. Flashlits gave way, precipitating the niter on the ore. Firemen stood by tonight to guard against fire.

The M. N. K. motor liner Asama Maru arrived here today after making the crossing from Yokohama in twelve days, four hours and twelve minutes, said the fastest time ever made over the route by a merchant liner. The Asama carried 485 passengers, a record for this year. The N. Y. K. liner Tatsuta Maru, formerly held the record.

The collision suit arising from the crash in San Francisco Bay last September of the liner Virginia and the freighter Hermion was reported today to have been settled out of court. Under terms of settlement it was understood each line will pay its own repair bills.

SEATTLE, May 22.—With the sailing of the Culbarra for Alaska, announced today as set for June 15, all twenty-four ships of the Pacific Steamship Company fleet will be in regular service. The Culbarra and Bruce, which will start on its first voyage of the season on June 1, will serve the fishing trade on the west coast of the Prince of Wales Island.

The Queen on its first trip to Southeastern Alaska leaves here the 29th inst. and the Dorothy Alexander June 1.

PORTLAND, May 22.—Senator McNary advised the Portland Chamber of Commerce today that the Senate Commerce Committee had adopted his amendment and written into the Rivers and Harbors Bill the item relating to a 300-foot channel in the Columbia River from Portland to the sea, instead of the 400-foot width recently adopted by the House of Representatives.

"This amendment," McNary's telegram reads, "restores the 100 feet deducted by the House and, as one of the Senate conferees, I feel I shall be able to hold the item in conference."

The Baker Construction Company today was awarded a contract for excavation and driving of foundation piling for a new million-bushel grain elevator to be constructed at the municipal terminals here. The bid was $80,000.

TACOMA, May 22.—Lumber, pulp and canned goods comprised the bulk of the freight moved along the water front today. The Norwegian motorship Nyhorn, under charter to Grace & Co., is lifting 1,000,000 feet of lumber, 900 tons of pulp, shook and 2000 barrels of salmon. The carrier docked here today and will clear for Antofagasta next week.

Two thousand tons of pulp will be shipped to New York aboard the Katrina Luckenbach, which berthed this morning from Everett. She will clear port tomorrow.

The Matson liner Parthenia, completed her cargo of fifteen tons of broom handles, fifty tons of plywood, twenty tons of flour blocks and 250,000 pounds of canned goods today. She cleared port for Liverpool late this evening.

Mussolini Tells Workers About Jobless Abroad

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

MILAN (Italy) May 22. (Exclusive)—Premier Mussolini told 5000 working men at Sesto San Giovanni, near here today, that they are no worse off than the working men of any other country.

"If anyone tells you that abundance reigns in other countries he lies. Knowing that he lies," said Il Duce, continuing, "open your papers today and read how in merry England unemployment has reached 3,000,000 and the Minister of Labor has resigned because he cannot solve this most tormenting problem of powerful England."

Il Duce appealed to the workers to keep the general interest of Italy in mind in these trying times "when nations are powerful and their workers are respected in the world."

HECKE SAYS FORD FARM VIEW WRONG

Director of Agriculture Thinks Auto Maker Has Faulty Theory for Ills

SACRAMENTO, May 22. (Exclusive)—In view of present prices in farm commodities, G. H. Hecke, State Director of Agriculture, today characterized as "not logical" and "economically unsound" Henry Ford's theory of increased production to cure agricultural ills.

"We are suffering right now," said Hecke, "from a overexpansion of production which is directly responsible for low farm prices. Production has exceeded consumption. The surplus problem in the majority of farm commodities is the chief reason for the enactment of the Federal Marketing Act, and the creation of the Federal Farm Board."

Hecke declared that what is needed is not an increased production in the terms of larger acreages and greater crops, but the elimination of waste in agriculture and the substitution of greater efficiency per unit, whether acre, animal or man-power.

"If Ford wants to change from Model T or Model A to meet consumer requirements, or to curtail or expand production in keeping with consumption, he shuts his factories down until corresponding changes are made. Agriculture cannot stop producing nor are its revolutions as speedy as those in industry. The economics of industry are only applicable to agriculture in the elimination of waste in the creation of greater efficiency and in better planning and management, not in rapid shifting or changing of production."

India Frontier Tribes Clash With Afghans

LONDON, May 22. (Exclusive)—News reached here that the trouble on the northwest frontier, which was caused by masterless tribes in the no man's land between India and Afghanistan, now is affecting the latter country. The tribesmen, who were bombed out of their positions by British airplanes with the approval of the Afghan government, have now retreated into Afghan territory and are creating trouble there.

A clash occurred between tribesmen and Afghan troops at Koh-I-Daman, where the tribes were dispersed into the hills.

One day I was just able to drag myself into my car and drive me home to the grocery and it was during this time that my friends of that grocer that I should try Dr. Pierre's 'Anuric' Tablets. He insisted I go to the nearest drug store and get 'Anuric' and start taking it at once. STATE WINS HEARING ON DAVIS CASE

Bribe Conviction Reversal by Appellate Court to Get Supreme Tribunal Review

A hearing on an Appellate Court ruling reversing the conviction of Harold L. Davis, chief deputy under former District Attorney Keyes, on bribery charges was granted the Attorney-General's office yesterday by the State Supreme Court and, pending the decision, Davis announced he will surrender today in Superior Judge Wilson's court.

The move of the high court, granted on a petition of the Attorney-General's office, is at least a temporary victory for the District Attorney's office in a bitter legal battle to force Davis to spend from one to fourteen years in San Quentin on the bribery conviction.

Davis, however, gained an advantage on April 22 when the Appellate Court reversed his conviction, holding that evidence against him as given by Ben Getzoff, "pay-off man" in the Keyes case, lacked sufficient corroboration.

After having been in the County Jail since July 11, 1929, the date a verdict against him was returned, Davis went before Judge Wilson April 28, last, and on the Appellate Court's ruling obtained his liberty on $10,000 bond.

The bond and release was made with the understanding that if the Supreme Court gave consent to a rehearing Davis would surrender, as his counsel, Attorney Jerry Geisler, says they will keep their agreement immediately on the opening of court today.

Specific charges in Davis's case are that he solicited, agreed to receive and received a $7500 bribe from Getzoff and Ed Rosenberg, a broker convicted with Keyes, to "lay down" on the prosecution of Rosenberg in the first Julian Petroleum Corporation debacle trials.

The Appellate Court ruling, reversing the case, held there is no direct negotiation or transaction between Davis and Rosenberg in relation to the asserted crime. In the absence of any corroborating evidence, connecting Rosenberg with the transaction, the decision said, the mere delivery of "some money" by Getzoff to Davis was not evidence of bribe guilt.

As the ruling, in effect, nullified the testimony of Getzoff, principal State's witness, as an accomplice, the Attorney-General and District Attorney take the position in petitioning for rehearing that Rosenberg is the accomplice to the plot.

The Supreme Court agreed to hear the State's plea so it can decide if a rehearing should be granted. Argument on the petition is scheduled to be heard by the court in Los Angeles June 3, next.

The Supreme Court, withholding comment pending the hearing, merely entered an order granting the argument, giving the State an opportunity to set forth its position.

Four Former Governors to Help at Fete

Four former governors of the State and the present Governor will take part in the exercises to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Sixth District Agricultural Association which will held next Saturday in Exposition Park.

The former governors, George C. Pardee, James N. Gillette, William D. Stephens and Friend W. Richardson and Gov. Young will be introduced by Dr. R. B. Von Klein-Smid, president of the University of Southern California, who will be chairman of the day.

The program will be given at the bandstand west of the State Building and will begin at 2:30 p.m. with an address by President W. M. Bowen of the association's board of directors, in which he will briefly review its history.

At the close of the speaking program, Gov. Young, assisted by William Bowen Chick, will plant and dedicate an African oak in honor of the association's first board of directors. The tree was brought here for the purpose from South Africa by the head of the present board.

MOTIONS IN LEWIS CASE OVERRULED

Court Orders Selection of Jury Today and Halts Fight Over Jurisdiction

S. C. Lewis, Federal prisoner now here from McNeil Island prison to answer to charges of jury bribery, was one step nearer trial yesterday when Superior Judge McLucas swept away all of the former oil promoter's motions aimed at the jurisdiction of the local courts to proceed with the trial.

Called yesterday morning by Superior Judge Wilson for trial Lewis was caught by a surprise move on the part of the court when Judge Wilson announced that he had asked to be relieved from sitting as the judge in the case and stated that Judge McLucas has been appointed in his stead.

With Judge McLucas on the bench, Lewis, acting as his own attorney, at once made a series of motions and offered much argument all aimed at the power of the local courts to try him. One by one Judge McLucas over-ruled the former promoter's motions, although Lewis himself took the stand several times and called a number of other witnesses in an effort to support his position.

At the close of the court day no testimony in the bribery case was in the record and no prospective jurors had been examined. However, it did appear, according to Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones who are to present the prosecution case, that the examination of jurors will begin this morning.

In one motion made during the early part of the court proceedings Lewis was sustained by Judge McLucas and as a result a number of prospective jurors seated in the courtroom were disqualified from further service in the case.

The disqualification of the jury panel came as the result of certain remarks made by Judge Wilson just before he turned the bench over to Judge McLucas and had to do with an affidavit of prejudice which was filed by Lewis against him during the early stages of the attempt to bring Lewis to trial. As the remarks of Judge Wilson were made in the presence of the prospective jurors Judge McLucas held with Lewis that they must be disqualified for service in the trial.

It was along at the close of the day that Judge McLucas made it very clear to Lewis that his trial must start this morning.

TOURISTS COMING TO STAY

Heavy Demand for One-Way Tickets Reported from East as Summer Influx Begins

If the demand for one-way tickets to Los Angeles and other Southern California points, reported from the East, means anything, the Southland is soon to receive another tremendous boost in population.

Heretofore most westbound tourists have purchased round-trip tickets, according to George R. Bierman, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific Railway, but this year an unprecedented sale of single fares has been noted. This is taken to mean the visitors plan to establish their homes permanently in the Southland, since the round-trip fare is little more than the cost of a one-way passage. Ordinarily the custom is to purchase the two-way ticket and cash in the return coupon toward the end of the summer-rate period.

TRAVEL HEAVY

Unusually heavy travel from the East is reported by all the transcontinental lines having terminals in Los Angeles. Indications are that the number of summer visitors will at least equal, if not exceed, that of last year, when thousands were attracted to this city by national and international conventions.

Six sections of the Santa Fe's California Limited were required to accommodate the first eastern rush, composed chiefly of folk who are accustomed to spending the winter season here. The first section pulled out at 6 p.m. yesterday and the others followed at intervals of about ten minutes. The Hopi, which departed at midnight, was divided into two sections, both filled to capacity. These extra sections, railway officials said, are equivalent to seven special trains.

OTHER EXTRA SECTIONS

Union Pacific officials announced that the Los Angeles Limited, leaving at 6:05 p.m. today, will include four sections and other regular trains will carry from two to four special auxiliaries.

The Southern Pacific today expects to run six trains, totaling eighty-five cars, starting last midnight, according to C. L. McFaul, general passenger traffic manager.

Change of Zone Sought for New Hotel Project

Application for a change in zone to permit the erection of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, a $5,000,000 structure, in the Hollywoodland hills north of Hollywood Boulevard at the head of Argyle avenue and Gower street, was made before the City Planning Commission yesterday by the California Western Holding Company, Ltd.

The commission next Wednesday will set a date for hearing.

The construction of this hotel is the largest development of its type for Los Angeles in several years. It will be a part of the Ritz chain of hostelries.

LAUNDRY PROGRESS REVIEWED

President of Association Reports to Convention on Business of Past Year

Progress in the California laundry industry was reported yesterday by George A. Miller, president of the California Laundry Owners' Association, at the opening session of the organization's eighteenth annual convention in the Biltmore.

"This last year has been a trying one," Miller said, "but I am glad to say that our industry has forged ahead in most places. Our industry from a small beginning has become a great public utility and is necessary to the comfort and health of our citizens."

About 300 delegates were present for yesterday's sessions. An attendance of about 500 is expected at the annual banquet, ball and minstrel show with which the convention will close tomorrow night.

Mayors Porter of Los Angeles and Rolph of San Francisco gave addresses of welcome. Frank J. Huebsch, first vice-president, responded. Following Miller's address Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier College, spoke on "Why We Are What We Are."

An informal dinner dance was held in the Biltmore Music Room in the evening.

Former Head of P.T.A. Will Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose E. Blair, former president of the Parent-Teacher Association, will be conducted at 1 p.m. today in the W. A. Brown mortuary, 1815 South Flower street. Interment will be at Inglewood Cemetery. Mrs. Blair died on Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Welcome, 1227 Hill Drive, North Hollywood. She was 66 years of age.

She was born at Christian Hollow, Ill., and in 1884 married Frank W. Blair, an attorney. Coming to Los Angeles in 1902, she was one of the founders of the Parent-Teacher Association, and served a term as president. She was a member of the First Baptist Church. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. E. B. Welcome; a son, Jesse P. Blair, and two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Twitchell of Belleville, Ill., and Mrs. John Sawyer of Lead, S. D. Mr. Blair died ten years ago.

HOW TO AID WORLD TRADE EXPOUNDED BY LEADERS

Convention at Registration Peak; Hays Stresses Value of Films; Hawaii's Drive Intensified

Tell foreign countries what America has to sell, what she can buy, let them know that their friendship as well as their trade is sought and that goods to and from them will be properly conveyed—and foreign trade is powerfully stimulated.

Business leaders representing a wide cross-section of American enterprises expounded these theories on the second day of the National Foreign Trade Council's three-day convention at the Biltmore yesterday. Registrations for the convention probably reached their peak yesterday, totaling more than 2150.

Factors that contribute to the many-sided science of foreign trade were discussed at the second general session during the morning at which Ralph J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, presided.

Will H. Hays, president of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., won an enthusiastic response with his description of the enormous importance of film productions in the industrial world and their incalculable influence in promoting better understanding and peace among all nations.

H. H. Rice, assistant to the president, General Motors Corporation, Detroit, explained the friendship promoting and economic value of inter-American highway construction. The far-reaching importance of ways and means to improve reciprocal trade between America and Europe and the care with which tariff making should be undertaken formed the basis of an address by A. Pedrini, vice-president, Bank of Italy, San Francisco.

H. G. Smith, president of the National Council of American Shipbuilders, stressed the value of constructing ships in American shipyards and gave details of the shipbuilding program prepared in this country largely as the result of governmental mail-pay aid. Approximately $375,000,000 will be expended in materializing this program.

That industrial and business associations serve to further business welfare at home and strengthen foreign trade was called to attention by Edward N. Hurley at a luncheon-meeting of the American Manufacturers' Export Association of which he is president. Frank R. Eldridge, executive vice-president of the association, spoke along similar lines. Chairman James A. Farrell of the National Foreign Trade Council presided at this meeting.

Afternoon group sessions were devoted respectively to the subjects of trading in foreign markets and export advertising. Thomas W. Simmons, president of Steel, Inc., and Simmons Aircraft Division, Los Angeles, outlined the anticipation of the foreign buyer demand. He is the only local delegate to present a prepared address to convention members. Official trade advisers gave counsel to foreign traders at a trade promotion dinner last night.

HAWAIIAN MAGNET

Opportunity at today's afternoon general session for the presentation of invitations from cities for the national foreign trade convention next year or in subsequent years has intensified the campaign of the energetic Hawaiian delegation which desires to have the convention in Honolulu in 1932. Gov. Judd of Hawaii in this connection directs attention to the fact that trade via the Pacific is of paramount importance to this entire country. The Islands, he says, constitute an essential American outpost and occupy a leading strategic trade position. Former Gov. Farrington of Hawaii joined with Gov. Judd in pointing out that if the convention is held in Honolulu it will bring there the trade leaders of all the nations within the Pacific area.

"We want at least a year in which to prepare for this convention," said Mr. Farrington in explaining the Hawaiian delegation's convention-invitation activity at this time, "because through it we would bring into effectual contact leading business men from Japan, China, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, and in fact business delegations from throughout the Near West."

Gov. Judd emphasized the Hawaiian resentment against reference to the Hawaiian Islands as American insular possessions, declaring that Hawaii is an important integral part of the United States just as much as is any State in the Union.

"Since our annexation to the United States in 1898," he said, "we

Foreign Trade Assembly Told Value of Films

Vast Aid to Sales Abroad Set Forth in Detail

Influence for Betterment and Peace Described

Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., traveled across the continent to bring to the national foreign trade convention here yesterday a vivid explanation of the enormous industrial importance of the motion-picture industry, its amazing progress in the new field of sound production, its influence on the well being of people throughout the world and its place as a factor in promoting foreign trade. Essentially, he declared, it is an incalculably important force to further the better understanding among all nations and aid in the establishment of lasting world-wide peace.

"Foreign trade always has been the index and agency of world prosperity," said Mr. Hays in addressing the convention yesterday morning.

"As a most potent factor in the promotion of world trade we consider the motion picture.

"There are more than 22,000 motion-picture theaters in America, more than 50,000 in the world. Every motion-picture theater is a steamship ticket office; every one is a show window; every one is a desk where salesmen offer animated catalogues displaying the world's goods to the world market.

ESPERANTO OF UTILITY

"To these 22,000 theaters in the United States 115,000,000 people go weekly; 250,000,000 weekly attend motion-picture theaters throughout the world. They go in that state of mind that a master psychologist would have them go if he wanted to make an impression on them. They are entertained—an essential contribution—but they also see and hear the most effective salesman of consumptive habits in the world. The motion picture is the Esperanto of utility.

"We are laying the keels in Hollywood today for the largest transoceanic fleet that ever sped down the ways. More than two-thirds of the films in the world are made in the United States; our pictures occupy more than that proportion of the total world's screen time. While this is true, more than one-third of the newsreel pictures shown in American theaters last year were of scenes and events in foreign lands. Americans traveling in Europe spent $950,000,000 last year in the markets of those countries—a total increasing at the rate of nearly 10 per cent a year. Our motion pictures carry American ideas abroad, but quite as much they bring ideas of foreign interest to America. As a matter of fact, they bring Berlin to Boston, Paris to Pittsburgh, and London to Los Angeles, while they are displaying the products to every nation of Europe to all of South America and all of the Orient.

"And now the silent salesman, the

THE anguish with which I am all torn up over Planet X would be still more agonising if I knew the difference between a planet and something else up there in the sky.

The best way I can find out about this terrible matter is to refer the matter to Einstein, who will probably discover that old X isn't anything but a mathematical curve, anyhow; so we have been worrying all for nothing.

COLLEGE JOURNALISM

Journalistic life can't be very monotonous in Stanford University when ye editor has to go about accompanied by a bodyguard.

Incidentally, it would appear that, if the news dispatches are correct, the bloodthirsty mob in pursuit of the student editor was led by a navy officer—one Lieut. Martin, who is studying something or other at the university—possibly movie heroics. Mob leaders who escape in waiting automobiles would not seem—just on the face of things—to be in line with navy traditions. The illustrious Martin would appear to be in need of discipline rather than post-graduate courses at universities.

THE BOOB GIANT

Carnera, the Italian giant, has been blacklisted by another boxing commission. Which, as the Mexicans say, is beating the brush after the rabbit has fled.

This big boob, who is 6 feet 8 inches tall, couldn't lick a sick kitten. For some months he has been touring the United States raking in the shekels of the unwary. In San Francisco they had to import a special second from the wicked city of Los Angeles in order that he should throw in the towel before the other second-rater in the ring should make a mistake and pulverize the giant.

At that, I can't weep over the case. The people who go to see Carnera know him, beforehand, as a freak. The only valid objection I can find to his tour is that they didn't charge the boxing promoter the ordinary circus license.

BATHTUBS

The deadly bathtub has claimed 6585 victims during the past year.

Either they ought to stop making the darn things so slippery, or they ought to make them with a door out of which you could pass without having to climb over.

TEXAS MOBS

Texas, having been comparatively in a state of virtue for some time, has started in the merry business of burning Negroes again.

The horror of these mob scenes lies more in the effect upon the burners than the burned. No one can descend to the lowest savagery and, in one generation, come up again.

Once started, these debauches of brutality are progressive. You will see these outrages continue until Texas will pull up some day to find herself the object of horrified amusement to the whole world. She will have a hard time wiping off the stain. Among other considerations it does not seem to have occurred to Texas that she is delivering some very hard slams at her own courts—the foundation of every civilization.

JULIAN RULING DUE TODAY

Decision Expected to Have Far-Reaching Effect on Sixteen in Oil Stock Conspiracy Case

A ruling that will probably have a far-reaching effect on the trial of sixteen business men charged with conspiracy to commit usury is expected to be made today by Superior Judge Aggeler.

The ruling became imminent late yesterday when the prosecution offered in evidence twenty-six pages of what they say are photographic copies of original Julian stock pool agreements.

The pool agreements form the basis of the State's case, but as yet have not been received in evidence because the prosecution could not produce the original stock agreements and have for eight days, since the trial began, been trying to prove that the photographs are true copies of the originals.

If Judge Aggeler receives in evidence the documents offered yesterday the door will be opened by which the prosecution may be able to get in evidence their complete exhibit of 383 pages of photographic reproductions, which cover the pool agreement and subsequent asserted extensions of the same.

When Dep. Dist.-Atty. Crail offered the first documents in evidence yesterday, he declared that State's witnesses had shown that a pool agreement existed, had testified that it was substantially the same as was reproduced in the photographic copies and had identified various signatures that were on both the original and photographic copies.

The offer to place the documents in evidence met with immediate resistance by the defense attorneys, who asserted that there had been no conclusive showing that the photographs were reproductions of the originals. The arguments were still in progress when court adjourned.

Witnesses at the trial yesterday included Attorney John Cooper, B. L. Strickland, once an employee of the Julian Petroleum Corporation; R. E. Moody, former defendant in the usury cases, but against whom charges were dismissed at the request of the District Attorney, and M. M. Kauffman, employed by W. I. Hollingsworth, a defendant.

Cooper was placed on the stand for cross-examination yesterday

COUNCIL GETTING GOOD MILEAGE ON AUTO ISSUE

New life was breathed into the old rumpus over transportation for the City Council yesterday when the supply committee brought in a report on the use of automobiles. After considerable debate and one ineffective roll call, the matter was referred to the finance committee.

The committee recommends that a new Cadillac be purchased at an estimated cost of $4095, that all cars except that assigned to Council President Sanborn be pooled and that members using their own cars on city business be allowed mileage on the same basis as city employees.

A tragic picture is drawn by the committee concerning the state of the fleet of six cars now controlled by the Council. One car is termed "unfit for use" and it is recommended that this car be turned in on the new Cadillac for $800, thus reducing the cost of the new car to $3595.

Two other machines, the committee reports, are "out of service." Only one is fit for long inspection trips, the others able only to traverse the various Councilmanic districts. Under the pool system the Councilmen desirous of obtaining the use of a city car can withdraw one from the fleet in the City Hall garage.

The new car can be purchased from money available in the auto repair and entertainment funds, the committee reports.

Several weeks ago it was proposed that a new Lincoln at a cost of $3200 be purchased for Mayor Porter. This project was dropped temporarily. The rumpus over the transportation of Councilmen has entertained spectators at sporadic intervals for the past six months.

BALANCED TRADE STRESSED

Convention Warned Against Tariff Changes That Would Bar Imports from Customer Nations

Injecting a new note into deliberations of the seventeenth annual National Foreign Trade Council yesterday, a warning that possible tariff changes constitute the most serious problem in international commerce was sounded by Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Company of New York and international trade expert of thirty years' standing.

This subject was advanced in a personal letter individually delivered to each of the 2000 in attendance by R. A. P. Walker, vice-president of the Bush Service Corporation, at the Biltmore.

In a program largely devoted to export expansion discussion, this was the first report from an outstanding leader stressing the vital importance of imports.

"I have no quarrel with the American manufacturers' past international trade policy," Bush said. "The manufacturers are not only my friends, but in substantial measure my 'bread and butter.' But I think the time has come when we must give earnest consideration to the economic impossibility of permanently maintaining an export trade that is not balanced by an import trade from producing countries to which we look for markets. Otherwise their buying power is decreased and their value as a sales market for us correspondingly diminished."

Future peril is seen in recent and proposed tariff changes which have caused numerous protests from foreign nations and, in a few instances, have already resulted in raising of retaliatory tariff walls.

"At this time certain phases of the question are in the hands of Congress," he says, "and we should all address ourselves during the coming year to a careful review of our present position and make the most intelligent forecast possible of the already visible trend of world action that may cause substantial shrinkage of our export fields. Surely there is no one among us who believes that our international trade should run on a one-way street with us at the export end. Yet, unless we do something tangible to correct the impression, the world may come to believe that such is our hope—and treat us accordingly."

have paid into the Federal Treasury more than $110,000,000 in internal revenue receipts alone. During the last fiscal year, we paid more in this respect than fourteen of the States."

As an instance of Hawaii's trade importance, Gov. Judd cited the following statistical record in 1928:

"The value of our pineapples exported was $40,871,581, our total imports for the year amounted to $88,184,683. We therefore show a very healthy balance of trade in our favor." The islands also produce millions of dollars worth of sugar and other products aggregating a high figure.

Mr. Farrington directs attention to the admirable means of communication between the mainland and the islands and the extensive and delightful accommodations for visitors there.

INTER-AMERICA HIGHWAY

Discussing the proposed inter-American highway, Mr. Rice pointed out its far-reaching importance in linking not only the American countries, but likewise the friendship of the peoples of these nations. He referred to the pathfinding expedition into Mexico recently sent out under auspices of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Speaking of the inter-America road, he said:

"This highway will not be built as a single unit any more than our Lincoln Highway was so built, but it will be projected as a single idea, will appear on maps as a continuous highway and then the countries involved will be stirred as they are already stirred to build each its own piece, connecting into the great inter-American highway.

"It would be foolish to visualize merchandise starting from one end of the road and going to the other," he said. "Even railroads could not compete with steamships for that service, and truck shipments cannot compete with rail in our own cross-continental traffic, but the road will be used for truckings from point to point along the highway. There will be touring—a great deal of it—and the scenery will be glorious. Thousands will go back and forth. Then, as always, will follow more steamers, more rails, more goods, more people, more understanding and more friendship."

AMERICAN SHIPS URGED

Urging the building of more American ships in American shipyards, Mr. Smith detailed the wide distribution of shipbuilding costs among varied American industries.

"There is also a national reason why our merchant vessels should be built in domestic shipyards. They should be built in such yards so that we may have shipyards in continuous and efficient operation at all times. The very nature of a shipyard and its organization is of such a character that it requires a large sum of money to establish it and years to organize and to train an efficient technical staff of engineers, architects and draftsmen and mechanics. The evolution and changes always in progress in the art of shipbuilding require never-ending study and attention by those engaged in it in order to enable them to keep abreast with its development, and to produce modern high-grade vessels comparable with those built by foreign nations."

EUROPEAN TRADE

"Reciprocity to all countries is good," said Mr. Pedrini in analyzing trade with Europe, "but it is most urgent in regard to Europe. More trade with Europe would mean higher prices for what we sell, and lower prices for what we buy. In other words, the result would be increased consumption and higher prosperity both here and in Europe and in all other countries."

Regarding reciprocal relationships, he said:

"If we want to maintain and further develop markets for our goods in Europe, we must, by means of a more liberal policy, help European countries to sell their goods more freely."

At the group session devoted to trading in foreign markets, at which E. M. Herr, vice-chairman of the Westinghouse Electric Company, New York, presided, Andrew Castle, sales promotion manager of the Jantsen Knitting Mills, Portland, Or., read a paper prepared by Miss Velma Scholl, assistant export manager of this company, who was unavoidably absent, on "Building a Consumer Market." C. A. Richards, president, Richards, Inc., New York, discussed "The Usefulness of the Export Merchant," and Thomas W. Simmons, Los Angeles, analyzed "Anticipating Foreign Buyer Demand."

Ideas were presented calculated to further overseas demand for American-produced commodities and establish firm and lasting trade friendships.

Export advertising occupied the attention of another considerable group. John Abbink, vice-president and general manager, Business Publishers International Corporation, New York, spoke on "Advertising to the Trade," and Eric T. King, chief, specialties division, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, told of "Some Facts About Export Advertising."

"What the Export Manager Expects and Wants from His Advertising," was the subject of a paper by C. M. Peter, export manager, the Black and Decker Manufacturing Company, Baltimore.

Raymond B. Wilcox, president, the Wilcox-Hayes Company, Portland, Or., was chairman of this group session.

OPEN DISCUSSION

Federal commercial attaches in foreign lands and various other trade experts described business conditions with which they are familiar, at the trade promotion dinner at the Biltmore last night. Their observations formed the basis for an open forum discussion.

William L. Cooper, director, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington; John G. Erhardt, a foreign service officer, now chief of the commercial office of the Department of State; P. M. Haight, secretary-treasurer, International General Electric Company, New York, and Payette W. Allport, commercial attache, Paris, were among the speakers.

James H. Smiley, manager of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in Los Angeles, presented C. C. Hine, general manager of the Globe Grain and Milling Company, Los Angeles, as chairman.

BIDS FOR NEXT MEET

Spokesmen for twelve cities will appear before the convention today to extend invitations for the convention next year. It was authoritatively announced last night that no selection will be made until next fall when the National Foreign Trade Council will make known its choice. That the selection lies between Pittsburgh and New York still is persistently rumored though some dark horse candidate may come noticeably to the front after today's presentation of invitations.

The general council committee busied itself last night with preparation of the report to be presented to the convention today embodying the convention sentiment based on addresses and conferences during the sessions this week.

Argentine Delegate Brings Children

Richard Momsen, Jr., and Sister Alicia

SOUTH AMERICA'S two youngest mountaineers, who enjoy the distinction of having crossed the Andes on horseback, were among the arrivals, yesterday from Panama aboard the Panama Mail liner Ecuador. They are Richard Momsen, Jr., 5 years of age, and his sister, Alicia, 3, children of Richard P. Momsen, Sr., international lawyer of Buenos Aires, who is here to address the national foreign trade convention.

The two youngsters, just before their return here, riding their own horses alone, crossed the Andes from Laguna Fries, Argentina, to Casapangue, Chile, climbing more than 4500 feet through Perez Rosales Pass in fifteen miles. Mr. Momsen, with Mrs. Momsen and the children, will make an extensive tour of the United States before returning to the Argentine.

deaf and dumb messenger which, by reason of great art and ingenuity, had developed a language of signs and gestures to carry the message of commerce, has found a voice, and as a result of this change it has become infinitely more powerful and influential.

"The primary purpose of the theatrical motion picture is to entertain. When a producer has accomplished this purpose wholesomely, he has performed his major responsibility. I would not want any producer, either here or in any other country, to make entertainment pictures with the remotest idea of any commercial promotion or propaganda.

"Nevertheless, motion pictures do exert a profound influence on the buying habits of mankind. Hardly a day passes that we do not receive confirmation of new trends in purchasing which have arisen as a result of the subtle power of suggestion emanating from the screen. This influence, it is needless to say, is not planned and cannot be bought. No advertising per se, can find a place in our entertainment films. No propaganda will be permitted wilfully to be insinuated into pictures. Entertainment films are as unpurchaseable as the front pages of the world's greatest newspapers."

SCOPE OF INDUSTRY

Discussing the enormous scope of the motion-picture industry, Mr. Hays said:

"We have 325,000 employees, a total capital investment of more than $2,500,000,000, we annually consume 1,500,000,000 feet of positive film and our shipping exchanges in this country handle 28,000 miles of film every day. Every day we write 15,000 pieces of motion-picture advertising with an annual advertising bill of nearly $100,000,000. We call on 276 distinct other businesses for material to carry on our business—some unexpected, such as using more silver than any customer in the country except the government mints for coining. We changed the entire technique of the business during the last two years, with an added investment of $300,000,000 without missing a step. We have a direct interest in your exportation problems to a degree measured by the great percentage of the world's business in films which we have."

Motion-picture attendance is increasing, he said. "The pictures have continually improved; the audiences have increased 15,000,000 persons a week in the last year; the industry has realized fully its responsibilities measured by its opportunities; the efficacy of the program of co-operation has been demonstrated; and the talking motion picture moves into a future of immeasurable usefulness."

PICTURES AND TRADE

Turning his attention to the trade-promoting possibilities of films, Mr. Hays stated:

"Two axioms of interest to those considering the fundamental elements of foreign trade are recognised in the motion-picture industry. The first is that art knows no boundaries; the second is that trade follows the film."

Mr. Hays emphasized the fact that films again have been demonstrated that art is unhampered by national or geographical bounds. "In the motion-picture art the producer must key his work to a world audience."

"American films sometimes have been criticised in foreign countries on the ground that they are the missionaries of American culture and thought," said Mr. Hays. "The truth, of course, is if they had been but that they would not have attained their world pre-eminence. They are highly regarded because of the fact that they have been developed without any taint of propaganda or selfish, nationalistic, commercial aims. A recent American film laid in France is being acclaimed in a score of countries across the world, presenting an alluring picture of that country to countless millions in America and abroad, from the northern tip of Siberia to the southermost village of South America."

SUGGESTION VALUE

Pointing out the suggestion value of film productions, he said:

"Films exert the same influence on buying that a well-dressed woman exerts when she walks down the Champs Elysees, Regent street, Unter den Linden, Fifth avenue, or Hollywood Boulevard. No one would call her an advertisement, even though a thousand women look deliberately at her gown and hat and make mental notes to guide themselves in their own purchasing. The influence is the influence of suggestion only."

As regards the significance of film productions in furtherance of world trade, Mr. Hays asserted:

"It is not surprising that every great exporter in the world has become aware of the film's influence on world markets and watches it keenly from the standpoint of his own interest . . . The film's influence on trade in this country, selling America to itself, is manifest to everyone and it is one of the most important factors in our new American idea of purposeful and planned prosperity."

AIDS TO HAPPINESS

Motion pictures encourage to happier existence, he maintained. "Our films are sometimes criticised in foreign lands on the ground that they reflect an American materialism, that they create dissatisfaction among less prosperous people, that they celebrate the acquisitive and competitive instinct. Some people shake their heads dubiously at any presentation of physical well-being and the sort of happiness that lies in prosperity."

Such arguments he answered by saying:

"Motion pictures make their contribution in placing before the people everywhere, in convincing fashion, the comforts and conveniences which are available to those who will work and grow. The world's standards of living are steadily on the upward trend. This is the triumph of our civilization."

Mr. Hays devoted considerable attention to emphasizing and illustrating the enormous influence of motion pictures in more firmly cementing international friendships because of bringing people closer to each other through the visualization of each other's ways and conditions and even more so now via the medium of the talking motion picture. Its economic value in providing essential recreation is incalculable, he declared.

"In any event, in whatever phase of its usefulness you may regard the motion picture," he said in conclusion, "whether as bringing happiness to 250,000,000 of our fellow-beings weekly throughout the world, or whether as the salesman of the world's goods—we find it a steadily strengthening contributor to the entire commercial and social well-being of the whole world."

Foreign Trade Convention Draws Visitors from Far Places; Consul at China Says His Office Has to Play Some Odd Roles in Cementing Ties of Two Nations

From sophisticated Paris, from the South Seas and from China—they are all here this week in attendance at the foreign trade convention now in session at the Biltmore.

JAY CALVIN HUSTON.

Jay Calvin Huston, United States Consul at Shanghai, China, with fifteen years of service in the Orient, is here and glad to meet his old Stanford friends. He was stroke on the varsity at one time and still keeps fit by sliding a scull over the ancient rivers of China. As Consul at Shanghai he is in charge of all American legations in the republic.

"Our duties bring us very many amusing contacts. A missionary, very much in awe of the legation, performed a wedding ceremony in my presence, as is required, and in pronouncing the couple man and wife gave me a splendid reference.

"'In the presence of United States Consul Huston and Almighty God, I pronounce you man and wife,' he said.

"We have American girls dropping in casually and asking for a job. We receive countless letters from American boys asking for Chinese stamps. We are asked to settle domestic scraps between our good American friends whose married life has been peppered by battles. At one time the office was called as to the best place for the birth of a prospective heir of an American who lived outside the foreign city and who thought his child might lose citizenship unless born where the flag was waving.

"Countless youths now write us and ask us to give letters to Chinese children. Many fine friendships have been formed by the forwarding of 'To my unknown friend' letters. Invariably these children want to know first of all what they have to eat.

"On the eve of the last Stanford-California game sixty-eight old grads of the two schools gathered at the Hotel Majestic and held a fine meeting. We gave the kid yells and sang the old songs, but we didn't hear the result until the next day.

"The Chinese have wonderful minds. They are keen and alert and have a fine sense of humor. Many mobs have been broken up by the intended victim making a wise crack and getting his would-be murderers to laughing. They admire the Americans very much and we have an amazing advantage in the way of friendship. As the standard of living improves, which it is gradually, there will be greater and greater markets for American goods."

Alex Hume Ford, director of the Pan-Pacific Union, is interested in keeping alive the "Patriotism of the Pacific."

"All politics are barred at our meetings," he said.

C. N. Castle of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu thinks the convention is a wow.

"Finest trade conference I ever attended," he said, enthusiastically.

Worth O. Aiken of the Hawaiian Airways, a resident of the islands for more than forty years, is trying to link the far-flung line of peaks that rise above the sea into one real country. He finds that the way to do it is to take to the air.

"Journeys that used to take weeks now take a few hours," he said.

F. W. Allpart of the American Embassy, Paris, made a special trip to Los Angeles from the French capital to be present at the trade gathering. He is with the Department of Commerce.

"Los Angeles certainly has changed a lot in just the three years since I have been here. I always liked Los Angeles," he said.

He denied he had read the document at the time, but identified facsimiles of his and Frank's signatures on the photographic copies. Kauffman identified a facsimile of Hollingsworth's signature, but denied that his employer had sent him to the office of Motley Flint with authorization to represent him (Hollingsworth) in the pool negotiations.

FOREIGN TRADE MAN'S GAME

Few Women Have as Yet Acquired Its Technique; Convention Ladies Go Sightseeing

In the long list of delegates attending the National Foreign Trade Council Convention, the names of women representatives are comparatively scarce, leading one to the conclusion that here is one field, at least, in which men can make no complaints of a serious invasion by the feminine sex.

Which is precisely the case, according to Mrs. D. M. Rothchild, known as the dean of women in the export business, who says there are comparatively few women who have acquired the experience and training necessary for such work in the short time since they have crashed the gates into the commercial arena.

Mrs. Rothchild is the export manager of the Stanard-Tilton Milling Company of St. Louis, Mo., and has devoted about forty years of her life to developing and enlarging the export business of her concern, until at the present time it ships flour to fifty-nine countries throughout the world.

She started with the company as a stenographer, at that time the first and only woman stenographer in its employ. Before she had been there very long she realized that there must be some way to utilize the surplus product and it was her idea that started the concern on its export business. Right from the start she was made the export manager and has built up the export business of the company entirely through contacts and friendships made in person or by correspondence, she said.

"It is a business," she said, "that, in addition to experience and training, also requires a quality of vision that amounts almost to a special sense. One must understand economic values, trade movements and keep a finger on the pulse of the world markets from hour to hour. It is a fascinating business and I know of no reason why it should not be a profitable field for women, with the proper training, perceptions and sense of values, to enter. I wouldn't advise anyone to try it right now, however. The financial markets of the world are too uncertain.

Other women delegates were lured away from the intricacies of foreign trade yesterday and became sight-seers along with the wives of delegates when they visited the San Gabriel Valley and Pasadena. With Mrs. John D. Fredericks, chairman of the women's entertainment committee, and her group of assistants, acting as guides, the guests drove through the residential section of Pasadena, visited the San Gabriel Mission and arrived at the Huntington Hotel at noon, where they were luncheon guests. In the afternoon they visited the Huntington Art Gallery.

The outstanding event for them today will be a tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alphonso E. Bell in Capo di Monti Drive, Bel-Air. Mrs. Bell will be assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Fredericks. The tea will be preceded by a drive through the Beverly district, Santa Monica Bay and the Palisades.

Tomorrow the ladies will be guests with the delegates on an all-day cruise aboard the Lasseo liner City of Los Angeles, which will cover a 100-mile run along the Coast in view of the Santa Barbara Islands, Catalina and the Mexican coast. In the evening there will be a reception and dance aboard the steamer.

Measure Asks Japanese Quota

Portland (Or.) delegates to the national foreign trade convention here presented a resolution yesterday for its consideration as an expression from the Portland Chamber of Commerce in behalf of a modification of the Immigration Act so as to admit Japanese under the quota provisions.

It is expected that this resolution will receive consideration at the hands of the convention today.

TWO MORE FILE FOR SUPERIOR JUDGESHIP

Two additional candidates for Superior Court yesterday filed their nominating petitions with County Registrar of Voters Kerr. Both will oppose Judge Shaw. They are Stanley Visel, attorney, of 1128 Cordova street, Glendale, and Edward B. Evans, attorney, of 1717 Lincoln Place, Monrovia.

Infected Teeth Are Hidden Cause of Many Serious Ills

By DR. PAINLESS PARKER
Founder of the E. R. PARKER SYSTEM

Very many people have infected teeth without knowing it. The tooth roots are often diseased and still there may be no pain or any outward sign of trouble.

Physicians say that many cases of inflammatory rheumatism, chronic stomach troubles, Bright's disease, nervous diseases, epilepsy and even insanity are caused by infected teeth. Some go so far as to declare they are the greatest single source of danger to public health known to medical men today.

If your health is not as good as it should be, the cause may be infection at the tooth roots, where poisonous pus forms and is taken up by the blood and carried through the system. This pus is able to be taken into the blood through the tissues around the roots of teeth.

Blaze Causes Heavy Loss in Hotel

Smoke Rises in Huge Clouds Above Roof

GUESTS OF HOSTELRY FLEE FIRE

One Man Overcome in Battle to Check Flames; No Others Hurt

Fire believed to have originated in the kitchen, yesterday afternoon caused a hasty exodus of guests of the fashionable Chapman Park Hotel, 615 South Alexandria avenue. Little damage resulted from the flames, since the building is of fireproof construction, but the loss caused by smoke and water probably will be considerable, according to Manager G. A. Chapman. He was unwilling to venture an estimate yesterday.

The telephone company reported 280 instruments were put out of commission but service was restored by an emergency crew.

Capt. William Haguewood of Engine Company No. 13 was overcome by smoke but was quickly revived after removal to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The flames were discovered shortly after 2 o'clock by a housekeeper and within a few minutes the entire structure was filled with smoke. Mr. Chapman and a crew of bellboys, aided by the hotel operator, quickly routed a score or more of guests, several of whom were taking their afternoon naps.

An airshaft made it possible for the flames to leap from the kitchen to the second floor and thence to the fifth but they were checked before gaining much headway.

PLAINVIEW PICNIC

A picnic reunion of former residents of Plainview, Ill., will be held Sunday in the gunken gardens of Sycamore Grove Park.

the lock with two bullets, he dragged Mrs. Caplan from the closet and sought to attack her. She told police she was able to resist him.

It was but a few minutes later that the bandit appeared at the Gilman home. He met Gilman as the latter was placing his car in the garage, robbed him of $28 in cash, and then forced him to let him in the house.

The bandit then locked Mr. Gilman in a clothes closet, robbed Mrs. Gilman of a $150 diamond ring and attacked her.

Police Slaying Case Delayed

The preliminary hearing for John G. Reyna, accused of shooting to death Policeman Verne Brindley, was delayed yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard until next Tuesday at the request of the defense.

Reyna, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman, shot Brindley on the 10th inst. while being taken to jail. He seized Brindley's pistol and fired, also shooting Officer Williams, who was only slightly injured, before he was disarmed, the police reported.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE ON GUN PLAY STORY

When Harold Trenary pointed a gun at his wife, Mrs. Elva Trenary, threatening to shoot her, she started proceedings for a divorce, she testified yesterday before Superior Judge Bishop. The wife declared her husband changed his mind with the remark: "You are not worth shooting." She also said Trenary was given to telling objectionable stories before her and mutual friends. At the close of the hearing she was granted a divorce.

MURDER STORY TOLD AT TRIAL

Suspect's Statement Recited in Leslie Death Case

Officer Witness Airs Deal That Brought Tragedy

Fifty Dollars Declared Price for Beating Two Men

A statement by Joseph Herring that he expected to get $50 from Morris Fulton for beating up R. W. Leslie and James J. Murphy went into the court record before Superior Judge McComb yesterday, where Fulton and Herring are on trial for the murder of Leslie and wounding of Murphy.

The account of the $50 deal, which brought about the fatal shooting, was given from the witness stand by Police Officer Ryan when he was called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney. Ryan testified that Herring made a statement to him shortly after his arrest in which he said that "he expected to get $50 for beating up Leslie and Murphy."

According to the officer, Herring said the shooting took place when he ordered the two men to raise their hands to be searched and they refused.

"'I had to shoot,' Herring said, 'when they kept their hands down,'" according to the testimony of the officer.

The murder and shooting is said to have been the outcome of a liquor-selling quarrel, in which Leslie and Murphy were said to be interfering with the business of Fulton.

Death Climbs Highest Hill to Art Studio

Death went to one of the "highest hills" in Los Angeles yesterday and closed the career of an internationally known painter, a writer of books and a claimant to an ancient English title.

She was Mrs. Elizabeth Prosser, 81 years of age and for the last eight years an occupant of a studio on the top of Loma Hill, just in the rear of Elysian Park. Her address to the mail man was 963 Yolo Drive. The studio in which she lived would be considered a shack by the Mexicans who since have built houses in the neighborhood.

She built the studio while she owned homes in Pasadena, New York and Los Angeles. Her husband, William Prosser, owned silver mines in Nevada. Before marrying him she had studied art in England, France, Germany and other parts of Europe. After his death she lost everything but the studio.

Her ancestry dated back to 1254, she declared to friends. Earl Lord of Cowdres, who came to America with Gov. Winthrop to found Massachusetts, being one of her ancestors. Recently she learned through an attorney, Frank Howe, that the title was one of the few that could be transferred by female descent.

Mrs. Prosser's funeral will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

Fire Commission Votes Thanks on Water Bond Aid

A resolution of thanks to officials and members of the fire department, the Fire and Police Protective League and members of the police department for work in helping a favorable vote on the $38,800,000 water bond issue was passed unanimously yesterday by the Fire Commission.

The resolution held that the members of the departments undoubtedly were instrumental in causing many favorable votes on the project. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to Fire Chief Scott and Chief of Police Steckel and will be posted in the fire and police bulletins.

Secretary McKeag of the Fire Commission commenting on the water bond vote, said that he failed to recall any measure which did not pass when the fire and police departments gave it their full support and effort.

Balm Suit Jury Votes Husband $1000 Verdict

Damages amounting to $1000 were given Lem L. McIntyre, oil man and former baseball player, for the loss of the love of his wife, Mrs. Lillian O. McIntyre, by the jury in the court of Superior Judge Archbald, in the husband's suit against Ray H. Kemp, oil driller, his former friend.

McIntyre accused Kemp of stealing the affections of his wife while he was in the oil fields of the Dutch East Indies.

Kemp asserted Mrs. McIntyre, a Whittier beauty, had already lost her love for her husband when Kemp met her and later he corresponded with her from oil fields in South America.

According to records Mrs. McIntyre had made several attempts to obtain a divorce from her husband.

BLUE SKY CHECK-UP ORDERED

Corporation Department Launches Drive Against Unlicensed Brokers

State Corporation Commissioner Athearn yesterday announced preparations for a campaign in Los Angeles against unlicensed securities brokers and individuals and concerns holding licenses who may be violating the blue-sky law. Howard C. Ellis, assistant commissioner, has been sent here to direct the drive, to be assisted by Deputy Commissioner Bahls and the investigating division. Ellis announced:

"Among concerns to be investigated are so-called partial-payment houses which are operating without authority, bucket shops and concerns handling pet stock issues which they are endeavoring to dispose of at inflated prices under the theory that the securities are personally owned and, therefore, exempt."

Pending the outcome of the department's activities, Ellis warned investors to determine first whether companies offering stock have permits from the State Corporation Department and whether the person offering the securities has a broker's or agent's license.

Pickwick Again Reduces Bus Rates to East

Further reductions in motor-coach fares east and adjustment of schedules effecting a reduction in traveling time over Pickwick Greyhound Lines was announced by President Charles P. Wren on his return from a two weeks' trip to Chicago and Kansas City.

The new tariffs give travelers an option of three routes east from Denver to Chicago, by St. Louis, Omaha or Kansas City and Des Moines, Mr. Wren said, with fares over the longer routes the same as over the most direct route.

BAZAAR TO ZE REPEATED

Mexican music, games and cuisine are announced as features of the bazaar for the benefit of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, to be repeated tomorrow and Sunday from 6 to 11 p.m. on the 4100 block of Floral Drive. The ladies of the church who are conducting the bazaar have issued a special invitation to Americans and tourists, to whom the fete will convey an impression of Mexican holiday spirit.

Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still, while they continue in force, for the sake of example, they should be religiously observed.

Today's Bible Text

Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is everyone that hangeth on a tree: That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.—Gal. iii:13, 14.

"ONLY WOMEN CRY"

Evidently there is a second revolution in progress for the D.A.R. Mr. Hoover's supporters in the organization are going to have peace, even if they have to fight for it.

We wonder why Sculptor Borglum didn't save time by writing the Mt. Rushmore inscription himself, or else do his editing before publication in the approved fashion.

REPEATING HISTORY

ADVERTISING PAYS

Faced by a 3-cent market and financial loss, a North Carolina peanut grower got rid of his crop at 12 cents a pound by advertising in the newspapers. Delivery by parcel post made his offer attractive.

NAVIGATORS?

Mrs. Lindbergh is being emancipated by the paragraphers from a backseat driver to a navigator. Therefore, she's no kin to the suburban woman who said to her husband as they started down a hill, "Now, William, shut off your engine and go down under compulsion!" That would be too risky from 15,000 feet.

LAWS, LAWS, LAWS!

New York hardly can be termed a lawless State. During the session just closed its Legislature made a record of 897 new enactments, thus eclipsing California, which placed 891 new laws on its statute books at its last legislative session. Seven hundred bills were passed at Albany in the closing days of New York's session, most of which were signed by the Governor. Many of the New York enactments relate to commissions and bureaus, some of which bodies laymen are inclined to regard as superfluous along with the laws that govern them.

Other States besides California and New York have been suffering from the excessive zeal of their legislators in adding page after page to their bulging statute books. All over the country lawmakers lie awake nights thinking up new schemes for the regulation of citizens who go about in a haze of uncertainty as to what law they may be violating if they step or drive here or there or dig in their gardens or hang clothes on the line.

There seems to be more sanity in Utah with respect to new legislation than in most other States. When Utah legislators gather at Salt Lake City from Brigham, Nephi, Moab, Juab and other centers they do not come with the idea of swamping the State printing office with bills. They are bent upon performing real service to the people which they can do in few better ways than by refraining from befogging and oppressing them by useless statutes. At their last session the Utah solons gave sanction to only 112 bills, of which twenty-four were for the repeal of outworn statutes, so that in reality only eighty-eight new laws were enacted. This was less than one-tenth the number of California or New York enactments, hundreds of which might better have been ditched or not considered at all. True, Utah's population is relatively small, but in respect to legislation many States of small population have been great transgressors.

FARRELL ON FOREIGN TRADE

The analysis by President James A. Farrell of the United States Steel Corporation of money-market conditions as they affect exports struck a note of optimism at the opening session of the National Foreign Trade Conference here. In the judgment of Mr. Farrell, the easing of interest rates and the present abundant supply of capital are already increasing foreign investments, which will stimulate a demand for American goods by making exchange readily available.

These investments abroad, in Mr. Farrell's judgment, are likely to reach this year the presalump figure of approximately $1,000,000,000. When there is added to this $600,000,000 or more spent by American travelers abroad, and, of course, the value of American imports, a vast basis upon which increased exports may be predicated is set up.

The stock-market crash is evidently viewed by Mr. Farrell as an accompaniment rather than a cause of trade depression. It was the inflation period, he declared, in which high interest rates drew the funds of the world into speculation, and made less money available for exchange purposes, that led to a slackening of demand for American goods, and with the reaction he sees a return to the condition of two years ago. This view is challenged by some economists, who profess to find another explanation than speculation for money tightness, but as Mr. Farrell says:

"There can be no doubt that conditions in the American money market for the last two years adversely affected the supply of foreign exchange, particularly dollar exchange, available in many of the markets which are usually good customers for American goods. . . . The foreign securities publicly offered in the United States in 1929 had the lowest aggregate value such offerings have had since 1923. The decrease in Latin-American issues was 60 per cent. The total of foreign securities last year was slightly above $700,000,000, as against over $1,000,000,000 for each of the several preceding years. . . . It seems likely that we may soon resume a rate of foreign investment approaching that of several years ago with corresponding ease in the market for dollar exchange."

Alertness and activity of American foreign traders were credited by the speaker with the change in nature of exports that has been a feature of the past twenty years.

"The outstanding feature," said the speaker, "has been the steady decrease in the proportion borne by raw materials and foodstuffs in the total of our exports and the corresponding increase in the proportion won by the products of manufacture.

"There is genuine encouragement to be found in consideration of this fact for it is notable that the gain was achieved in precisely that element of our export trade that is directly responsive to merchandising skill."

To California the speaker paid this tribute: "California now ranks fourth among the States as a source of American exports. In 1926 her exports, exclusive of re-exports of foreign merchandise, were valued at $287,808,000; in 1929, this figure had mounted to $372,536,388. In the same period imports solely for American use rose from $259,710,000 to $276,347,512 and gross business from $547,518,000 to $648,883,900.

"Los Angeles has shown the most startling increase in foreign trade, exports having multiplied in value 200 times in fourteen years."

Though conservatively phrased, Mr. Farrell's prediction was for a decided improvement in export conditions and a re-establishment of the world trade equilibrium.

HONOLULU RECEPTIVE

The bid of Honolulu for the 1932 session of the National Foreign Trade Council is one that this section would be glad to see accepted. A convention of this character in the Hawaiian Islands would naturally attract many delegates from the Near West and would serve to bring home the importance of Pacific trade in general to the exporters and importers of this nation.

The American delegates would enjoy a beautiful trip to a beautiful city, where hospitality is proverbial and which is located at a strategic point for trade purposes. It was important as a trade center even before John Jacob Astor added to his fortune with the sandalwood trade, and anthropologists have found evidence that it was a meeting place of many Pacific races in prehistoric times.

While giving the Pacific area the benefit of another trade convention in two years might seem undue attention to some of the delegates, they should reflect that the future commercial importance of the Pacific will, with little doubt, eclipse that of any other region and that a business which has possibilities of enormous expansion is more interesting than one which is more or less well established, stable and static.

Hawaii is not only important as a trade center, interesting and beautiful, but it is an important producing center, with a variety of products well worthy of any trader's attention.

OLYMPIC PLANS

Announcement of plans for the Olympic Games of 1932 comes well in advance of the games themselves and proves that the Los Angeles committee, headed by William May Garland, has the matter well in hand. More than 80 per cent of the necessary building for the great spectacle is ready now and if necessary the games could be conducted on six months' notice.

The committee has done excellent work also in reducing the expenses of participants, by negotiations with transportation agencies and othewise, to about $400 each, a much lower figure than has been expected.

There is a good distribution of events about Southern California. The Coliseum, enlarged to seat 105,000 spectators, will be the focal point of all the activities and the site of the field and track contests. Both the Coliseum and the Rose Bowl will be used for soccer football. Rowing races will be on a course near Long Beach and yacht races off the Los Angeles breakwater. Other buildings in Olympic Park—which is to be the official name of Exposition Park during the games—will be used for fencing and other competitions. Ross Field at Arcadia is selected as the site for equestrian events and the pentathlon.

Polo and tennis, for which splendid equipment is available, are suggested as additional events on the program, and the former, at least, is expected to be added by the world governing body.

No Olympics ever conducted have been under more favorable conditions than those Los Angeles can offer, and the general committee will be hard to please if it is not satisfied with the progress of preparations and with the arrangements that are projected.

WHISPERING LILACS

A prominent Chamber of Commerce executive in a short poetic sentence has packed a bushel of good advice for practical citizens to digest: "Communities must stack their whispering lilacs against the roses of another city." The time is past when travel can be boosted and visitors attracted by well-paved highways alone. In laying out the connecting links between one city and another we cannot disregard the whispering lilacs and the roses.

Lilacs that whisper, roses that sing, tall trees that beckon, shrubs and green grass that murmur along the highway are million-dollar assets to States and counties that have eyes to see and ears to hear. When the motor car revolutionized road travel the first change was from the dirt road to the paved highway. Now wherever automobilists congregate—there are more of them in Southern California to linear mile of paved highway than in any part of the world—the next transformation looked for is from the bare convenience of smooth pavements to the adornment of the roadside with shade trees and flowers from the lilacs of the mountains to the lippia-covered banks of the seashore.

We cannot, of course, so decorate all the thousands of miles traversed by the motor in the length and breadth of the Golden State, but each city and town can do something to extend the lilacs of one to meet the roses of the other; and the State and counties can do something in planting shade trees more abundantly along our present scenic highways.

But there is one way in which every city and county and urban rural community can contribute to the beautifying of travel—the Automobile Club of Southern California has stressed it strongly—there are places that do not need beautifying so badly as de-uglifying. Cities and towns and county authorities can remove dead trees, abandoned shacks, unsightly signs and billboards from scenic roads; they can bar gas stations that are unkempt and hot-dog stands that are unclean; they can insist that these adjuncts to motor travel be in harmony with their surroundings. Thus they can prepare the way for the whispering lilacs and the singing roses.

"Wets Organize Joint Council," solemnly says a headline. That's where the wets are given to organizing, in some joint.

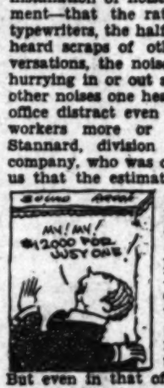
The LEE SIDE o' LA'
By Lee Shippey

CAN you imagine 200 lively young women in one room and that room so quiet that for hour after hour you could hear a p. d.? Not a rolling pin, either, but one of the little ones the laundry puts into your clean shirts to prick your fingers when you're dressing in a hurry.

Yesterday we were in such a room in the Southern California Telephone Company's Building on Olive near Fifth. It was the room on which the company recently spent $2,500,000 for the most modern telephone equipment. Those 200 girls were all using their voices, all speaking into receivers, but you couldn't hear them, because floors, walls and ceiling were all planned to keep things quiet. The ceiling alone cost $12,000 and no sound which rises to it comes back. It is absorbed.

The Wastefulness of Noise

Acoustics experts tell us that the efficiency of the average office force can be increased 20 per cent by the installation of noise-absorbing equipment—that the rattle and bang of typewriters, the half-heard or wholly-heard scraps of other people's conversations, the noise made by people hurrying in or out and the numerous other noises one hears in the average office distract even the most earnest workers more or less. And M. L. Stannard, division manager of the company, who was our guide, assured us that the estimates are not exaggerated. Telephone operators all are trained to speak low, clear, pleasant voices. It would do a lot of society women we have heard good to work a few months in a telephone office. But even in that office the blended hum of 200 voices and the other unavoidable sounds used to make considerable hubbub. Now you can stand in the middle of that room when all the operators are busy and the entire volume of sound is like that of a soft breeze whispering through a pepper tree. And the operators assured us they found the comparative silence a great relief. But when the ceiling for one room costs $12,000 who can dispute that silence is golden?



New York Just a Minute Away

Only a small part of that $2,500,000, however, was spent for golden silence. Much of it was for new long-distance equipment. You now can call long distance, ask for "New York, Courtland 5961," and be told to "Hold the line, please," just as if you had telephoned Pasadena. For eleven direct through lines connect Los Angeles and New York, fourteen connect Los Angeles and Chicago and direct wires connect us with all other big centers of the country. Your call to New York, Boston or Baltimore goes through just as rapidly as your call to Long Beach! And often you hear better than on a local call.

Radio Room Is Different

But there is one room in that building in which silence does not prevail. That is the radio room, through which national hook-ups and other broadcasting hook-ups are handled. There several hook-ups at once are heard, though one wall is lined with soundproof booths in which you hear only the one which interests you most. In each of those booths there is a telegraph key beside each loud speaker and if anything is wrong anywhere on the line instructions are sent over the telegraph key. An elaborate system for quickly locating the trouble has been worked out. An N. B. C. program from New York wasn't coming just right while we were there and in only a couple of minutes it was discovered that an electrical storm near Denver was causing the trouble. We're not scientific enough to understand what was done, but in another minute or two something was done which made the reception better.

Super-Remote Control

Another thing which will interest radio fans is the fact that when Will Rogers speaks on Sunday nights over KHJ he speaks in the Don Lee studio here, but his voice comes to us from San Francisco. The first part of that program comes from New York. Then, when the New York announcer's voice speaks the key word Rogers begins. But to avoid reversing broadcasting equipment all over the country his voice is carried to New York and broadcast from there as the rest of the program is.

Telegraphing by Telephone

The expanding use of the telephone typewriter is another thing which impressed us. Not only are newspapers using these now, but also many business houses. One chain bank, we understand, is about to install 100 of them in its branches. Instead of speaking your telephone message, you typewrite it, and in each of your branch offices every letter you strike is typewritten automatically by a typewriter on that end of the wire.

NOT PROPAGANDA

The splendid support accorded the Hoover administration by the club women of California sounds truer to American principles than the "revolt" of Seattle politicians against the law and order stand of the President.

MAKING GOOD

Miss Marion Hollins has proved that good sportsmanship is not confined to the male sex. The advent of women like Helen Wills and Glenna Collett has had a stimulating effect on women in the athletic field.

HUNGER DEFINED

That gnawing feeling that we experience at times probably is caused by the Department of Agriculture's newfound germs eating their way to our health.

OVERDOING IT

By James J. Montague

I am mildly addicted to music,
In fact, I'm addicted enough
To sit with delight through a saxophone fight,
And to like the grand opera stuff.
Though the radio sets of my neighbors
Are booming most all of the time,
And are rather a pest, I would never protest
That this sort of a thing is a crime.

But today we have music in concerts,
And music by plumber's brass bands,
And musical squeaks from the Hollywood "speaks,"
And music by factory hands.
In fact, the great Voice of the City
Is one rolling musical roar,
And I'm free to allow that the country just now
Doesn't hunger and thirst for much more.

So I learn with extreme trepidation,
Not to mention a shudder of fright,
Of a sinister plan by some conscienceless man
Who means to make music of light.
For light is in superabundance,
And imagine the jazzes and croons
And songs about Mother Mac-Something or other
If it all should be turned into tunes!

That's the deuce with these modern inventors,
As useful as some of them are,
They are never content with the things they invent,
But they always are going too far.
If they ever can turn into ditties
All the light from vast measureless space,
To loose on the girth of this suffering earth
It will soon be a terrible place.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER

XIII

RADIO

BY DAVID SARNOFF

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

[David Sarnoff is president of the Radio Corporation of America. He was born in Russia and arrived in the United States as a child, in 1900. He was educated in the public schools and took a special course in electrical engineering at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y. He began as a messenger boy, and became a wireless operator and expert with the Marconi company.]

Viewed as a career, radio offers the advantages of three distinct fields of activity. Radio is a profession, a business and an industry. A young man can earn from about $20 a week to $50 or $60 as a beginner, dependent upon his preliminary training, ability and the field he selects and for which he is best equipped.

David Sarnoff

In the engineering field alone, radio offers measured possibilities, for it is at once the most intricate and prolific of modern techniques, and it is still young. A candidate for the position of radio engineer or technician should obtain the necessary radio instruction at a technical school. The basis of radio work is electrical engineering, rounded out with a special course in radio engineering.

There is need for the practical technician as well as for the graduate engineer. Side by side, in the research laboratories, in the transmitting and receiving stations and elsewhere, both types of men are engaged in a common cause. While one is better fitted to provide the foundation of established radio knowledge, thereby saving time and expense for the industry, the other is frequently more ingenious in translating theory into practical terms.

The lack of engineering training, therefore, is by no means fatal to success, although it must be obvious that the practical technician can hardly expect to handle the work of the graduate engineer, except through long years of experience.

The engineering phase of radio is extensive in scope. There is the research laboratory, where the radio art is in the making. Research workers comprise graduate engineers and practical technicians. In fact, some of the outstanding developments have been inaugurated by men without an engineering background, yet highly ingenious and enterprising.

The chemist plays an all-important part in the development and production of radio tubes, insulating materials, varnishes, lacquers, sealing compounds. The metallurgist is consulted for special alloys for transformer cores, dynamic loud speaker fields, and so on. The mechanical engineer is required at almost every turn, particularly in developing production processes. The optical expert is called upon with regard to the optical problems of talking pictures, television and other applications of the radio technique.

Production, which mobilizes hundreds of thousands of workers, men and women alike, ranging from engineering staff and production engineers down to machine operatives, assemblers, testers and packers, also offers opportunities. The radio industry rests largely on the availability of trained workers, since the present low price levels are made possible only through the utmost efficiency in production. In the production of radio tubes, for instance, highly specialized workers have been developed by the industry. Capable works managers and foremen are also in demand.

A reflection of the rigid requirements of radio production is to be found out in the field, where radio products are installed in homes and kept in operation by service men. The service man is a recognized factor in the radio industry. He safeguards the reputation of the radio manufacturer. Radio training, acquired either in a resident radio school or through a reliable correspondence school, is essential for a career in radio servicing.

In every branch of radio merchandising—production, jobbing and retailing—there are many opportunities for those who are capable, honest and ambitious. However, business experience must be supplemented by some knowledge of radio technique in a successful radio merchandising career.

Radio operating, or the communication phase of radio, is the oldest branch of the radio art. With thousands of radio-equipped ships, there is a constant demand for trained men. The remarkable growth of our American world-wide wireless service to practically every civilized country in the world has brought many opportunities.

Radio operating may be mastered within six months. While it is possible for the student to teach himself, the process is lengthy and sometimes discouraging. On the other hand, the highly developed correspondence courses, and better still, the resident radio schools, train men in the simplest, most pleasant and quickest manner for the much-coveted radio operator's license.

In the field of broadcasting, radio offers opportunities ranging from the announcing of programs to microphone performances, and again to planning, selling and directing the programs. Radio broadcasting needs artistic talent, constantly seeks that talent, and showers its rewards on those who meet with the approval of the public.

Radio is a force applicable to a wide variety of present-day activities. Hence if selected as a life's work there is no telling where the decision may lead in position and financial rewards.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

In Re Shuler

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This is a communication to the voters of Los Angeles county and its occasion is the first time I have ever risen to the bait of "Bob" Shuler.

It seems, however, that he recently issued a statement to some at least of the press in which, among other things, he said:

"Irrespective of personalities, every candidate for the judgeships who accepts the official stamp of the Bar Association and permits that organization to finance his campaign must be defeated."

This is rather an extraordinary statement from one who constantly boasts of his good citizenship. It is neither more nor less than an invitation to the voters of Los Angeles county to help him wreak his displeasure with the Bar Association upon any candidate for judicial office, no matter how well fitted that candidate may be, who has received the indorsement and is receiving the support of an organization distasteful to the Rev. Bob. In other words, he insults the intelligence of the voters of our great county by asking them to aid him to vent his petty, spiteful spleen against the Bar Association by taking it out on any candidate for judge who receives the indorsement of that association and that entirely irrespective of the fitness or unfitness of any such candidate.

If this were not a serious matter, it would be simply amusing. It is a serious matter, however, and I confess my utter inability to understand the workings of a mind so constituted as to make his enmities and spites an excuse for the defeat of a worthy candidate for a worthy office, merely because some person or association that he does not like has indorsed such candidate.

I have been a member of the Los Angeles Bar for many years and a member of our Bar Association almost since its organization. I have not commended all of its acts. In fact, I have several times opposed individual candidates receiving its indorsement by its plebiscite vote. I have done so, however, not because of any objection to such indorsement by the Bar Association, or by any other civic organization working earnestly for the public welfare, but because the particular candidate or candidates did not measure up to my idea of good judicial timber.

Personally, if I were a candidate for judicial office, I would rather be defeated because of the indorsement of my fellow-lawyers who had faith in my ability and integrity, than be elected by repudiating their indorsement and cowing before the peevish threats of a professional and disgruntled malcontent. I am certain that every worthy lawyer feels the same way.

I am equally certain that no lawyer nor any genuinely good citizen would vote against any candidate for office that he deemed the best fitted for such office and vote for a candidate that he deemed less well fitted merely because some one whom he disliked had happened to agree with him as to the fitness of the better of the two candidates.

Perhaps the ministerial gentleman did not wisely consider his words when he roared forth his pronunciamento. They are those of narrow-mindedness, fanaticism and petty spite, not those of good citizenship. Yet their author constitutes himself a political dictator and an assumed leader of men.

After all, this is amusing—ridiculously amusing.

Yours for good citizenship.
W. H. ANDERSON.

Bread Made From Wood

It was not so much of a joke when some wise buy threatened to use wood shavings for horse fodder. His jest received many a laugh, but it develops now that instead of being a joke it may have been a prophecy. Sugar has been successfully made from sawdust and the promise of a nourishing bread made from wood has been made by Prof. Bergins of Heidelberg. This is to be accomplished by the hydroelectric process that has been under the process of investigation for some time and which is said to be a chemical invention of the greatest importance. The details of the process have not been made public.

THE FORMULA

Last year a man came to my door, and told his tale of woe; his limbs were tired, his feet were sore, he had no place to go. Ill luck had dogged him through the years, and all of the line, and now he stood there bidden tears, with which I gled mine. His spiel impressed me as a tale pathetic, fine; true, I handed him some earned kale, a bowl of stew. "And in my cowshed may sleep," I said so that wight, "and may the angels you keep their vigils through night." PRACTICAL RECIPES

ANSWERS

CAKE

Beat to a stiff froth an egg, the yolk of which has been beaten to a froth, add gradually one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of boiling water slowly to a boil, and when it has dropped from a spoon will spin a fine thread hot syrup into the stiffly beaten white, beat for two minutes or until the mixture is a small spiral without breaking, sift together one cupful of sifted flour, with three level teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Beat the egg yolk until light and thick, add two teaspoonfuls of lemon extract and fold into the first mixture. Drop the cake batter by spoonfuls, a few inches apart, into a dry, ungreased pan, bake in a slow oven, gradually increasing the heat to a moderate one, and bake about one hour.

MARMALADE

Slice twelve oranges, one large thin-skinned grapefruit and one large thin-skinned lemon. Remove the seeds, and all the seeds, and cover with cold water and let stand overnight in an enamel kettle, keeping the dish covered. Place the fruit in the water and boil slowly until tender. Allow to stand overnight. Measure the fruit and the same amount of sugar. Place the fruit in a colander, allow the juice to drain from the fruit, and remove all of the juice from the colander, allow the juice to drain from the fruit, season to taste with spices and other flavors, and simmer for ten minutes. Mix well and pack in a dish, interspersing the layers with slices of orange and lemon. Press with a heavy weight overnight. It will be ready to use the next day.

SCRAPPLE

Two pounds of fresh, lean pork and veins, add two level teaspoonfuls of salt and cook until soft. Drain from the water, strain the meat, strain the liquor in the pot and add enough water to make two and one-half quarts. Add one chopped onion, one tablespoonful of black pepper, one teaspoonful of sage, bring to a boil and stir in enough cornmeal to make a thick mush. Remove the pork from the meat and chop fine, return pork to the mush and cook slowly for one hour. Pour the mixture into square pans and cold out in slices and brown on both sides.

BAKED CRANBERRIES

Cook cranberries with a syrup made of one part of water to one part of sugar. Bake slowly covered in a moderate oven from one and one-half to three hours, depending on the desired color of the fruit. If the cranberries are not covered by the syrup, they will shrivel during the baking process.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS

Scald one pint of milk, one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, one egg, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Scald the milk, sugar and butter, and when blended and cool enough, add the yeast cake, softened in two tablespoonfuls of lukewarm water and one-half cupful of flour, beat well, and set in a warm place for one hour. Beat the egg, add the vanilla, and enough more flour to make a dough that is barely stiff enough to knead. Knead until smooth, lightly oil the surface, place in an oiled bowl, cover, and let stand in a warm place for an hour. Knead lightly, roll out a half an inch thick, let stand for ten minutes, cut and fry in deep, hot shortening. Drain, cool and dust with powdered sugar.

COCOA TUTTI FRUITTI ICE BOX CAKE

Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in one-half a cupful of cold water, beat the yolks of two eggs and beat into them one-half a cupful of cocoa, or ground chocolate, one-half a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Place one-fourth of an inch of stick cinnamon in two cupfuls of milk and scald the milk, when the milk is scalded, pour it slowly over the egg mixture, beating it constantly. Place in a double boiler and cook and stir until slightly thickened, then add the gelatine that has been soaked in the cold water and stir until the gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Allow to cool, take out the stick cinnamon. When cold add one-half a cupful of Maraschino cherries, six marshmallows, cut in small pieces, six macaroons, dried and rolled fine, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Beat the whites of the two eggs, until stiff and fold into them one cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Fold this into the gelatine mixture, line a mold with lady fingers or strips of stale sponge cake, brush one side of the strips with melted butter, and place the buttered side against the mold. Pour the mixture in and allow to set for twenty-four hours.

Today marks three important events on the social calendar, the Early California Pageant at Marlborough School sponsored by The Mothers and Daughters Club, the Semicentennial Jubilee of the University of Southern California, dinner in the Sala de Oro of the Biltmore, for the benefit of the new wing of the Women's Residence Hall at the university and a Gay 'Nineties dinner at the Women's Athletic Club.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the sponsors of these three gala events, no effort having been spared and at the pageant and Gay 'Nineties dinner guests are requested to wear costumes of these periods if possible.

For Bride-elect

Miss Katherine Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Orlando Jean, whose wedding with Laurence Thayer Bourne of Cleveland is to be an event of the last of June, is being much entertained with prenuptial affairs. A charmingly appointed breakfast and bridge was given yesterday at the Knickerbocker Hotel with Miss Virginia Tharpe as hostess. The tables were arranged in the Lido Room and centered with spring blossoms and ferns, a bridal motif being stressed.

Those included were Miss Frances Jean, Mrs. Edwin Addicott, Mrs. James McCarthy Rounds, Mrs. William Sutherland, Mrs. Frederick Nason, Mrs. Edgar Heintz, Mrs. Oscar Strodel, Mrs. Cecil Garnet Rainey, Mrs. Raymond Tremaine, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Von KleinSmid and the hostess.

Approaching Wedding

At a reception given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emanuel A. Miller, 944 Harcourt avenue, formal announcement was made by Mrs. Benjamin Miller of the coming marriage of her daughter, Florence, to Lewis Green, son of Mrs. Lilli Green of Edgewood Place. Although invitations have not yet been issued, the wedding is to be an event of June, an intimate affair with only members of both families and a few close friends present, to take place at 944 Harcourt avenue, a reception to follow.

Miss Miller is a popular member of the younger set, having attended the Manual Arts High School and the University of Southern California. Mr. Green, although well known in Los Angeles, is a native of Texas and recently came to this city from San Francisco.

Numerous affairs have been planned for this young couple, Miss Miller having already been the honoree of some lovely luncheons and bridge parties.

Alumnae Luncheon

The Alumnae of Tau Lambda Gamma Sorority at Woodbury College held their monthly luncheon and bridge at the Mary Louise Tea Room, Saturday afternoon, the 10th inst., with Miss Tess Nichols, dean of Woodbury, as guest of honor. A green and orchid color scheme was stressed in the exquisite flowers. Those invited were Misses Louise Agee, Dorothy Manley, Tess Nichols, Aileen Perriguey, Thelma Moore, Lorraine Jones, Lalla Murphy, Cleota Stanley, Mildred Olson, Lucile Ingersol, Gertrude Simpson and Ruth Bumpas. Bridge was featured during the afternoon in the Chinese Room, where high score was won by Miss Mildred Olson, the consolation prize going to Miss Lucile Ingersol.

Shower for June Bride

A Spanish motif was carried out at a bridge tea which was in the nature of a shower given recently by Miss Shanna Houtz of South Sherbourne Drive in honor of Miss Gwendolin Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Austin of Pasadena, whose marriage to Floyd Ribble will be celebrated June 15.

Among those present were Mmes. Douglas Farrell, Hasslett Smith, Charles Mahler, Plin Swanson, Austin Gale, Donald Stauffer, Frederick Beyl, Richard Parrent, Ralph Eppley and Emil Nelson and the Misses. Virginia Lewis, Katherine Holman, Alice Olcott, Dorothy Bugh, Phyliss Austin, Jeanette Warline, Angela Austin, Virginia Beidler, Babbie Coe, Helen Houtz and Buddie Houtz.

Engagement Announced

Engagement rings and wedding bells were the motifs used to announce the engagement and wedding date of Miss Marcella Rex and Lewis Winkle, at a party given in honor of Miss Rex by Misses Doris Wolfe and Marian Grey at the home of the latter in Glendale, Saturday, the 3rd inst. The hostesses and honor guest are members of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority at the University of California. Guests were sorority sisters and intimate friends of Miss Rex.

After the bridge games the bride-elect was led to the dining-room, where a lovely table was set with glassware given by the guests. The surprise for the guests came with the tea, when they found engagement rings with photographs of the betrothed and the wedding date, August 16. The attendants and the place have not been announced as yet.

Mr. Winkle is a member of Sigma Chi from the University of Iowa.

Smart Affair

One of the recent lovely affairs was the luncheon and bridge party given last Thursday afternoon at the Mary Louise by Mrs. J. B. Elliott of 844 North Croft, and Mrs. E. B. F. Collier, 4127 Camero, honoring Mrs. John I. Hart of Hollywood and New York, who is leaving shortly for the East, and for Mrs. Victor Manzi-Fe of New York, who is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Elliot. The decorations were charmingly carried out with a profusion of watsonia and ferns in a tall green urn—a flame and green color scheme being carried out, and covers were marked for Mrs. Arthur Keil, Mrs. Charles Brady, Mrs. Allan Hale, Mrs. Stewart Holmes, Mrs. Joseph Grohman, Mrs. George A. McLoney, Mrs. George Fay, Mrs. F. E. Osgood, Mrs. Joseph Ricketts, Mrs. Henry Clive, Mrs. Thomas H. Smith, Miss Mary McLoney, honor guests and hostesses. After luncheon the guests played contract in the Chinese Room, for which lovely prizes were given.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, abnormal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

EXCESSIVE FATS DESTROY BABY'S APPETITE

Giving rich milks and serving cream on cereal strike many mothers as indicative of good feeding. It is luxurious, cream being more costly than milk, but it is not a blessing, for the baby so fed responds by a failing appetite, indicative of the burden of this rich diet.

The following letters seem intended to answer each other. A young mother writes: "My 13-month-old baby refuses any kind of vegetables. He weighs twenty-seven pounds. For breakfast he eats a large dish of oatmeal with pure cream and brown sugar. Then orange juice, cup of rich milk and teaspoonful of cod liver oil. At 11 he gets a cupful of milk and two graham crackers. Then he has a three-hour nap in the sun. At 2 o'clock he eats vegetable soup (you see he does get vegetables, young mother,) or cream of chicken soup, few tastes of spinach, prunes and juice, milk and fruit. For supper cornmeal mush, cream and some kind of fruit.

"He is very bow-legged. Do you think his legs will straighten? I was told that if I let him suck his thumb he would later break himself, but after a few months of this I have been trying ever since to break him. Putting on a whole stocking over his arm helps, but now he uses his left hand. What can I do?"

CHANGED MILK

Now here is a partial answer to the above. Mrs. T. H. writes: "My boy is 15 months old and has had a poor appetite for some time. He never seemed hungry. We had been using our own milk from a Jersey cow but began to buy milk from a neighbor who does not have Jersey cows. We noticed an immediate improvement in sonny's appetite and are wondering if the change of milk had anything to do with it?"

FAT DIGESTS SLOWLY

You are exactly right, Mrs. T. H. Rich milks destroy the appetite in this way: Cream (or any fat) is the element slowest of digestion, and leaves the stomach last. While there is food in the stomach there is seldom any real appetite, for an empty stomach is the stimulant for hunger sensations. Thus the baby fed on rich and fatty foods never knows the sensation of hunger and because he grows fatter and fatter he has less and less desire to eat.

The first baby has a morning meal that is appalling—pure cream, rich milk and cod liver oil all at one meal; then more food at 11 o'clock when he is quite old enough to wait until 12 o'clock, and more food at 2! No wonder he doesn't care for various foods. He has no real appetite.

Try skimmed milk for this baby for a time, breakfast of oatmeal and skimmed milk, and skimmed milk to drink and a sun bath instead of cod liver oil. Then dinner at noon of vegetables, stewed or in soup, an egg or some chopped meat and stewed fruit. A small cupful of milk in the afternoon, and cereal, milk and stewed fruit at night. Our leaflets on thumb sucking and rickets cover your other questions. Please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for these, and don't forget to mention them by name.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

SUMMER BAKED POTATOES

Baked potatoes mean heat in the kitchen during the warmer months and yet are so digestible that they are desirable. Pour boiling water over them and let them stand in this for twenty minutes, then bake. They will be done in half the time.

A WARM WEATHER SAVING

To eliminate the sugar that is usually reposing in the bottom of the glass after the iced tea is consumed, make a syrup of granulated sugar and water and use this for sweetening instead of plain sugar. You will soon learn how much you require and a great deal of sugar is saved.

THE FUR COAT

When you are finished wearing the fur coat, have it taken care of immediately. Do not let it hang around half the summer, proving a nice temptation for moths. It probably will require cleaning. Then either have it stored at a furrier's or store it yourself in a bag made for this purpose. Have any repairs or alterations done during the summer months. It is cheaper and frequently the furrier will store the coat for you free of charge if the repairs are made in his shop.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

UP IN THE AIR

There's little we can say or do
But others are affected, too.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

How long Freddy Fox would have remained trying to get Nanny Meadow Mouse out of that tin can in which she had found shelter, had not Farmer Brown's Boy suddenly appeared once more, no one knows. Reddy was so intent on what he was doing that he had forgotten all about Farmer Brown's Boy. It was the snapping of a twig that warned him that some one was coming. One hasty glance and Reddy was on his way. Reddy can run very swiftly when he wants to and now he wasted no time.

Farmer Brown's Boy caught a glimpse of Reddy as he raced away. He didn't see where Reddy had come from and he hardly gave him a thought. Presently he came to that tin oil can that he had thrown in the bushes. A bit of grass was sticking out of the round hole which Nanny Meadow Mouse used as a doorway. Farmer Brown's Boy noticed this. It gave him an idea. He picked up the old can.

"I believe," said he, "that I'll put this old can up in a tree. Jenny Wren might take it into that funny little head of hers to build a nest in here, should she happen over this way. I believe I'll fasten it up in a tree. I've known of birds building in just such places. If a pair of birds should nest here, the old can would be of some use after all."

So Farmer Brown's Boy once more picked up the old can. He peeped within, but all he could see was a little grass. He couldn' tsee Nanny Meadow Mouse. Close at hand was a young cherry tree. Farmer Brown's Boy then reached up as high as he could and wedged the can between two branches. Then he fished a piece of string from his pocket and securely lashed the can in place. The round opening, which was Nanny's doorway, was facing toward the south. "There!" said he. "I guess this will do. Here's hoping that some one will find this and decide that it will make a good home." With this Farmer Brown's Boy went whistling away across the Green Meadows toward his own home.

For a long time Nanny Meadow Mouse remained still. So many things had happened that day that Nanny had quite lost heart. No sooner did everything seem to be all right than she discovered that it was all wrong. So she remained quiet for a long time. She wasn't at all sure that Reddy Fox was not waiting to jump on her the instant she poked her head out of that little round doorway.

Farmer Brown's Boy reached up as high as he could and wedged the can in between two branches

By and by Nanny noticed a little motion. Somehow her house didn't seem quite steady. She began to wonder what that meant. It rocked ever so little. Finally she got courage enough to go close to the little doorway so that she could look out. She didn't venture to put her nose out, but just stood looking out.

"This is queer," thought Nanny. "All I can see are green leaves and the sky. I ought to see grass, but I don't. How can I be seeing leaves?"

She sat awhile and thought this over. Thinking it over didn't help a bit. The more she thought the more puzzled she became. Finally she decided that she would put just her head out. She did. She put her head out and took one good look around and then almost fell over backwards. She was up in the air! She really was! You know Nanny is a very small person and when she looked down the ground looked a frightfully long distance away. At first she didn't quite realize what it all meant, but after venturing to look out again, she understood that she was up in a tree. Once she had had her home in an old nest in a bush, so she understood just what it meant, though how she got there she didn't understand. Right away she made up her mind that she was going to get away from that old tin can as soon as ever she could.

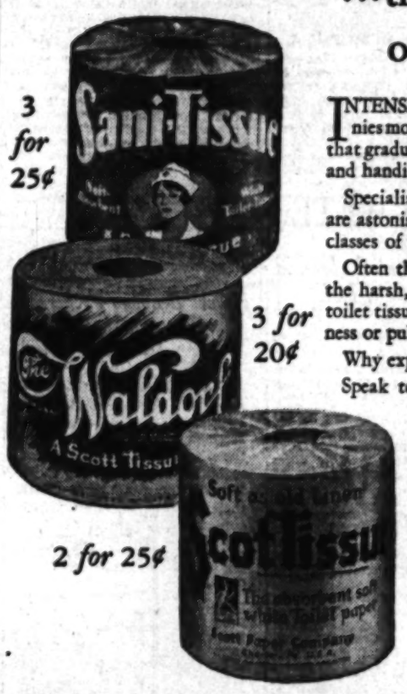
...these troubles that come from harsh or chemically impure toilet tissue



They fit the built-in fixtures

INTENSE suffering usually accompanies most rectal ailments. Chronic pain that gradually wears down reserve energy and handicaps a man in his daily work.

Specialists say that cases of this kind are astonishingly prevalent. Among all classes of people.

Often these troubles can be traced to the harsh, glazed or chemically impure toilet tissues so frequently found in business or public toilets.

Why expose yourself to these dangers? Speak to the superintendent at your place of work. Or the man who does the purchasing. Ask him to install health-protecting Scott Tissues.

These famous toilet tissues are just as low priced as the ordinary "cheap" tissues—and they are absolutely safe from a health standpoint.

All three brands, ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf are extremely soft—yet tough and strong in texture. Crumpled in the hand . . . they feel like old linen . . . suave and yielding.

They are unusually absorbent. Without this absorbent quality, thorough cleansing is impossible.

Scott Tissues are chemically pure. Made from the finest fresh materials. Each sheet is fully sterilized in manufacture.

Don't take chances with inferior, non-absorbent toilet tissue . . . at home or at the office. Be safe! Always buy or use ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

Scott Tissues

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world. Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

Redlands Sees Alumni Busy in Religious Work

REDLANDS, May 22.—An interesting compilation of facts has come before the University of Redlands faculty and student body regarding the place the alumni are filling in the educational and religious life of Southern California. The figures were presented at the annual Southern California Baptist Convention held at Santa Ana, and have proved of interest to groups on the campus, particularly the student volunteers, who are finishing a year of splendid activity, under the leadership of Lester Pugh.

LESTER PUGH

Although more than twenty denominations are represented on the campus at the present time, the Baptist predominates, and six alumni are engaged in the ministry now in Baptist churches in Southern California, while twelve others are in various charges over the United States. In churches of other denominations and in graduate training for the ministry are fourteen alumni.

The work of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. organizations occupies seven graduates while twenty are engaged in missionary work under Baptist auspices. In institutions of college grade, twenty graduates are now filling professorships, while 225 are teaching in the public school system. Other investigations are underway now at the university to determine how the alumni are engaged and their accomplishments in the university's twenty-one years of experience.

Assistance in compiling this particular report was given by the active student volunteer organization which sponsors an interesting weekly meeting on the campus, to which students interested in foreign problems as well as those actually engaged in preparation for definite foreign missionary service are invited to attend.

Pugh, the president, is active in the Southern California Student Volunteer organization, and plans to study in the East next year, continuing his preparation for service along this line.

Sewage Plant Will Not Be in Balboa Park

SAN DIEGO, May 22.—A sewage-treatment plant will not be built in Balboa Park. The City Council today voted against such a proposal. This action followed announcement by the promoters that an option had been secured on a site a mile and a half from the park. An alternative site also was suggested by Councilman S. P. McMullen, who picked a block of ground owned by the city just east of the present Thirty-second-street outfall. The site under option by the promoters is east of Balboa Park, the Council was informed. Discussion of the project to reclaim 1,500,000 gallons of water daily and use it in the park was held by the Council with a group of protesting taxpayers during the greater part of the forenoon. On account of suggested changes in the form of contract by reason of changing the site, further consideration was postponed to another week when it is likely another hearing will be set so that further opinions of property owners and taxpayers may be expressed.

INGLEWOOD PLANS TO IMPROVE ITS STREETS

INGLEWOOD, May 22.—Improvement of several of the streets in the residence section of Inglewood is forecast here due to the instructions given last night by the City Council to City Engineer Willis S. Pefler which require that official to prepare necessary data for starting legal proceedings for the improvement of Oak, Ash, Holly and Kenwood streets and Cedar avenue. Several petitions have been received by the City Council requesting improvements of these streets, and surveys are being made and plans drawn for the installing of a storm drain in the section traversed by these streets.

"TECH MURDER MYSTERIES" OUT

Heinous Crimes Recounted in Annual Year Book of Pasadena Institution, Including "Eroding" of One Professor and "Freezing" of Another

PASADENA, May 22.—Fifteen prominent members of the California Institute of Technology faculty have been murdered during recent months, it is revealed in an exclusive story which appeared today in "The Big T," annual year book of the local scientific institution.

One of the most heinous crimes reported in the facetious report, "The Tech Murder Mysteries," is asserted to have resulted in the death of Dr. John P. Buwalda, nationally known geologist. Dr. Buwalda, after being bound and gagged, is reported to have been tied inside the aeronautics wind tunnel. "He might have survived the 200-mile-an-hour wind," declares the writer, "S. S. Van Dine, Jr.," had it not been for the fact that "someone evidently tossed handfuls of sand into the tunnel till Buwalda was all eroded."

Equally shocking is the imaginary death of Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, international authority on genetics, who, locked in an ice box containing specimens, appears to have been frozen to death. "When we opened the ice box door," recites the article, "Morgan fell out with a clank, and little pieces chipped off and went skidding around the floor."

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, head of the California institute, is not mentioned among the murder victims, indicating that the writer believed the famous physicist had made himself invulnerable by surrounding himself with cosmic rays.

In the illustrations of the annual, Frederick S. Scott, the editor, has portrayed with colorful pictures the evolution of man from fish to his present stage of development, the foreword of the book expressing the hope that California institute students "may do their bit in furthering the advance which Homo Sapiens has just begun to make."

Illustrations depicting the Java ape-man Neanderthal man, Neolithic man, and other asserted stages in the development of the human race, are interspersed throughout the annual, each picture being accompanied by descriptive material, befitting the publication of a scientific school.

Editor Scott, a senior student in chemistry, expressed appreciation for the faculty's breadth of vision which allowed publication of the annual without the slightest attempt at censorship in any form.

AGUILAR FOUND GUILTY

Pala Indian Tells How He Shot Down Man in Defense of Wife and Home

RIVERSIDE, May 22.—A jury in Superior Judge Morton's court last night found William Aguilar guilty of two felony charges growing out of his asserted attempt on the night of April 6 to kidnap the white wife of Carlos Pico, Pala Indian, from Pico's home near the San Diego county line. He was acquitted on a third charge of attempted burglary. Time for sentence was fixed for 2 p.m. Monday.

The testimony, produced in the prosecution by Dist.-Atty. Ford, was marked by the appearance as witnesses of Pico, who is 21 years of age, his young white wife, formerly of Perris Valley, and Tom Washburn and Joe Moya, Perris boys enlisted by Aguilar in the night's escapade. Moya lay in the Community Hospital here for weeks at the point of death from two gunshot wounds in his back, inflicted by Pico in defense of his home.

Aguilar was charged with attempted abduction, attempted burglary and assault with a deadly weapon. Washburn has been certified to the Juvenile Court on the same charges and Moya now is in custody at the County Jail facing the same prosecution. He probably will be sent to the Juvenile Court also.

Mrs. Pico told of the men coming to the house, of her hearing them pushing and knocking on the door, and then of her husband firing through the side of their ramshackle home. Moya was struck by both bullets, and was carried off by the other two.

Pico also took the stand to relate the incidents leading up to the testimony of the two boys, both under 19, which was that Aguilar had gotten them "a little drunk" on wine tonic. He bought three bottles at a Perris drugstore, they said.

At Aguilar's house, they said, he obtained a loaded shotgun he said he might need for "business," and also an automatic pistol. They then drove to an old stone house near Pico's home, where they parked Aguilar's automobile and drank another bottle of the tonic. Staying away from the highway they then tramped over a near-by hill to reach Pico's house about 500 yards away.

Aguilar, the boys said, knocked at the front door, but got no response. Moya, armed with the shotgun, then started to walk around the house to see if there was another door.

At that instant, Pico had testified, he arose from bed, looked out the window, and saw a man with a shotgun. He quickly obtained a rifle in the corner of the room and fired through the one thickness of boards of the house.

The first shot struck Moya and the shotgun he carried discharged as it fell from his hands. Pico, believing his fire was being returned, shot again. This bullet also hit Moya.

ARROWHEAD PLANS FETE

Spectacular Indian Drama Will be Presented Around Shores of Famous Mile-High Mountain Lake

SAN BERNARDINO, May 22.—Announcement of plans for a spectacular Indian pageant drama, to be staged next month by the residents of Lake Arrowhead, the famed resort of the San Bernardino Mountains, was made here today by Lou Williams, president of the Lake Arrowhead Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the affair.

The production, entitled "The Legend of the Lake," is an original drama written by Gertrude Wheat and Louise Arnold of Redlands, and based on romantic folk tales handed down for generations by the Indians of the lake resort.

Selection of a small canyon indenting the lake shore has been made for the open-air theater and the action of the play will take place at the water's edge, with three miles of deep blue water fringed with pines as a novel background.

According to present plans, the play, which has a prologue, three acts and an epilogue, will be staged on two successive days, each performance to start at 3 p.m., to make the most of gorgeous sunset effects on the lake. Definite dates will be announced in a few days.

Appearing in the cast will be approximately 100 players, including society folk of Redlands, San Bernardino, Pasadena and other cities who make their summer homes at the lake.

The pageant drama is to be elaborated with Indian ceremonials, dances, and musical interpolations of a novel order. Unique costumes will be created from the skins of wild animals as a special feature of the presentation.

The general committee at Lake Arrowhead arranging for the production includes President Williams of the Chamber of Commerce, Archer Johnstone, Chief of Police; Frank Manning, E. H. Purdy, James Neilson and L. T. Caldwell. Lake Arrowhead is located at an altitude of 5125 feet and is reached by a high-gear highway from this city.

Outstanding Speakers for Three-Day Program

SAN DIEGO, May 22.—San Diego today is host to 600 building and loan leaders of various sections of the State. They convened at Hotel Del Coronado this morning for a three-day session of their twenty-fifth annual convention. This is the first time that the State organization has held its annual meeting here.

Hal Hotchkiss, president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce; Charles A. Whitmore, State Building and Loan Commissioner; Harrison Lewis, chairman of the legislative council, California State Real Estate Association; Ray M. Harris and J. D. Driscoll, Jr., local attorneys, and F. F. Burtchett, professor of economics, University of California at Los Angeles, are among the outstanding speakers on the program.

OFFICIALS TO SPEAK

Building and loan officials who will address the conference include Frank Otis, for ten years president of the league; C. H. Wade, Los Angeles, president of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association; Milo R. Robbins, San Francisco attorney; Edward M. Einstein, Fresno, president Fresno Guarantee Building and Loan Association, and Fred Wurster, Stockton, vice-president Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, and Sanford M. Anderson, People's Building and Loan Association of Inglewood.

Considerable interest and controversy will be generated in legislative program proposals, it is expected. A discussion on "Codification of State Building Loan Laws" also will be a highlight of the annual meeting.

Harry C. Clark, Mayor of San Diego, welcomed the delegates. This was followed by President Abbott's annual message and reports by the secretary, William E. Bouton, and Treasurer Fremont Wood, both of San Francisco.

The program is in charge of Harold B. Starkey, Bay City Building and Loan Association; Roy E. Hegg, San Diego Building and Loan Association, and Robert Mueller Seaboard Building and Loan Association.

GOLF TOURNEY INCLUDED

Golf enthusiasts are given an opportunity to compete for two silver cups at the Coronado Country Club Saturday. A large gallery is expected. Business will be suspended for the afternoon of the second day, when the visitors will be taken to Agua Caliente for luncheon and sightseeing. An afternoon tea for the women is scheduled for the opening day and a tour of this city is planned for the final day. Theater and bridge parties also are planned for the delegates.

Some northern city will be selected for the next convention, if precedent is followed. It is generally predicted that Harry S. Wanzer of Sacramento, first vice-president of the league, will be elevated to the presidency.

The usual banquet, followed by dancing at Hotel Del Coronado, will conclude the conference. Assemblyman William E. Harper of this city will act as toastmaster and Louis Blodgett, also of here, will be the principal speaker.

No Bids Come in on Redondo Pier Extension

REDONO BEACH, May 22.—Another chapter in this city's long-drawn out municipal pier situation in which the building of the main portion of the pier now completed and the construction of a proposed extension has been faced with a series of court actions, was written last night when no bids were received on the extension project.

The bids called for some weeks ago were the third asked by the Council, those of two former occasions having been blocked by injunction suits brought by taxpayers contesting the legality of the city's acceptance of the existing structure.

The matter will be before the Council at its meeting next Monday night after the officials and attorneys have conferred upon a plan of action.

Harvel Brothers Prepare and Circulate Petition for Auto Wrecking Establishment in Glendora, Only to Learn They Had Worded it as Protest

GLENDORA, May 22.—"We just can't figure this petition business out," said the Harvel brothers in unison as they left the City Council chambers last night, after City Attorney R. B. Bidwell informed them that their petition to establish an auto wrecking yard in the west end of town, bore the signatures of protestants, instead of signers in favor of the establishment.

It seems that the Harvel brothers approached City Clerk Fred Long last week concerning the wrecking yard, and he informed them that residents in the north end of town would protest the establishment of such a plant as a nuisance. They then made up a petition for themselves and started out to win the signatures of those would-be protestants living in the northern section of the town, who readily signed after looking over the contents of the petition.

Rejoicing over their victory, the would-be proprietors appeared before the City Council last night prepared for the fireworks, so to speak, as they considered the petition as a favorable surprise.

They saved the petition as the last bomb to climax the battle of arguments, which it did, much to their chagrin, for the petition read: "Harvel Brothers are starting a wrecking yard at the west end of town for the purpose of wrecking used autos. We wish to know if you have any objections as to the yard. Please sign below opposite the word yes."

The judges are headed by Ralph Dickenson, president of the Santa Paula Airport Association, Ltd.; C. E. Cross, Elton Bowman and Jack Harwood, making up the committee.

This is the first event of the kind that local schools have attempted. Supt. Bond is father of Edith Bond, prominent aviatrix, whose recent examination record was the highest ever given a woman in Southern California.

Rev. Cameron, who was 72 years of age, came here from Detroit, where he served as pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church for seventeen years. In 1921, he was called to the Westminster Presbyterian Church, where he occupied the pulpit for five years.

Besides his widow, Rev. Cameron leaves a daughter, Katherine Cameron of this community, and two brothers, Rev. A. G. Cameron of Sylvania, Pa., and David Cameron of Nova Scotia.

STATE ENGINEER TO CONFER WITH BOARD

UPLAND, May 22.—E. D. Stafford, State Hydraulic Engineer, will meet with the recently appointed county water conservation board at the office of San Antonio Water Company Tuesday, A. C. Reynolds, secretary, announced today. The board was appointed by C. E. Grier of this city, chairman of the San Bernardino County Supervisors, to conclude a survey and study methods of flood control and conservation for Cucamonga Water Basin. Engineer Stafford has been assigned to complete a survey of both Cucamonga and Chino basins for a report to the State Department of Water Conservation and Flood Control in September.

ANAHEIM, May 22.—Hundreds of Orange county youths and maidens were this week taking their first dip of the season in the Anaheim Municipal swimming pool, which has just been formally opened. The plunge is the "ol' swimming hole" for boys and girls from over the entire county. Figures on last year's attendance reveal that 37,000 were admitted to the plunge.

The large number at the opening indicated that this year might bring larger crowds than last.

Besides serving as a recreation center, the plunge is used to give instruction in swimming. Mrs. Amelia Sidebottom, swimming instructor, taught nearly 700 how to swim last year.

SHIP WILL PROTECT BEACHES

Orange County Body Told Patrol Boat Being Built to Stop Oil Pollution

CAPISTRANO BEACH, May 22. Information was received by the Orange County Coast Association from the State Fish and Game Committee that it is having a patrol boat constructed for the purpose of guarding the coast between San Pedro and San Clemente—protecting the water and beaches from pollution by oil from freighters operating between these points. The boat is under construction in San Diego and will be ready for service by June.

It has been contended by prominent oil men that freighters cause more trouble in depositing oil on the beaches than would be done by responsible oil companies drilling on the tidelands. Mayor S. R. Bowen of Huntington Beach has said that with the scientific methods of drilling today there is little danger of oil pollution from tideland drilling.

At the meeting of the association at the Ocean View Inn it was decided to ask Senators and Congressmen at Washington to urge Federal authorities to enforce a law passed in 1872 governing the deposit of bilge water on the ocean.

Angeleno Dies in Auto Wreck

INDIO, May 22.—Dr. J. A. Gaziola, 45 years of age, of 2202 West Thirty-first street, Los Angeles, and said to be a brother-in-law of the Vice-Governor of Lower California, was instantly killed this morning when a tire on his car blew out on the State highway about twenty miles below this city.

The car, which was driven by his son Jose, ran into the soft sand and tipped over, pinning Gaxiola beneath it. He was dead when taken out. The son was not injured.

The body was brought to the Williamson Mortuary here where an inquest will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

EXTRADITED MAN'S BAIL SET HIGH

Suspect Who Jumps Bond When Out on Charge of Forgery Brought Back

RIVERSIDE, May 22.—Apparently determined to make more difficult another "bail-jumping" escapade of the fugitive, Superior Judge Morton fixed bond for Charles H. Ferguson, charged with forgery, at $7500, when he was arraigned following his extradition from Arizona. Ferguson arrived here yesterday in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Roger Knowlton, who took him into custody at Flagstaff and more or less supervised a hearing in the Governor's office, where Ferguson's fight against extradition was lost. The fugitive employed a lawyer in his attempt to defeat this county's effort to bring him inside its jurisdiction, but Knowlton enlisted the aid of the State's Attorney-General and the extradition hearing ended in a gubernatorial order remanding the bail-jumper into Knowlton's custody.

The journey to Riverside of Knowlton, his prisoner, and Jack Deagan of this city, who accompanied the officer, was made half by automobile and half by train. While traveling across the desert toward the California line on the Sunkist Trail, Knowlton suffered so much tire trouble away from garages he was forced to run the automobile, his personal property, on a flat tire. Later the wheel broke and the car had to be left at Blythe because no parts could be purchased for the car there. They then boarded a train and were met at Colton by County Jailer Bailey in an automobile.

Ferguson fled from here in 1927 while awaiting trial on the charge of passing bogus checks on certain merchants of the city. He had gained his temporary liberty on a $2500 bond.

Tractor Bucks Rider Shooting at Polecat

GLENDALE, May 22.—The anxiety of Lloyd Lanterman, 22 years of age, to shoot a polecat that was hanging around the orange grove of his father, Dr. Roy S. Lanterman of La Canada, sent the young man to bed today with a broken right leg and three fractured ribs, besides severe gashes in his thigh.

Lanterman was riding a tractor when he tried to shoot the polecat, and the tractor, which he had failed to stop before he aimed struck a stone and reared up, throwing him off the seat and grinding him into the earth beneath its spiked wheels.

His cries brought Dr. Lanterman to his aid and the injured man was treated by Dr. Henry A. Johnson of Glendale, who was summoned by Dr. Lanterman.

The young man had been carrying the shotgun for a week in the hope of disposing of the skunk, and when he sighted it he attempted to shoot while the tractor was in motion.

Mayor Walshe in His Office

ARCADIA, May 22.—Mayor J. M. Walshe began office hours today at the City Hall where he was found behind his desk from 10:30 a.m. until noon. He announced that the same office routine would be carried out every Thursday.

Being a member of the Foothill Breakfast Club, which convenes on Thursday morning, Mayor Walshe said he never got away to his office in Los Angeles before 10 a.m., as the club adjourns between 9:30 and 10 o'clock, and he decided to finish the morning attending to his duties as Mayor.

"I am holding these office hours for residents of the city to call upon me in regard to municipal affairs," he stated.

ASSOCIATION ELECTS

The other officers selected are J. Petrie, vice-president; C. A. Price, secretary-treasurer, and Ben Fohnstoch, guardian. SIGN-UP CONTRACT URGED

Workers Busy in Vineyards from Guasti to Pomona Seeking Signatures to Control Agreement

ONTARIO, May 22.—With the vineyards a vivid and bountiful green, promising a generous crop this season, a group of workers went into all grape-growing districts today to speed up the task of signing up at least 85 per cent of the growers under the grape-control contract.

Benton Ballou, local vineyardist, is chairman for the southern district of the California Grape Control Board, today announced the slogan under which the workers are signing up the growers is "100 per cent sign-up by June 1."

Ballou also announced he has placed supervisors in each grape district, with the request they call on every grower and present a grape-control contract for signature, in order that the State grape industry may be further stabilized and the growers share in the Federal farm-relief measure. The district and those in charge are:

Cucamonga and Guasti—M. B. Martinez; San Bernardino—Herman Meyer; Etiwanda—George H. Johnston; Wineville and Fontana—H. W. Vermilyea; Devore—T. H. Wigginss; Rialto and Bloomington—Elena Brothers; Alta Loma, Ontario and Pomona—Rupert Dishman.

Ballou said today: "It is the unanimous opinion of our workers that since the independent packers, the California Fruit Exchange and the California Vineyardists' Association have already signed the contract and signified that they will give it their whole-hearted support, that the co-operation of the growers by signing the contract promptly is all that is necessary to make the success of the plan assured."

The grape-control contract was fully analyzed for the grape men and shippers at a meeting in Chaffey Auditorium last week by Donald D. Conn, director-manager for the California Vineyardists' Association.

AGE NO BAR TO AIR-MINDEDNESS

Pilot's Father of 73 Years, Now Flyer

THE three-score and thirteen years Walter Upward of 6405 Franklin avenue, has lived rest lightly upon him, so he took up flying about two months ago. Yesterday, he flew a plane off the ground, soared gracefully over San Fernando Valley for a long time and landed as skillfully as a veteran of the air. It was his first flight alone and, his instructor, Capt. Bob Lloyd, was proud of him especially as the solo was made after Upward had spent only about fifteen hours' flying time training.

A son, Aubrey, is a flyer at Bakersfield. The elder Upward has been training at North Hollywood Airport, 8194 Lankershim Boulevard.

GIRL BELIEVED PRISONER

Suicide Note Left in Car Abandoned on Beach Said by Police to be Trick of White Slave Gang

Believed forcibly held in a remote beach shack, police and deputy sheriffs last night were conducting a widespread search for Violet Freeman, 22-year-old telephone operator, whose abandoned automobile was found at Santa Monica at dawn yesterday.

Although a suicide note was found in the automobile in front of 705 Ocean avenue, the girl's mother, Mrs. R. F. Freeman, of 6757 Topango avenue, Owensmouth, declared the handwriting not to be that of her daughter.

NOTE BELIEVED FALSE

"Dearest mother," the note read, "Good-by. This is the easiest way out." It was signed "Pat," the girl's nickname.

While the note is believed a fake to mislead the search for the girl, Police Captain Massey of the Van Nuys division notified Capt. Allen of the missing-persons detail that he has clews which indicate Miss Freeman is held by white slavers.

Discovery that the girl was missing was made yesterday when she failed to report to duty at the Van Nuys telephone exchange, where she was employed. Mrs. Freeman immediately notified police and began a search.

The trail led through several Washington Boulevard night clubs, where the girl frequently had visited. Clews obtained in the dance clubs made a trail to Santa Monica.

CAR FOUND AT BEACH

At the beach city the abandoned car was found by police and Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. M. J. Adams of Girard, a friend.

The finding of the purported suicide note and the assertion of the mother that it is a fake led investigators to inquire as to Miss Freeman's friends she was reported to have been with in the earlier hours of the night.

Although the suicide theory is discredited, police and lifeguards throughout the length of the Santa Monica Bay surf line are on the alert.

The girl is light-complexioned, has gray eyes and weighs about 140 pounds. When last seen she was wearing a black and white dress, tan sweater, gunmetal stockings and black satin slippers.

Howard Bedig yesterday asked the City Council to lease to him the small plot of ground owned by the city and formed by the elimination of the jog at Third and Main streets. He said he wishes to utilize it as a parking station. The request was referred to the Finance Committee and the land agent.

Plans Disclosed for 'Radio City' in Manhattan

Plans for the building of "Radio City," in the very heart of Manhattan, at an estimated cost of $300,000,000, were announced yesterday by Joseph I. Schnitzer, president of Radio Pictures, following receipt of a telephone message from David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America. Schnitzer is attending the R.-K.-O. film sales convention in Los Angeles.

The deal has just been closed by Sarnoff, the film executive said, and it provides, among other things, for the erection of a forty-story building which will house the home offices of virtually every radio concern or subsidiary. Among these are Radio Pictures, R.-K.-O. Theaters, Inc., Radio Corporation of America, R.C.A. Photophone, Inc., R.C.A. Victor Corporation, R.-K.-O. Productions, Inc., Westinghouse Electric Corporation, General Electric Corporation and National Broadcasting Company.

Two large theaters will occupy the ground floor of the proposed structure, Schnitzer announced. One of these will have a seating capacity of 7000 persons, and the other, a vaudeville house, is to accommodate 4500. The convention concluded yesterday.

Author Plans Trip to Russia

An expedition into the deepest interiors of Russia, Arabia and Persia is planned by Richard Halliburton for his fourth travel adventure, for which he now is preparing during his stay in Hollywood. Halliburton, author of several travel best sellers including, "The Royal Road to Romance" is negotiating for production of his works on the screen. Unless detained beyond his expectations by film business, he will leave on his new expedition late this summer.

Halliburton will use his experience on his forthcoming journey as the basis of a new book in which he hopes to include information about eastern people heretofore unattainable.

SEA GAMBLERS ASK AID BUT THEY'LL GET RAID

"Oh, that I should be picked on to settle a high-sea fight between two factions of gamblers over the receipts of dice tables, roulette wheels, faro boxes and three-card monte games," Dep. Dist.-Atty Clark exclaimed resignedly, yesterday, when he was assigned to investigate the merits of a complaint by Attorney George D. Blair, acting for one of the owners of the Monfalcon, against five men who "captured" the vessel Tuesday.

"I am told that five hoodlums captured a water taxi and then boarded the Monfalcon and took possession of the ship," continued Clark, "and all the time the Monfalcon was being operated against the law. Now the men who captured the gambling ship indignantly demand protection of the State against another faction of gamblers.

"What should I do about it? Why, I have ordered six of our huskiest investigators to go down there, and not only to take possession of the ship, but to grab all the customers, gamblers, hoodlums and gangsters they can get hold of.

"Besides all this I am turning over to U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb an entire report on the case. It is outrageous that these gamblers not only flaunt the law, but they run to the law for protection when they fall out among themselves.

I am told that five pirates, after boarding the ship, fired several shots, and then took charge of everything in sight.

"None of the 150 customers aboard was molested. Most of them returned to the gaming tables, I am told, and later were conveyed back to Seal Beach and Long Beach in water-taxis.

"There has been a complaint filed with this office about the matter and I have been told to invoke every law in the State to stop the operation of the ships. The ships, in reality are anchored off Orange county, but they get their customers from piers located in Los Angeles county. I will know more about it tomorrow when our squad gets back."

Attention of the District Attorney's office and the Federal government was directed to the row between the gambling factions following the battle between the asserted gangsters and the crew of the Monfalcon.

The original complaint made to the District Attorney's office by Attorney George Blair Wednesday did not contain details of the raid which later were learned by Ward. The Monfalcon and another ship, the Johanna Smith, have been anchored off Southern California shores for several months. Gambling is conducted aboard each ship, investigators assert.

Jetta Goudal, Film Actress, in Sanatorium

Jetta Goudal, motion-picture actress, whose right to be temperamental before the camera was upheld by the courts, is in a local sanatorium recuperating from a complete breakdown, it was learned yesterday. Miss Goudal was removed to the Chase Sanatorium, 1032 West Eighteenth street, three weeks ago, but this was kept from her friends until yesterday.

Her condition is not considered serious, but she will be a patient at the sanatorium for at least two more weeks.

Miss Goudal was preparing to leave on a visit to Europe when she suffered her breakdown and was advised by her physician, Dr. C. E. Fishbaugh, to take a rest cure.

Last year she was given judgment of $31,000 against Pathe Studios, Inc., formerly the C. B. De Mille Corporation, for back pay after her discharge.

COHN MOVES OFFICE

Transfer of the offices of Sam W. B. Cohn, publicity and advertising agent, to the Roosevelt Hotel was announced yesterday when he moved from quarters in the Taft Building which he had occupied for six years. He is a member of the Wampas and Hi-Hatters, and has handled many publicity campaigns for motion-picture actors and companies.

KIN OF MISSING MAN WORRIED

Buccola's Son and Brother Fear Foul Play

Little apprehension concerning the fate of her husband, who has been missing since the 6th inst., was expressed yesterday by Mrs. Tony Buccola, when she was questioned by Detective-Lieutenants Hickey and Cronin at her home, 1550 Elvareno street. She said, according to the detectives, that her husband has often been absent from home for weeks at a time without any explanation to her and she has no reason to suspect that he will not return unharmed, as he always has in the past.

The detectives say they also interviewed Victor Buccola, the 18-year-old son of the missing man, and that the boy is not so confident of his father's safe return as is his mother. The lad they say, shares the belief of his uncle. George Buccola, that the missing man may have met with foul play.

George Buccola, brother of Tony Buccola, has a ranch at Ontario and he told the police that on the occasions in the past, referred to by Mrs. Buccola, when Tony was away from home, he was generally at the Ontario ranch. He is still of the opinion, he added, that his brother may have been injured or slain, particularly in view of the fact that Tony's car was found wrecked in Venice two days after he was last seen here.

The missing man, who is 40 years of age and is known as a stock salesman, is understood to be the man who once made an appointment with a woman to give her some information concerning the disappearance of Frank Baumgarteker, a wealthy wine merchant, but failed to keep the appointment.

HUSBAND GAINS DIVORCE

Cruelty was the grounds on which Emil Goerke, a stevedore for the Pacific Steamship Company, was granted a divorce yesterday from Hazel Goerke by Superior Judge Yankwich. The husband asserted his wife could not control her appetite for liquor and when under its influence was extremely quarrelsome.

GRANDSON OF LINCOLN'S STEPMOTHER STRICKEN

Dennis Franklin Johnston, 84 years of age, a Civil War veteran and one of the remaining few who have personal recollections of Abraham Lincoln, last night was near death from a stroke of paralysis at his home, 816 South Gates street.

Despite the intervening years Mr. Johnston's memory of Lincoln has remained particularly bright, and he could recall the law-practicing days of the Great Emancipator vividly.

Mr. Johnston's grandmother was Sara Bush Lincoln, the stepmother of the martyred President, and in childhood he spent many years with Mrs. Lincoln in the rough log cabin in Illinois wherein Lincoln had read borrowed books by the flickering light from the old stone fireplace.

The Civil War veteran has been in California many years. He had been hale and hearty until suddenly stricken with paralysis which physicians fear may cause his death.

When the Civil War was declared Mr. Johnston promptly answered the call to the colors, and served with distinction in two Illinois regiments.

Assemblyman Sued by Wife

LONG BEACH, May 22. (Exclusive)—Morgan Keaton, local attorney and Assemblyman for two terms from the Long Beach district, was named defendant in a suit for divorce filed here today by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Helen Keaton. She charges mental cruelty.

Mrs. Keaton charges that on February 6, last, her husband left their home and remained away many days, refusing to tell her of his whereabouts. The Keatons were married in Redwing, Minn., July 14, 1917. They have four children and Mrs. Keaton asks $125 a month alimony.

Libel Damage Award Upheld by High Court

In a decision handed down yesterday, Division Two, District Court of Appeal, affirmed a Superior Court judgment in a libel action by G. Seymour Von Stein, former director of sales for the Frank Meline Company, against Leonard A. Hardie. Von Stein was awarded $1000.

The action revolved around a letter sent by Hardie to Frank Meline relative to Von Stein. Hardie was granted a new trial in the trial court. The Appellate Court decision reversed the new-trial order.

The decision was written by Justice Thompson and concurred in by Justice Gavin Craig. It found that the letter "is libelous upon its face."

"It cannot be doubted," the opinion recited, "that the letter here involved had a direct tendency to injure the appellant in his occupation."

PORTER WILL SPEAK ON MEMORIAL DAY

Mayor Porter is announced to deliver a Memorial Day address at 11 a.m. on the 30th inst. at Hollywood Cemetery on the occasion of the unveiling of a memorial clock presented by Mrs. Annie Virginia Connelly in memory of her husband, Edward J. Connelly. American Legion and other veterans' organizations will participate in the services.

IN THE HARD TEST OF DAILY USE

CYCOL WINS THE WEST

On the sea, in the air, over high ways where men look to motors and motors to oil, you'll find Faith in Cycol. Unfailing performance. Endurance Beyond Belief.

Let's Get Associated with Jack and Ethel Wednesdays 8 P.M. NBC stations

NO cheering crowds surround the bus motor that comes unscored through 60,000 gruelling miles. No checkered flag flashes WIN to the tractor snaking logs through the mud. No sport page heralds your own motor when the speedometer trips miles past the change-oil mark—trouble-free.

But by winning these every-day tests, Cycol has earned the solid faith of thousands of users. Cycol has won the West. In spite of new oils that come and go, in the face of clamorous claims of competitors—year after year the use of Cycol increases.

These five steps make these truths possible:

1. The new Edeleanu treatment process removes 14% more impurities than does the commonly used acid-treating method—hence Cycol gives more lubrication—more protection for your motor. Cycol is a pure oil.

2. Cycol is distilled under high vacuum methods. No vital elements are weakened. All fractions are uniform. Cycol will not evaporate, thin, or break down.

3. The closest of fractionation during distillation rejects light volatile fractions and heavy, gummy elements. No motor oil forms less carbon than Cycol Motor Oil.

4. Cycol is made only from specially selected crude oils. They are separately transported and stored at the refinery.

5. Only the "heart cut"—the first choice crudes—are used in making Cycol.

Cycol gives complete, unfailing lubrication, yet no oil is more economical, for Cycol has "Endurance Beyond Belief." The price of Cycol is but 25 cents per quart.

DAM DISASTER SUIT ON TRIAL

City Asked to Pay $175,000 for Four Flood Deaths

Other Similar Actions Pend in St. Francis Case

Plaintiff's Wife and Three Children Drowned

Damages amounting to $175,000 for the loss of life in the St. Francis Dam disaster on March 13, 1928, are asked in the first of a series of suits brought against the city of Los Angeles and the department of water and power which went to trial yesterday before a jury in the court of Superior Judge Mahon.

Ray E. Rising, the plaintiff, is bringing the actions. He asks $100,000 for the death of his wife, Julia Rising, and $25,000 each for the deaths of his three children.

Several similar suits brought against the city as a result of the flood that followed the breaking of the dam have been settled out of court.

Attorneys Warren S. Atherton and Lawrence Edwards are representing the plaintiff while the city is being represented by Attorney Jess E. Stephens, former City Attorney; Lucius Green and Paul Freedman.

Woman Wants Crash Damages

Asserting that her neck was broken in an automobile accident, Mrs. Lora Simmons appeared before Superior Judge Archbald yesterday with a law suit against Ralph Bohne and Harlan Dalley in which she asks $13,800 damages.

Mrs. Simmons asserts that as a result of the accident she was forced to remain eight weeks in a canvas stretched on an iron frame with her head held in position by sand bags.

The accident occurred on June 4, 1929, at Normandie avenue and West Adams street. Mrs. Simmons was riding with her husband, Clarence D. Simmons. They contend the defendants' car rammed them from behind.

NEW ORDINANCE SUBMITTED

The completed draft of the proposed new zoning ordinance was submitted to the City Council yesterday by City Attorney Werner. It was referred to the City Planning Committee, which already has conducted numerous hearings, for consideration next Monday.

PATHFINDERS HOME BY SEA

Last of Auto Club's Caravan to Mexico Returns by Ship With Cars on Board

The last of the pathfinding party into Mexico, E. E. East, chief engineer, and Douglass C. Rhodes, field engineer for the Automobile Club of Southern California, came back on the Panama Mail liner Corinto yesterday, exactly two months after they crossed over the border from Nogales on their perilous trip.

They boarded the liner at Acapulco with two pioneering cars, the other three having returned overland from Mexico City via Laredo ten days before.

"I believe five years will see a graded and surfaced highway from California to Mexico City, costing $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, for the Mexican government is pushing highways vigorously," declared East. "Not all streams will be bridged, but there will be adequate ferries, and the development will open this productive empire not only to ready markets and domestic intercourse but also to a vast tourist horde, for it is a highly picturesque country."

He said he never had seen such enthusiasm and that receptions to his party couldn't have been greater for a conqueror.

After leaving Nogales the caravan traversed the western slope to Mazatlan, where it went inland via Guadalajara to Mexico City, and 180 miles south to the city of Pueblo. They traveled 2500 miles by automobile, chopping out their way at times; crossed nine major rivers by ferry and forded as many more.

At Toluca, capital of the State of Mexico, they found a program underway to pave every street this year. The city also is building industrial schools, recreation halls, a swimming pool. The same was true at Pueblo, and other cities.

PROGRESS UNDER WAY

"Mexico is undergoing a renaissance, and this proposed California-Mexico City highway is just a symptom of serious growing pains throughout the country we traversed," said East.

The other members of the party who have already returned to Los Angeles were C. E. McStay, Philip Townsend Hanna, Carlos V. Arias, B. E. Sandham, J. R. Deeson, Kenneth Keefe and Harry Carr.

WIRE SENT BY FARRELL TO HOOVER

Trade Council Chairman Replies to President's Message of Greeting

James A. Farrell, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, yesterday sent the following message to President Hoover:

"Your cordial telegram of greeting was read at the opening session of the seventeenth national foreign trade convention at Los Angeles at which more than 2000 delegates have been actually registered. Your approval, supported as it is by your extensive experience in and service to the foreign trade of this country, is highly encouraging to all engaged in overseas commerce and was greatly appreciated by all in attendance.

"This convention represents all sections of the country. Among the delegates are representatives of more than twenty other countries. Their presence is evidence that the conviction of successive foreign trade conventions that sound and lasting foreign trade is essentially reciprocal in its objectives and benefits is accepted abroad as well as at home.

"The motto of this as well as all previous foreign trade conventions is 'greater prosperity through greater foreign trade.'"

The National Foreign Trade Convention which was convened here last Wednesday for a period of three days, will conclude its deliberations today. Several special addresses during the afternoon general session and group consideration of some export problems and trans-Pacific trade comprise the program.

A feature will be the report by the general convention committee.

OCEAN FLYERS PREEN WINGS

Bromley Prepares for New Pacific Flight

Fierro Tests His Plane for Long Sea Jaunt

Pair Will Use Lockheeds on Great Adventures

Two flyers who hope to blaze new air trails on continent-linking land and ocean hops within the next month took their new giant Lockheed Sirius monoplanes aloft for the first time yesterday.

LIEUT. HAROLD BROMLEY

Lieut. Harold Bromley, thwarted last year in his attempt to fly nonstop from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokio over 4777 miles of the Pacific, tested his ship, received the approval of the Department of Commerce on it and will be ready to take off this morning for Muroc Dry Lake to conduct full-load tests.

Col. Roberto Fierro, director of civilian aviation for Mexico, announced he will leave for New York next Monday. His craft was tested by H. W. Catlin, Lockheed pilot, and pronounced ready to go. Arnulfo Cortes, Fierro's mechanic, will accompany the Mexican pilot on his 10,338-mile schedule.

COL. ROBERTO FIERRO

From New York Fierro expects to retrace the route of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's good-will flight with a nonstop hop from New York to Mexico City. Then he plans to fly over several Central and South American countries to Bahia, Brazil, cross the Atlantic to Dakar, Africa, and end his adventure in London after stopping at the major cities of Europe. His plane can carry 440 gallons of gasoline.

If Bromley's plans turn out as expected he also will be ready to leave here Monday, it was indicated by Carl Squier, Lockheed general manager. The pilot will go to Tacoma and await favorable weather for his daring attempt. His ship is a single-seater and is equipped to handle nearly 900 gallons of fuel. Both his and Fierro's craft are powered by 425-horsepower Wasp motors.

Air Passenger Service Attains Fifth Birthday

American aerial passenger service today celebrates the commencement of its fifth year, it was announced by Western Air Express which on this date four years ago began the first service with two planes flown between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City. The line had begun carrying air mail between the two cities on April 17, 1926. In the week concluding the first four years, twice as many passengers flew via Western Air Express as it carried during the entire first year.

C. W. H. Smith, general traffic manager, said that while only 406 passengers were carried the first year, 4047 were carried last month and 8426 during the first four months of 1930. Four years ago the line had five planes and twenty employees, today it has more than seventy planes and 700 employees.

Smith said that other lines followed Western Air Express in adding passenger service, and that 5782 passengers were carried in 926, that 8879 were carried in 1927, that 49,713 were carried in 1928, and 150,000 in 1929. He predicted that 500,000 air passengers will be carried this year.

Coroner's Jury Hears Story of Horton Murder

Albert Horton, 68-year-old Saugus rancher, met his death last Sunday by a gunshot wound through the heart, inflicted by a person or persons unknown, a coroner's jury decided at an inquest yesterday in San Fernando.

The jury was given only a meager description of the slayer by George Horton, 89, brother of the murdered man. The elder Horton said his brother answered a knock at the door of the ranch home and that he heard him talking with some one. A masked man then entered, carrying the younger Horton's revolver, he said, and forced him to sit on a couch while he searched the house. After the bandit's departure, Horton found his brother's body outside the door, he testified.

LUNCHEON RECIPES WILL BE FEATURED

Today at the Los Angeles Times' Free Cooking School Chef Wyman will demonstrate a luncheon dish that will be especially suitable for a party luncheon; it is an artichoke and chicken salad. Two of the deserts she will prepare will make a delicious accompaniment to the salad. They are London pudding—a coffee ice box pudding—and nougats of oranges—pastry made with orange marmalade. In addition she will prepare two other deserts which every family should enjoy—a rhubarb and strawberry pie and baked cottage cheese custard. The Times invites everyone to attend this class, which begins promptly at 2 o'clock and is held in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

IMPROVEMENT APPROVED

The ordinance of intention for the improvement of Caspar avenue north of Colorado Boulevard was adopted yesterday by the City Council and set for hearing of protests June 30.

Occidental to Break Ground for Pool Today

Ground-breaking ceremonies for a new $45,000 swimming pool to be known as Taylor Pool will be held at Occidental College today at 11 a.m. The pool will be part of the E. S. Field Memorial. The shovel to be used in the ceremony is the same one which has served on similar occasions preceding the erection of every structure on the Occidental campus.

One-third of the cost of the pool was raised by a student-body drive, another third came from the E. S. Field estate, and the remaining $15,000 was donated by Mary Barbara Taylor, a graduate student at Occidental, who is the daughter of J. Hartley Taylor, a member of the college's board of trustees.

A specialist on diseases of the eye, Dr. Macleish was a member of the American Ophthalmological Society and many other outstanding surgical and medical organizations. He also was prominent in club circles of Southern California.

Daring Wife's Third Down Proves Charm

Cyril Forayth, Chautauqua secretary, not only knocked his wife Ruth down on occasion, but spanked her until she was black and blue, according to her testimony in Superior Judge Hanby's court yesterday.

"I told him I wouldn't stand for such treatment, and dared him to knock me down," said Mrs. Forayth. "He did. Then I dared him to do it again. He did. Then I—"

"Don't tell me you gave him another dare?" interposed the court.

"But I did, judge, and he knocked me down again."

Judge Hanby granted the divorce.

Woman May Be From San Diego

Her constant reiteration of an automobile license number and her expression of a belief that she may have come from San Diego are the only clews police have as to the identity of a woman about 50 years of age, who was found wandering in Westlake Park Wednesday night by Policemen Malberg and Shriner.

When taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital the woman was declared by police surgeons to be suffering from amnesia. Later she began uttering the license number, but could not explain why. The number is 2N8271.

The woman is about 5 ft. 5 in. in height, weighs about 135 pounds, and was wearing a dark red wool dress, a gray coat, blue shoes and stockings. No marks were found on her to indicate that she had been in an accident.

RUTH HITS THREE MORE HOMERS; STARS TAKE TWO FROM BEAVERS

MORTENSEN IN SHAPE AGAIN

Heaves Javelin 203 Feet in Final Workout

Cromwell Sees High Hopes for Third Victory

Meet Depends on Showings of Paul and Hall

BY RALPH HUSTON

With their hopes for a victory considerably buoyed by the return to form of Capt. Jess Mortensen, twenty University of Southern California track athletes will board the Golden State Limited at 6 o'clock, headed for Boston and the annual I.C.A.A.A.A. championships.

Mortensen, who has been handicapped with a bad shoulder all season, yesterday morning appeared in a new array of bandages and tossed the javelin out 203 feet for his best toss of the year. He said the long throw didn't give him the pain he had experienced in recent meets and that he was confident he would be able to perform up to his best.

TEAM IN SHAPE

With the exception of Mortensen and Howard Paul, the twenty Trojans are all in top shape. Paul tried to work out yesterday afternoon, but didn't do any too well. He may place in the broad jump if the Trojans have a good day, but if he has to leap from a muddy take-off board Paul probably won't even be used.

Cromwell looked over his twenty men yesterday afternoon and pronounced himself highly pleased with their chances of victory. "If Mortensen, Paul and Bob Hall perform up to their best, I think we will win," he said. "We're going to have to score a lot of points to beat Stanford, but if my boys can equal their best marks we'll do it. I think you'll know real early about our chances. If Cliff Halstead and Lee Hansen take the three or four points I hope for in the mile, you can be reasonably sure we'll win. If they find the crowded field too tough and don't place, I think you can count us out. Both Cliff and Lee are fine competitive athletes, and I think they'll place."

The Trojan party includes Frank Wykoff and Milton Maurer in the 100-yard dash; Vic Williams and Art Woessner in the quarter; Bill McGeagh in the half; Hansen and Halstead in the mile; Jeddy Welsh in the high hurdles; Bill Carls and Ernie Payne in the low hurdles; Bob Hall in the shot and discus; Jim Stewart in the high jump, shot and discus; Bob Van Osdel in the high jump; Bill Livingston, Will Hubbard and Pete Chientsos in the pole vault, and Paul and Dick Barber in the broad jump.

While most of the men are making their first trip east, they all have competed in big meets before and should not suffer greatly from stage fright. Maurer, Payne and Paul competed last year, scoring points. Vic Williams ran but had a broken bone in his foot and

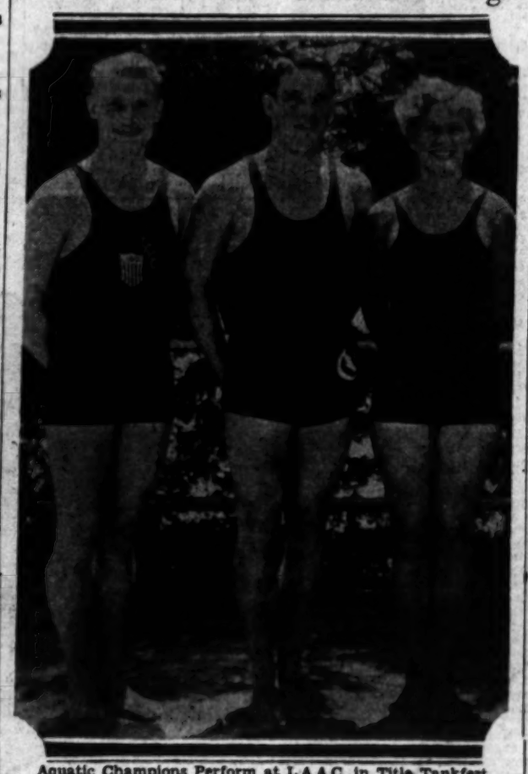
IRON MAN SEEKS SWIM MARK

Crabbe in Water Carnival Tonight



Aquatic Champions Perform at L.A.A.C. in Title Tankfest

BUSTER CRABBE

Crabbe, who can be stamped as the real "iron man" of all swimmers, due to the seven American championships he has won in the past year, will attempt to shatter the world's record for the 500-yard free-style race. This mark for the long course tank is 5m. 47.8s., held by John Weissmuller, and the short tank mark is 5m. 31.4s., held by Arne Borg. Crabbe set an American record of 5m. 40.8s. during the recent indoor championships at Chicago in the meet when he lowered the world's 500-yard medley

ANGELS DEFEAT SOLONS, 8 TO 4

Los Angeles Bunches Hits to Capture Honors

Flynn's Wildness Also Helps Local Team to Win

Peters Saves Day in Sixth as Senators Rally

STOCKTON, May 22.—The hop over to Stockton from the Capital City for today's ball game with the Angels did not do the Senators a bit of good. They lost the contest, 8-4, which means the Ryanites have yet to win their first Thursday game of the season on the local grounds.

WILBERT PETERS

The sting of the defeat was eased by the fact that the Seals trimmed the Oaks, thereby permitting the Solons to remain on the top rung of the Coast League ladder. However, the defeat of the Oaks and the Solons with victories for the Angels and Seals tightens the race.

Buddy Ryan selected Tom Flynn, one of his young left-handers, to flip them up to the Angels in the third contest of the series, and he was opposed by Walsh, who held the Solons' score to zero until the sixth, when four runs brought Peters into the melee.

Flynn was not effective; he was wild, and the Angels made the most of the gratuitous passports to first by mixing in some timely bingles. The southpaw took his exit in favor of Laurie Vinci, another port-sider.

The Angels started after Flynn in the third inning, scoring three runs. Haney opened with a single to left, and Hannah sacrificed, Walsh slapped a single to right, counting Haney, and Sigafoos fouled out. Statz and Dittmar singled in order to score Walsh and Statz crossed the plate when Backer threw wild to Koehler to cut off a double steal.

Three more runs were added to the southern gentlemen's total in the sixth with one away. Schulmerich, Jacobs and Moore walked in order. Flynn left the game and Vinci entered. He got out Haney, but Hannah and Walsh singled to clear the bases. Walsh apparently couldn't stand the prosperity, and forthwith walked McLaughlin, Backer and Camilli, the three first Senators to face him in the Solons' half of the sixth, when Hoag singled to center to score McLaughlin and Backer and sending Walsh to the showers. Peters took the hill to retire Osborn and Hood, a pinch-hitter, but Koehler hit to center, scoring Camilli, and Hoag tallied the fourth run when Brown, batting for Vinci, singled to left. Ray Thomas took up the pitching burden for the Senators in the seventh, and was scored upon when Statz walked and Camilli booted Jacobs's ground tap. Haney's hard triple to center and a sacrifice fly gave the visitors another run in the eighth.

YANKS WIN BARGAIN BILL; VITTMEN NOSE OUT RIVALS

Gehrig Also Clouts Trio of Long Hits

PHILADELPHIA, May 22. (Exclusive)—Hitting at an amazing rate the New York Yankees swept both games of a double-header from the Athletics today by scores of 10 to 1 and 20 to 13. Thirteen home runs were hit in the two games, three each by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Ten homers by the two teams in the second game equalled the major league record.

BABE RUTH

Today's three homers gave Ruth a mark of six in two days.

Although Ruth's feat did not break any of the recognized records for home-run hitting in consecutive games it established a mark of some sort for a two-day period. The Babe's string was broken in the second game of yesterday's double-header when he could get no better than a single.

Locals Annex Both Contests by One Marker

BY PAUL LOWRY

The warm weather inspired the Hollywood Stars to noble deeds yesterday, and the home guard smashed the Portland Ducks deeper in the cellar by grabbing both ends of the double-header at the ball orchard.

OSCAR VITT

One of the largest mid-week crowds of the year saw the Stars win the first game, 7 to 6, by coming from behind with a three-run rally in the ninth inning, and follow this with a 3-1 victory in the seventh-inning nightcap.

The second game was played in the fast time of 1h. flat, and was featured by sparkling plays on the part of Catina and Gazella.

Catina dug into the ground to make difficult putouts at propitious moments, and Gazella almost did a head stand in spearing Summa's line drive in the first inning.

The Stars made only three hits off Ortman's delivery in the second struggle, but they bunched two of these in the second inning along with a base on balls and a wild throw.

ORTMAN UNLUCKY

The combination gave the Stars all the runs necessary to win the game. In four of the six innings the Stars were at bat Ortman blanked them in one-two-three order, and he really deserved a better fate. Wetzel helped to win his own game with a single in the second inning. He and Bassler were on the bags, when Catina doubled them home.

Wetzel was touched more freely,

AMERICA LEADS IN CUP PLAY

Ricardo Tapia Gives Wilmer Allison Hard Battle in Torrid Five Set Match; George Lott Has Easy Time Defeating De La Borbolla

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—More than three hours of slashing tennis were required today to give the United States Davis Cup team a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the second round of American zone competition, virtually assuring a European invasion by the Americans.

WILMER ALLISON

A lithe, 20-year-old Mexican, Ricardo Tapia, fighting tooth and nail, carried blond Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., through five torrid sets before succumbing, 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

In sharp contrast, George Martin Lott of Chicago, overwhelmed Ignacio De La Borbolla, former Mexican champion, without the loss of a game, winning almost at ease, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0.

On Saturday Lott will tackle young Tapia, while Allison is scheduled to play Borbolla. With the doubles tomorrow in the hands of Allison and Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., experts argued tonight that there was little chance that American team plans of sailing for Europe on June 3 in quest of the Davis Cup would be upset.

Both Tapia and Allison today played brilliant tennis. Hardly a rally of their closely contested match passed without applause from a gallery of 2000 gathered in the improvised arena at the Chevy Chase Club.

In an interteam exhibition doubles game following the Davis Cup matches, Lott and John Doeg paired together to defeat J. Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin, 6-3, 8-6.

Mrs. Moody's initial appearance on French courts since her marriage was watched with great interest by tennis fans. The verdict was she has not yet reached the brilliant form she has shown here on several occasions and she is somewhat short on tournament play. This is not surprising as she and her partner had not taken the courts until today, having advanced to the quarterfinals through the default of various opponents.

Mme. Bordes, formerly Mme. Billout, and Mme. Henrotin, who has played in other years as Mme. Lafaurie, provided stubborn opposition.

Speedy Dado Rules Heavy Favorite to Score Over Young Sport Tonight at Hollywo

FLYWEIGHTS IN FEATURE EVENT

Filipino and Mexican Lads to Trade Punches

Speedy Has Won Every Bout He Had at Legion

Fast Preliminary Program Looms at Stadium

BY KAY OWE

A contender for the flyweight championship of the world is one of the main eventers at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight. Speedy Dado, Filipino, according to the opinions of Hollywood fight fans, is as great a piece of fighting machinery at 112 pounds as there is in the world. He should beat Young Sport, Mexican, in the main event and be ready for another shot at Hollywood within a month's time. If Dado is to get anywhere in the fight racket he must keep fighting.

The little Filipino is the idol of his countrymen. They turn out in droves to see him fight and he never fails them. Speedy has won every main event he has fought at the stadium. The surroundings at the stadium seem to be to his liking.

Young Sport is a Mexican who has been featured at Pasadena for months and he moves into faster company at Hollywood. He fought Dado at Pasadena and looked good. He gave the Filipino a tough fight for ten rounds. The Dado at Hollywood tomorrow night might be a different fighter than the one Sport faced at Pasadena.

Plans are being discussed to stage a world's flyweight title fight in Los Angeles early this fall to give Dado a chance at the crown Pancho Villa once were. The big Filipino following in California would turn out by the thousands to see Speedy in action and the promoter would be assured of a big gate. Dado is working tonight and in all his other fights this summer with the aim of getting that title shot.

An unusually strong preliminary card has been booked to support the Dado-Sport fight. Teddy Palacios is favorite over Sammy Offerman in the semi-wind-up. They are lightweights. Joe Bell, welterweight, fights Johnny Romero, San Diego welterweight, in the six-round special and Bell is favorite.

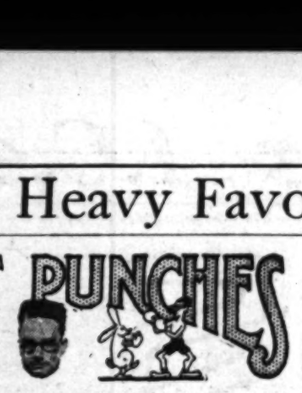
A young heavyweight, Jack McFarland, makes his professional debut in the second spot, fighting Steve Hayden and McFarland looks so good in training that he is favorite. Ray Rodrigues has been made favorite over Russell Beach in the curtain raiser.

Y.M.C.A. MEET TOMORROW

A swimming meet, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., will be held at Colton tomorrow at 2 p.m. One hundred and forty entries have been received from Y.M.C.A. teams. The committee in charge includes Mr. J. Bertini, Jack Smith and Jack Stiatira.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry



WEIRD TRAINING CEREMONIES

DAVE SHADE has been training on rattlesnake steaks and raccoon meat at Soper's, and is looking for a skunk as a final titbit. Ace Hudkins has been taking black mud baths, drinking hot sulphur water and making mince meat of his sparring partners at Murietta.

A short and condensed news reel of the young men who are preparing for an affair of the fists next week which is scheduled to send the winner against Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion, in a title bout.

Some of it sounds weird, but if you know Dave Shade you can believe most anything about the eccentric Californian.

Dave is the guy who helped Jack Dempsey get in condition for his second Tunney fight at Chicago. He was one of the scenic features of the Lincoln Fields race track, which the ex-champion used as a training headquarters.

Dave stood out under the punching-bag platform whaling the leather with a straw hat on his head and a big black cigar in his mouth.

He was a rare and picturesque sight. And at the end of the Dempsey program each day Dave added more color to the ceremonies with his equestrian feats.

He would doff the straw lid in favor of a red velvet tam like those affected by artists. Mounted on a fast nag Dave would go tearing down the track scooping up handkerchiefs from the straightaway as he went.

WILDCAT PEPPER

ACE HUDKINS is not as "screwy" as the boys say in his activities outside the ring, and he is preparing for the Shade battle with great gusto.

He is in better condition than he was for the Walker title fight last October by several versts.

He poo-poohs the thought he has ducked Shade, as the latter alleges, for several years.

"Just never had time to give him a fight," says Ace. "This time they hung up another championship match with Walker as the bait, and I took the hook.

"Walker is one man I want to meet again. I think I can beat him. I got down too fine for the October fight, and I didn't have any pepper when I entered the ring.

"Another guy I'll take in a minute if I get over Shade is this over-touted Frankie Campbell. I'll give away plenty of weight to tackle that bird."

Hudkins has a fine open-air ring to work in at Murietta, plenty of hills to run over, a plunge to swim in and a golf course on which to while away idle time.

He belts his sparring partners with his old-time zip and fire, has one or two laid up every day and yells for more wild meat.

THE GERMAN RECORD

SOMETHING for the Messrs. Harlow Rothert of Stanford and Herman Brix of the L.A.A.C. to shoot at—Emil Hirschfield's approved world's record in the shot put.

This was delayed in transit, apparently, the day the International Federation dished out sixteen new marks as official world records, but the boys rectified the error the next meeting.

So now there's a nice 52ft. 7¼in. mark for Rothert and Brix to beat in competition.

They have come dangerously close several times this year, and each has achieved a put of 52ft. 4in.

All they need is another four inches in a qualified meet. Both have beaten the mark in practice.

TWENTY TO GO

EIGHTY per cent along with Olympic Games preparations in this city for 1932.

That is a splendid achievement, well worth a tribute to the men who have put their shoulders to the wheel and made it possible.

And setting the expenses of the round-trip, housing, meals, etc., for European contestants at $400 per man removes the last obstacle in the path of a complete representation by all nations. This is one-quarter of the anticipated cost.

JUNIOR GAMES MEETS CARDED

Five County Olympic Events on Tap Tomorrow

Young Athletes Polish Off Today for Tilts

Orange Finals to be Held at Santa Ana Field

BY BRAVEN DYER

Hundreds of young athletes throughout Southern California were scheduled to polish off their training stunts today in preparation for important final meets of the Junior Olympic games program. No less than five county finals are billed for tomorrow, with an equal number of outstanding district meets on the card.

Orange county contestants will gather at Santa Ana for the finals of their district, while those of San Bernardino county will go into action at Redlands under the direction of A. B. Drake. Walter Scott and his assistants are in charge of the Orange county meet.

Riverside will be the scene of the Riverside county finals, with Messrs. Wilson and Lunt directing the program. W. K. Cobb will be in charge of the Ventura county affair at Ventura, while A. P. Agosti will run off the San Luis Obispo county finals at San Luis.

The starting hour for each of these meets is 10 a.m.

The first five seniors and juniors in the foregoing meets will automatically qualify for the Southern California finals, to be held in Los Angeles June 7. In case of ties both boys qualify.

Important district finals preparatory to the Los Angeles county finals will also be held tomorrow. These are billed for Long Beach at 10 a.m., Pomona at 2 p.m., Woodrow Wilson school at Glendale at 9 a.m. and Los Angeles county semifinals at La Canada under the direction of Miss Grace Adams.

Hundreds of youngsters from Los Angeles county parochial schools will be seen in action tomorrow morning at Loyola High School when this meet will be staged by D. W. Lott and Jack Henderson of the Playground Department. Winners of this program, as well as those district finals mentioned above, quality for the Los Angeles county meet, which is to be held at Moore Field (Los Angeles Junior College) one week from tomorrow.

Competition in all these meets tomorrow will be exceedingly keen, for it's the last chance for most of the boys. With the lure of that free trip to Latin America spurring them on it is likely that the leading competitors will outdo themselves in their respective county finals.

The strong Anglo-Spanish combination of Eileen Bennett Whittingstall and Elia De Alvarez withdrew today on account of a severe cold from which Mrs. Whittingstall is suffering.

The semifinals will find Mme. Simon Mathieu and Mlle. Yvette Barbier of France opposing Mrs. Phoebe Watson and Miss De Round of England in one match while Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan meet Miss Fry and Miss Harvey in the other.

The quarterfinals now will pit Tilden and Coen vs. Jean Borotra and Rene De Buzelet, France; J. Colin Gregory and Ian Collins, England, vs. Harry Hopman and Jim Willard, Australia; H. O. N. Lee and O. P. Hughes, England, vs. E. F. Moon and Jack Crawford, Australia, and Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, France, vs. Takeichi Harada and Tamio Abe, Japan.

did not place. Wyckoff, Hansen, Halstead, Clark, Welsh, Stewart, Mall, Hubbard, Barber and Van Cedel all have been under fire in national A.A.U. meets.

NEED DRY TRACK

Tommy Davis, assistant coach, yesterday predicted a victory for the Trojans if the meet was held on good days. "Our most important points are on the track, where mud and rain seriously hamper the runners, and as our boys aren't used to those conditions, I don't see how we can win in wet weather."

The squad will take a short workout in Chicago Monday morning and will arrive in Boston Tuesday evening. The meet is scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Immediately after the championships the Trojans will entrain for Chicago via Montreal, for the N.C.A. championships, and then will return here by way of the scenic route in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah. They will be carried by fourteen different railroad systems in their journey.

OPEN NEGOTIATIONS FOR RING TITLE GO

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) May 22. (Special)—Milwaukee may have a world's championship match during the open-air season here. Negotiations were opened today for a title match between Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, and Eddie Anderson, contender, of Chicago, who recently scored three knockdowns against Bass in their no-decision match here. The Cream City Athletic Club is after the match.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD SENDS IN MARATHON RUN BLANK

H. Andrew Aldridge, Jr., of 660 North Mariposa, is nothing, if not ambitious. Young Andrew claims only eleven summers, but this did not prevent him from wanting to wear the Red, White and Blue of the American Olympic Games uniforms.

Andrew yesterday filed his entry blank for participation in The Times pre-Olympic marathon, which is to be run over the 26-mile, 385-yard course here June 14. The spirit is admirable, but one of the rules of the contest is that each entrant must be over 18 years of age, so that committee was forced to reject the application.

Andrew declared that he wanted to get experience so that he could try out for the Olympic team in 1932.

Three other entry blanks were accepted yesterday, and one entrant withdrew of his own volition. Justin N. Lundquist of Pomona, Joe Spangler of Los Angeles and Deane Haughtelin of Yuma, all filed entry applications. The latter is a former local runner.

J. Stern, who competed in the event last year, was forced to withdraw from the 1930 race on the advise of his physician, as he had sustained a prolapsus of the left metatarsal bone. He had been in training for three months up to the time of his injury. He declared that he would be an entrant again in 1931.

PEREGRINA FIGURES ON BEATING McVEY

Joe Peregrina's workouts with Ace Hudkins at Murietta have convinced him that he will be a sure winner over Jack McVey when they clash in one end of the double main event of Carlo Curtis's open-air boxing show at White Sox ball park, Thirty-eighth and Hoover, tomorrow night.

The Mexican reasons that Hudkins is as great as any of the middleweights aside from Mickey Walker and as he believes he can defeat Ace in a ten-round battle he dopes it out that he ought to be returned the winner over the colored middleweight.

Peregrina was never in better shape. He has trained for an aggressive battle and that is the only sort that can win for him against McVey, for if he should elect to box he would be badly outpointed, for the colored scrapper is very clever.

KID MEXICO WINS KNOCKOUT CLASH

Kid Mexico successfully launched a comeback campaign last night, when he knocked out Battling Dozier of San Francisco in the second round of the South Gate main event. Jerry Duffy knocked out Ray Gonzales in the sixth round of the sensational semi-wind-up. Other results: Kid Crow outpointed Frankie Hirsch, four rounds; Jack Campbell knocked out Jack Daniels, two rounds; Tony Soldano knocked out Ray Barkley, three rounds; Billy West outpointed Bill Perrin, four rounds.

DE MAVE TAKES LICKING AND RETIRES FROM RI

ENDICOTT (N. Y.) May 22. (Exclusive)—Max Schmeling and a party of New York newspaper men and photographers piled into two high-powered cars and accompanied by a cavalcade of State troopers on motorcycles set out on a fifteen-mile ride to Schnectady, to talk to his mother via radio.

Jack De Mave, the latest arrival among the sparring partners in camp, said today that the licking he took from Schmeling yesterday was too much for him, and announced his retirement from boxing.

SHARKEY IRKED BY LONG GRIND

ORANGEBURG (N. Y.) May 22. Long training grinds are beginning to get on Jack Sharkey's steely nerves once again. The ex-champ has to pay to a certain extent for the heavyweight crown he lost to Schmeling, but he is still three weeks off, and is tolling new records to wait for the old leather pounders are no few who think he is working himself.

If Sharkey had his way he would pack up right now and go home at Boston and get set for a boxing glove spar with Jack Dempsey a few days before the fight. He keeps himself in such better than ten days to a week before the fight, Sharkey is of the opinion, and the grind and camp routine. He intends to stay in camp, who is here with him, to see their children, and back in time to vote

In the windup Cordova won on a technical out over Francis Abington in the fourth from Fred Rubio.

The honest reason

THERE IS ONLY one real reason for smoking and that's pleasure. A pretty good reason after all. The cigarette you select in the long run will be the one that can contribute most to your enjoyment.

Camels are made with that idea in mind—the idea that genuine smoke pleasure is what you want in a cigarette.

When you try them you will find a refreshing difference—a mild, mellow richness of choice tobaccos—a blended harmony of fragrance, silky smooth—that makes smoking a delight.

The fact that more millions have chosen Camel than any other cigarette is a tribute to an honest product, marketed for an honest purpose.

With the absence of Jay Cohn in the boys' under 15 singles, Constantino Mako should find the sailing unperturbed in that event, although Jimmy Ware, second in the seeding; Billy Seward, third in the seed, and Norman Buck, fourth, are all capable young racket swingers. May Doog and Dorothy Bundy headed the lists in the girls' under 15 event.

Play will continue tomorrow and Sunday, and concludes over the following week-end, states Walter Westbrook, Midwick net professional, who is in charge of the tournament.

Today's schedule follows:

The men's ten-foot springboard diving, another S.P.A.A.U. title event, will bring out four past or present American champions in Mickey and John Riley, Harold (Dutch) Smith and Farid Simaika. Mickey Riley, like Crabbe a student at U.S.C., is also competing unattached, but both will represent the L.A.A.C. in the national championships at Long Beach in July.

Tonight's other A.A.U. event will be the women's 100-yard free-style race, with Olive Hatch, L.A.A.C., the favorite to outswim a fast field of feminine competitors.

There will also be a men's handicap 100-yard dash, open to all registered swimmers, and numerous other events, including comedy diving and exhibitions by Georgia Coleman and little Joy Crew. The program, open to the public, starts at 8:15 p.m.

SOLONS COLLECT

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—For the second time in two days the Washington Nationals made a clean sweep of a double bill at the expense of the Boston Red Sox, scoring 3 to 2, and 13 to 1.

In the first game a tight pitching duel developed between Hadley and Gaston, but the National batsmen broke through for a win. In the nightcap Burke held the sox to six scattered hits while his team-mates bunched eighteen off Morris and Shields.

Sam Rice's sensational batting continued with a single in the first game and three safeties in three times up in the final. Score:

STARS TAKE TWIN BILL

Hollywood Noses Out Portland, 7-6 and 2-1, Before Largest Midweek Crowd of Year

but he kept his seven hits scattered, and was aided materially by flashy fielding. The Ducks had their biggest moment in the first inning when French tripled and Williams doubled him home. Gazella's catch of Summa's drive saved another run and retired the side.

Wetzel again was in trouble in the third. Two singles and a sacrifice placed runners on second and third with one down, but Wetzel threw out Ortman at first and forced Chatham to fly out to Carlyle in center.

French gave the Ducks a life in the seventh when he doubled with two down, but Orwoll, who doubled on his previous trip to the plate, fell prey to Wetzel's wide curves. Johnson, batting demon of the first game with two home runs, pinch hit for Ortman in this inning, but he, too, was fanned.

Beside Johnson, ex-Glendale fireman, Orwoll also banged out a four-ply swipe in the opening fray. Two of these socks over the wall came with no one on the paths, but Johnson's second scored Hillis ahead of him in the sixth.

The big feature of the first game was Yde's feat of pitching to one man and getting credit for the victory when the Stars fell on Junk Walters, who had replaced Carl Mays, the submarine artist, and scored three runs in the ninth.

The twin victory gives the Stars a three-to-one edge on the current series, and moves them up to within one notch of a .500 average in the standings.

WALTERS WOBBLES

All was well with Portland in the first game until Walters lost control in the ninth inning.

Hollywood had tied the score at 4-all in the sixth with a batting rally which netted five hits and three runs.

Portland forged into the lead with a one-run lead in the eighth on Hillis's double to center, an error by Carlyle in fielding the ball, Hillis taking third and scoring on Williams's sacrifice fly to center.

A base on balls, an error by Catina and a sacrifice fly by Chatham scored another run in the ninth.

With this two-run lead things looked fine for the Ducks. And then it happened.

Rumler rapped a homer over the left-field wall to open the last of the ninth inning. This rattled Walters and he walked Severeid and Yde in order. Gazella sacrificed both runners a notch. Oscar Vitt sent Bassler in to bat for Catina and McNeely to run for Severeid, Bassler was purposely walked, loading the bases.

Brannan then won the game with a hot single which glanced off Hillis's glove into right field, scoring McNeely and Yde.

Yde had entered the game in the Ducks' half of the ninth, pitching to one man after Orwoll had doubled off Johns to left field. Yde got Hillis out on a grounder, Catina to Heath, and was credited with the victory when the Stars won out in the home half.

INDIANS LOSE

CLEVELAND, May 22. (AP)—The Browns bunched five hits in the seventh inning today to overcome a Cleveland lead and defeated the Indians, 3 to 2.

Heinie Manush returned to the Brown line-up after a day's suspension from an argument with Umpire Van Grafian, and batted in the Browns' winning run. Score:

Kemp Entered in Race for Unlucky Title

If anyone is planning on passing out any medals for the world's hard-luck championship, "Rocky" Kemp, midget Trojan football hero, is anxious to enter an application for first prize. The pint-sized quarterback struggled for two years on the varsity football squad without receiving any award. Last year he suffered a broken leg that sent him to the hospital, but he was awarded a letter anyway for his three seasons of service. Tuesday, while he was pitching in the annual senior-faculty baseball game, somebody broke into his locked car and stole the prized sweater. A junior Olymp

San Diego County Lakes Are Best at Present

Ocean Fishing Improving With Hot Weather

BY C. B. HARRISON
Outing Bureau, Auto Club of Southern California

Fishing has improved the past week and favorable reports are being received daily. The weather has apparently settled and the majority of the streams have subsided and cleared. With continued warm weather, lake fishing will get better and ocean fishing has already shown a marked improvement.

San Diego county lakes are the mecca for many fishermen and good catches of bass have been made at Sweetwater, Moreno and Lower Otay. Henshaw Lake has furnished good perch fishing, but very few bass. Wohlford and Hodges are only fair. Lakes Cuyamaca and Barrett have been poor.

Riverside county streams such as Tahquitz, Snow, Strawberry and the south fork of the San Jacinto River have stood up well and good fishing is reported from these districts.

The Santa Ana River, Bear Creek, Deep Creek and tributaries are all high, but fairly clear. Some fish are being taken, but these waters are not expected to be good for another two weeks.

Big Bear Lake continues to be poor and Arrowhead Lake, while furnishing fair fishing, is not up to expectations.

Los Angeles county and near-by streams are fairly good. The headwaters of the East Fork of San Gabriel River, Prairie Fork, Iron and Fish forks are good; fish are small, but limits are readily taken. Cucamonga, Day and San Antonio creeks are fair; fish mostly small.

Ventura county waters are clear, fish plentiful, but small. Lower Sespe still furnishing limits. Agua Blanca and Piru creeks fairly good, but necessary to hike well up-stream. North Fork of Matilija and Ventura River fair.

Little is to be offered in the way of trout fishing in Santa Barbara county, water low and muddy.

Wortley Brothers of Fairview, on the Kern, report fishing very good, weather conditions ideal. Kern River low and clear. Deane Creek supplies limits daily, dark flies best lure.

George Parker, packer of Independence, says lakes are open and prospects for the coming week look good. Creeks are rising some but keep particularly all clear around the lakes. Kearsarge Pass open.

Owens Valley looks favorable from now on, reports that fishing continues good are received. Good fishing is being had on Robinson, Green, Rush, Hot Creek and the Owens River, also Convict, Rock, Bishop, Big Pine, Independence and Lone Pine creeks. Lake fishing is good at the following: Tonaz, Grant, Silver, Gull, June, Convict, Hilton, North, South and Sabrina.

Fishing at Bass Lake continues good, crappie are starting to bite, bass are plentiful and a limit of trout was taken in Willow Creek.

C. A. Washburn of Wawona reports trout fishing fly in Alder Creek, Chilnualna and Biz Creek.

Sequoia National Park, fishing fairly good, but water still high and cloudy, should improve rapidly from now on.

Rogue River fishing still good, salmon run still on and fish plentiful, forty-three pounds, record so far. Report from Rainbow Gibson, Grants Pass, Or.

Ocean fishing over the past week-end showed a decided improvement. Long Beach and Balboa reported barge fishing and ocean trolling good. Catalina, besides surprising consistent good fishing, barracuda and few yellowtail.

Hermosa reports surf and pier fishing fair, barges good, live-bait boats good, few yellowtail and barracuda.

Manhattan Beach reports good pier and barge fishing, barracuda and halibut being taken.

Santa Monica Bay waters furnished good fishing the past week, barracuda, some yellowtail being taken, halibut and jew-fish also reported.

Pier fishing at Ocean Park good, many halibut taken.

Ventura and vicinity surf fishing and pier fishing fair, trolling boats not out. Ocean fishing north of this point reported poor.

Belmont Ends Season Against Garfield Today

The Minor City League will pass from existence as far as major sports are concerned this afternoon when the final round of baseball between the respective teams is scheduled to be played. Next year the present schools with the exception of University, will form a part of the City League which will be represented by twelve schools in all.

Belmont closes the season against the Garfield Bulldogs on the latters' field. The Hilltoppers have already cinched the championship and will probably be heavy favorites to down the slipping Bulldogs. Garfield appeared to have a very formidable squad at the start of the season but an injury to Shorty Gonsales, who was selected on the all-league team last year, and the loss of Emmett St. Marie, who was hitting for an average of .750, weakened the team to such an extent that they have lost every game since.

Fairfax and Roosevelt meet on the Rough Riders' diamond in a battle which will decide the winner of second place in the standings. Both squads are evenly matched and should play a close game with Roosevelt the popular choice to win. University travels to Fremont in the other game scheduled.

ANGLERS TRY OUT NIGHT FLY CASTING

After dark fly fishing, inaugurated this week at the Rainbow Angling Club's Azusa branch, has attracted several hundred members to try out this newest feature of the club, where anglers' dreams come true.

The Azusa branch is open evenings until 9 o'clock for fishing, thus offering those members who find it impossible to fish during the daytime, ample time in the evening, as Azusa is but twenty-five miles from the city and twelve from Pasadena.

SONNENBERG DEFENDS WRESTLING HONORS

BOSTON, May 22. (AP)—Gus Sonnonberg successfully defended his claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling title here tonight against Henri Diglane of France. "Sonny" won the first fall in 17 minutes and the third in 12 minutes, both with flying tackles. Diglane won a sensational second fall in 17 minutes with an inside crotch hold and body slam.

MORTENSEN'S SHOULDER BEING FIXED BY DR. ROBERT ROUGH

When Jess Mortensen, captain of the Trojan track team, pulls out this evening with other members of the squad for the I.C.4-A. meet at Boston, it will be with the expectation of placing among the first three in the javelin throw, despite his injured right arm. Jess has been spending some time with Dr. Robert Rough, local physician, who has had such success treating muscle and tendon injuries and the eminent medico declares that Mortensen will be practically as good as new when he steps to the throwing line next Friday afternoon. Mortensen's shoulder was hurt in football and he has never fully recovered the use of his arm, although able to throw the wand 200 feet on occasions.

Indians Upset Mission Club

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22. (AP)—Seattle's Indians came to life today and captured an 8-6 win over San Francisco's Missions. The Indians took an early lead, which the locals tied up in the seventh, but a two-run rally in the tenth sewed up the game. The Missions were blanked in their half of the extra frame. Earl Kunz, on the mound for Seattle, went the entire route while his team mates bombarded three Mission moundsmen for fifteen hits. Score:

DON GEORGE PLANS TO USE TACKLE IN MAT GO

Don George, who will clash with Nick Lutze in the finish feature wrestling bout of Promoter Lou Daro's mat program at the Olympic Wednesday night, will make as much use of the football tackle as he will the flying head-scissors in his efforts to dispose of the Venice lifeguard, who is scheduled to meet Champion Gus Sonnenberg here early in July.

George, who is in training at Long Beach for this mat battle, stated yesterday that the football tackle in which the shoulder is used to ram an opponent's midriff and the arms to snap his legs from under him at the same time, has been his pet grip since he turned professional. He declared he has never "butted" an opponent since he has been on the mat, and for this reason he does not expect to run afoul of the recent State Athletic Commission ruling on the hold.

Lutze, who arrived here from San Francisco yesterday, went through his first workout at Venice. Although the lifeguard is reported in wonderful condition, his trainers declare the backward body slam exponent intends to prepare for the match as he did for those with Everett Marshall. Many who have seen George wrestle here are picking him to give Lutze a very close match.

Podge Smith Elected Card Track Captain

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 22. (AP)—Rogers P. (Podge) Smith, Stanford hurdler, was elected today by his team-mates to captain the 1931 Cardinal track squad.

Smith, a junior registered from Seattle, Wash., last Saturday won the 120-yard high hurdles at the California intercollegiate track and field meet, and is expected to annex points in that event at the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet next week.

At the same meeting Eric Krenz, outgoing track captain and holder of the world's record in the discus, was presented with the H. V. Auberle trophy as the member of the squad of greatest value to the team.

Four Boxing Crowns Given to Americans

BERLIN, May 22. (AP)—The International Boxing Union, convening today, recognized the following Americans as world champions: Frankie Genaro, flyweight; Battling Battalino, featherweight; Sammy Mandell, lightweight, and young Jack Thompson, welterweight. Titles in bantamweight, middle, light-heavy and heavyweight divisions were pronounced vacant.

Lincoln Out to Cop Third Straight Win

Coach Frank Mallette's Lincoln Tigers will be out to take their third straight major league victory today, when they take on "Cop" Mahoney's Poly Mechanics in the feature game of the third round of play. The game is scheduled for the Poly field.

Lincoln has victories over both Hollywood and Manual Arts to its credit and Tiger fans expect another triumph today.

Two other games are scheduled, Manual Arts making the trip to Hollywood, while the L. A. High Romans travel to Jefferson.

DE MILLE COPS BOUT IN CULVER OPENING

Augie De Mille took an eight-round decision over Dynamite Red Stephens in the main event at Culver City last night in the first show to be held in several years.

Riddle Thomas and Bill Saavedra in the semi-final went the limit, Saavedra getting the nod. Ted Thompson is the referee. There were three other bouts, Dave Lobos beating Mann, Johnny Chavez getting the nod over Joe Salisbury and Pete Rios the winner over Kid Lopez.

HUDKINS, SHADE LIKELY TO DRAW NEAR TOP GA

Promoter Jack Doyle will probably top any gate he has had this year next Tuesday night when Dave Shade meets Ace Hudkins in an elimination bout, winner to fight Mickey Walker.

The arena is sealed beyond that for Primo Carnera and Neil Clisby, for which 9637 fans paid $33,569.12 to be statistical. The Olympic is sealed over $35,000 and in case of a complete sellout the "gate" would equal the Hudkins-Lew Tendler intake.

IT TAKES SOMETHING MORE than good looks to hold the center of the stage—and something more than mere mildness in a cigarette to win the popularity that Chesterfield enjoys.

IT'S THE TASTE, of course—and there's a lot of difference between mildness alone and mildness with taste... between ordinary tobaccos and quality tobaccos... between ordinary blending and the Chesterfield blend.

TASTE A CHESTERFIELD! — Mildness is there, of course, but much more... delicate richness, fragrant aroma, and—"TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and leaf of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

...Director Plans to Make Film Actress Bride

Having a few moments to spare yesterday, they explained, Luther Reed, motion-picture director, and Jocelyn Lee, screen actress, went to the marriage license bureau and filed notice of their intention to wed.

They have no idea as to when they will be married, Reed and Miss Lee declared, as the former is busy at the R.-K.-O. studio. They grasped their opportunity yesterday to go through necessary legal preliminaries, they said, so that they will be able to have the ceremony performed as soon as Reed can get away from his work.

Miss Lee did not use her professional name, but her legal name, which is Mary Alice Lehrman. She said she is 24 years of age and lives at 1640 North Wilcox avenue. Reed is 41 and lives at 2017 Argyle avenue. Each has been married before and divorced, Reed's first wife having been Naomi Childers, also an actress.

Arms Shipment Warned Against

Warning against the shipment of arms, ammunition or other contraband aboard ships plying between Los Angeles Harbor and the Dominican Republic was issued last night by Dr. Jose Saenz, Consul for the Dominican Republic.

Dr. Saenz cites that the political party Alianza Nacional Progresista threatened armed rebellion in case it was defeated at the elections on the 16th inst.

His government instructed its Consul here to request all marine shipping to keep a close watch on boats plying between American and Dominican ports in order to prevent the shipment of any contraband. He requested prompt notification in case any such contraband is detected.

WILTON LACKAYE VISITS CITY

Long-Time Stage Star Here For Rest

Wife Accompanies Noted Actor

Mr. and Mrs. Lackaye plan extended vacation stay, so former may regain health after long illness.

TALKING pictures will bring the theater's best efforts to the little towns, but there is no danger of their supplanting the legitimate stage, in the opinion of Wilton Lackaye, stage favorite since the gay '90's, who was an arrival from New York yesterday aboard the Panama-Mail liner Ecuador. Mr. Lackaye, just recovering from a long illness, is here with Mrs. Lackaye for an extended vacation.

"It is much easier and cheaper to send a show from town to town in a tin can," he explained, "than to carry a whole trainload of Broadway actors about the country. The talkies therefore have been a huge success as an economic measure and they will fill a long-felt need.

"Nevertheless, the demand for first-class legitimate shows is steadily increasing in our large cities, a demand that is even being encouraged by the talking pictures."

The principal trouble with the theater today, said Mr. Lackaye, is that theatergoers are in need of night-school training for theater appreciation.

Mr. Lackaye's last public appearance was in New York with Mrs. Fiske in "Love, Honor and Obey." He declined to discuss the date of his first triumphs.

BAR GROUP SILENT OVER COURT ROW

Contempt Issue Fails to Come Up at Association's Monthly Gathering

A motion to adjourn, which carried with but little opposition, brought the monthly meeting of the Los Angeles Bar Association to a close immediately following an address by Dr. William B. Munro, professor at Harvard University and California Institute of Technology, last night at the Alexandria. Between 800 and 900 members of the association, it was estimated, were in attendance.

At a meeting of the board of directors preceding the banquet President Norman Baillie announced that the association will continue the plebiscite to determine judges to be indorsed by the Bar Association at the coming election. He declared that the contempt proceedings brought against the Record by the Bar Association were not discussed and that, while he will not discuss cases now under advisement or pending, the association has no idea of starting a campaign against the freedom of the press and speech.

Many members of the association, expecting a possible discussion on the floor, jammed the hall and the gallery. The address of the evening by Dr. Munro was a presentation of facts regarding the World Court. "Whatever we do," said Dr. Munro, "whether we join or not—let us not be governed by a graveyard. Let us determine the issue from facts and conditions as they exist today—not as they existed 100 years ago when certain policies were formulated."

Following the meeting Dr. O. A. Briegleb of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church attempted to procure an answer by officials of the association to a list of questions which he had formulated regarding the contempt proceedings started by the bar. An informal discussion between members of the board of trustees and Dr. Briegleb followed which at times grew heated as the minister, reading his questions, tried to have them answered by the officials.

Gayety Planned for Delegates to Fox Convention

Entertainment will play a large part in the international sales convention of the Fox Film Corporation to be held in Los Angeles next week.

Following opening of the convention at the Ambassador Monday afternoon by James R. Grainger, vice-president and general sales manager, and an address by Harley L. Clarke, newly elected president of the corporation, the delegates will have the evening free for private parties being arranged.

Tuesday night the 300 delegates will attend the boxing contests at the Olympic Auditorium. Wednesday will be Fox-West Coast night at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Thursday will be free, but a spectacular party has been arranged for Friday night at George Olsen's Night Club at Culver City. Saturday night marks the conclusion of the convention with a reception for the visitors given by Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager.

Delegates will decide the future of color films and the new wide Fox-Grandeur film as far as the Fox company is concerned. Clarke will call on delegates to express their view on the subject of color and the wide film.

The Fox corporation pioneered the wide film and was one of the first to use color, but withdrew from this field. A special session has been set aside to discuss this phase of production among the salesmen.

RADIO "PIRACY" WAY TO GRIEF

St. Louis Man Loses Right to Remain in Country

Accused of Rebroadcasting Without Authority

KHJ Schedules Attractive Array for Today

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor "Care of the Body" in The Times. World-wide News, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

George W. Fellowes of St. Louis has lost the privilege of living in the United States as a result of rebroadcasting the programs of licensed stations without authority.

He had a transmitting set but no license, and apparently no jazz orchestra. Undeterred by such technicalities, or by the lack of sponsors for his "programs," he endeavored to spread sunshine among receiving-set owners by picking up and rebroadcasting entertainment from other stations. To add verisimilitude to his features he would disconnect before the end of a program and make his own announcements.

Apparently his involuntary audience did not care for the programs he was offering, particularly when they came in on the wave length of some more desirable station. Anyway, the radio man of the Department of Commerce and agents of the Department of Justice co-operated in an investigation which resulted in his being taken before a grand jury on charges of violating the provisions of the Radio Act of 1927. Following trial in the United States District Court at St. Louis, he was found guilty and sentenced to a year and a day in the Leavenworth penitentiary, but the sentence was suspended on condition that he be deported to England immediately, he being a citizen of that country.

This is the first conviction to be obtained under the Radio Act for an offense of this nature.

WHERE TO DIAL TODAY

KHJ at 4 o'clock this afternoon will bring Columbia's "Nit-Wits" in a presentation of "Resurrection" by the Nit Wit Dramatic Society. This drama will be presented as never before, even Lizzie Twitch taking part. At 6 tonight "Charlie" Polesie and Norman Brokenshire will be heard in humorous dialogue, while Leonard Stokes, baritone, the Quakey State Four, and David Mendoza and his orchestra, are to provide a chain program worth dialing. Mario Chamlee, operatic star, also may be heard on this offering. At 6:30 p.m. "Casey Jones" legendary dean of railroad throttle pullers, is to ride the Gold Medal Fast Freight to the dial. The train crew will sing, there'll be a yodeling specialty and the organist will pay for his ride with "The Rosary," "Dancing Tamborines" and "Deep River." At 8:30 tonight lovers of California history will hear recounted the story of the city of Fresno, featuring Caruki Elmasadan, soprano, from Fresno. An old German music box also will be a unique feature of this program. At one time it provided the only music in a St. Louis nickelodeon. "I Hated My Husband's Family" will be the True Story Hour's contribution at 9 tonight.

"VAGABOND DIRECTOR"

KFI at 7 p.m. will feature Tom Terriss, vagabond film director, in thirty minutes of touring in dear ol' Lunnon, from Knightsbridge to Soho. These presentations are both instructive and interesting. At 8:30 tonight Mart and Lill, the Two Shades of Blue, will hold the dial with excellent vocal duets, while 9:30 p.m. is to bring Jane Green, soloist, with symphonet in ballads.

KECA at 4 this afternoon is to feature both classical and popular music in an hour's program by the Cities Service Concert Orchestra. Jessica Dragonette, and the Cavaliers. At 8:15 tonight the feature of the evening will be a broadcast by remote control from the Philharmonic Auditorium, a symphony brass band concert. The massed bands of U.S.C., One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, Santa Monica Municipal, Elks' No. 99, The Trojan's Men's Glee Club and others will be heard in the works of St.-Saens, Tschaikowski and Sousa. This is a good bet for those who like brass and plenty of it.

KNX advises listeners-in to tune in on Eddie Albright's "Family" at 10 a.m. every morning. This feature was inaugurated in October, 1924, by Eddie—and six years of any offering on radio is as good a record as any station can boast. There will be a pleasant half-hour of luncheon music at 12 noon. The Federation of Women's Clubs at 3:30 appeals to all of its members to dial in and hear some worth-while speakers.

KMTR at 8:30 tonight is to feature "Gems of Austria," while from 10 to 11 tonight there will be a popular program for everybody with sixty minutes of old and new songs.

ABSENTEE LOSES BALM ACTION

Wife Wins $17,500 Judgment for Asserted Theft of Husband's Love

When Gladys Morris failed to go into court yesterday to defend a suit wherein she was accused of stealing the love of John Lizzi away from his wife, Nancy Lizzi, judgment for $17,500 was entered against her by Superior Judge Archbald before whom the case was heard.

Mrs. Lizzi, represented by Attorneys S. S. Hahn and James E. Bates, was present when the hearing was called, but Miss Morris was not present. According to Attorney Hahn she sent word to his client that she was willing to pay a judgment.

The wife in her original complaint asked damages in the sum of $75,000. The amount, however, was cut down by the court to $17,500.

GAS WASTE CITATION MADE

Getty Company Operations in Santa Fe Springs Field Cause Contempt Order of Judge Hazlett

An order citing George F. Getty, Inc., oil operator, to appear and show cause why it should not be held in contempt of court for an asserted violation of the natural-gas temporary injunction now in force in the Santa Fe Springs field, was signed yesterday by Superior Judge Hazlett. It was made returnable the 28th inst. at 10 a.m.

The citation is directed against the Getty Oil Company as a corporation and against J. Paul Getty, vice-president and general manager.

The injunction which the Getty company is accused of violating was signed by Judge Hazlett on March 19 and modified on March 28 last. The order was granted to restrain the wastage of natural gas in connection with the production of petroleum oil. The proceedings were brought under the new State Gas and Oil Conservation Act.

The company is accused of permitting more than its quota of natural gas to escape at the wells in the production of its oil.

Judge Hazlett also set the 28th inst. as the date to hear the petition of the General Petroleum Company for a modification of the temporary injunction order relative to it. Wells of this company, which are located on leases next to the Getty property, are being damaged by those of the Getty company, it is asserted, because of the injunction violations.

Following the action of the State in citing the Getty company, George A. Nilsson, counsel for the company, indicated that he will apply for a writ of prohibition in the District Court of Appeals to prevent Judge Hazlett from enforcing the terms of the restraining order in so far as the Getty company is concerned.

RAIL BODY GIVES DATA ON POWER

Attaches of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company to Present Figures Also

State Railroad Commission experts yesterday presented voluminous data before Commissioner Carr in an investigation on the commission's own motion into the rates, rules, practices and contracts of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation.

Attaches of the company will present additional figures on June 3, when the next hearing will be held. This forthcoming analysis of the firm's business, it was stated by representatives of the company, will prove that the utility's earnings are within the annual return of from 7 to 7.5 per cent held by the commission as a fair rate of profit.

At yesterday's session, Theodore Stein, accountant, and A. V. Gillou, gas and electric engineer, presented tables prepared by them in an investigation into the firm's accounting department, dealing with new business, general and miscellaneous funds, taxes, and uncollectibles.

The commission experts indicated that the next hearing probably will see completion of their side of the case.

Lumber Blaze Laid to Sparks

Sparks from a smoldering weed fire started by workmen on a railroad track near the Male-Knudson lomber yard at 1250 West Fifty-eighth street are believed by fire department investigators to have caused the fire which swept the lumber yard Wednesday night.

The blaze spread to the F. B. Butzer planing mill near by and before it was subdued had caused damage estimated at $50,000 to the lumber yard and planing mill.

LONG BEACH OPENS WEEK'S ART PROGRAM

Art Week in Long Beach was officially opened last night with a reception at Recreation Park which prominent Southland artists and art lovers attended. The program, which is to end next Thursday, is under the auspices of the Long Beach Arts Association. According to officials of the association, the week's program includes art exhibits by private studios, art schools, public schools, banking houses and leading department stores. Prizes, which include several medals, are to be awarded nightly in competition in several types of art work.

PROTEST TO BE CHECKED

Protests against the improvement of Pico street from Alvarado street to Santa Fe avenue were referred by the City Council yesterday to the City Engineer for checking. The protestants ask abandonment of the project.

COUNCILMAN ACCUSED ON PARK PLEAS

Barnes Declares Randall Has Held Up Petitions for Monte Vista Addition

Stating that Councilman Randall has been holding in abeyance petitions from residents urging the acquisition of valuable land and oak trees for extension of Monte Vista Park, Park Commissioner Barnes yesterday urged the park board to take the matter up "with the City Attorney or Federal officials" in order to get action, if it cannot be done any other way.

The matter came up on the request of the Sunland Improvement Association asking a survey of the oaks, showing numbers and sizes of trees in the proposed Monte Vista Park extension bounded by Fenwick, Oro Vista, Hill, Rose and Sage streets. The association stated it wanted the information for a meeting on the 29th inst.

The board was informed that no petition had been received by the board for the extension and Barnes declared petitions had been presented to Randall containing 95 per cent of the adjoining property owners. He declared the property is the finest available in Southern California for park purposes because of the oak trees. He charged that Randall is holding the matter up while working in the interest of other park areas.

The board directed a communication be sent to the association informing it of the lack of a petition.

Landscape Engineer Hall was directed to furnish information on the trees in the tract.

Woman Given Damage Award

A judgment for $20,000 was granted Hattie Liebert against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation by a jury in the court of Superior Judge Mahon yesterday at the end of the trial of her suit for damages for injuries she asserted she received in a traffic accident that occurred on East First street on July 18, 1928.

Her suit asked $50,615 of the car company and Sam Madrigal, truck driver, asserting the latter's truck struck her and knocked her in front of the street car. Mrs. Lieber contended the street car dragged her for a distance of seventy-five feet.
